AMENDED PROTECTIVE ORDER

Adopted: December 7, 2000

Released: December 7, 2000

By the Deputy Chief, Cable Services Bureau:

1. On April 7, 2000, the Bureau entered a Protective Order regarding confidential or proprietary documents submitted by America Online, Inc. (AOL) and Time Warner Inc. (Time Warner).<sup>1</sup> The Protective Order was modified on October 27, 2000.<sup>2</sup> For the reasons set forth below, we are further modifying the Protective Order to provide that parties other than AOL and Time Warner may submit confidential or proprietary documents in the above-captioned proceeding, and to provide those documents with the same protections as those afforded documents submitted by AOL and Time Warner.

2. In adopting the Protective Order, we stated that the Commission, AOL and Time Warner anticipated that AOL and Time Warner would submit information to the Commission that might contain proprietary or confidential information.<sup>3</sup> We adopted the Protective Order to ensure that any such information was afforded adequate protection.<sup>4</sup> We noted that the Protective Order was identical in all material respects to protective orders adopted in other merger proceedings subject to Commission review.<sup>5</sup> The Protective Order, as amended, generally permits outside counsel of record who are actively engaged in the conduct of this proceeding to review Stamped Confidential Documents.<sup>6</sup>

3. We recognize that other parties interested in this proceeding (“Other Submitting Parties”) may also desire to submit information to the Commission that might contain proprietary or confidential information. In particular, Microsoft Corporation (“Microsoft”) has asked to submit certain information which may include highly sensitive material such as future business plans, customer names, usage patterns, locations, and traffic volumes, to the Commission for its consideration.<sup>7</sup> Microsoft contends that some of this information is proprietary, confidential, and competition-sensitive and would be harmful to the interested parties if publicly disclosed.<sup>8</sup> It therefore seeks to amend the Protective Order to allow it to submit Stamped Confidential Documents subject to the same protections as those afforded Stamped Confidential Documents submitted by AOL or Time Warner. We find that without these protections, commenting parties might be unwilling to provide us with relevant information. We find that allowing commenting parties to submit Confidential Documents and Confidential Information subject to the same protections as those afforded AOL and Time Warner would therefore provide a fuller record on which to base our decision in this case, and would thereby serve the public interest. We are therefore further amending the Protective Order to ensure that any such information filed by Other Submitting Parties is afforded adequate protection.

4. Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED that Paragraph 1 of the Protective Order is amended to read as follows:

On February 11, 2000, Time Warner Inc. (“Time Warner”) and America Online, Inc. (“AOL”) filed joint applications with the Federal Communications Commission (the “Commission”) pursuant to Sections 214 and 310(d) of the Communications Act to transfer control of FCC licenses and authorizations held directly or indirectly by Time Warner and AOL to AOL Time Warner Inc. The Commission anticipates that it may seek documents in this proceeding from Time Warner and AOL (individually or collectively, the “Submitting Party”) that contain proprietary or confidential information and, therefore, should be subject to a protective order. The Commission also anticipates that other parties interested in this proceeding (individually or collectively, the “Other Submitting Party”) may wish to file documents containing proprietary or confidential information that should also be subject to a protective order. Consequently, the Bureau enters this Protective Order to ensure that the documents produced to the Commission and considered by the Submitting Party or Other Submitting Party to be confidential and proprietary are afforded protection. . . .

5. IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that each subsequent paragraph in the Protective Order be amended so that the words “or Other Submitting Party” are added after each reference to a “Submitting Party.”

6. IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that the following sentence be added to the end of Paragraph 3 of the Protective Order, Permissible Disclosure, as follows:

Each Other Submitting Party shall make available for review its Stamped Confidential Documents at the offices of its outside counsel.

7. IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that each person seeking access to any Stamped Confidential Documents filed by an Other Submitting Party on or after December 7, 2000, shall execute the attached Acknowledgment of Confidentiality and follow the procedures outlined in Paragraph 5 of the Protective Order before reviewing or having access to such documents, and shall file the attached Acknowledgment of Confidentiality with the Commission and serve it upon the relevant Other Submitting Party.

8. This Order is issued pursuant to sections 4(i) and (j) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, 47 U.S.C. §§ 154(i) and (j), and authority delegated under section 0.321 of the Commission's rules, 47 C.F.R. § 0.321.
