Reply Comments Due: January 11, 2002

On November 20, 2001, Ambient Corporation (Ambient or Applicant), located at 1033 Beacon Street, Brookline, MA 02446, filed an application requesting a determination by the Federal Communications Commission (FCC or Commission) that it is an "exempt telecommunications company" (ETC), pursuant to section 34(a)(1) of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 (PUHCA),<sup>1</sup> as amended by section 103 of the Telecommunications Act of 1996 (the Act).<sup>2</sup>

The application states that Ambient will be exclusively engaged in the business of providing: (a) telecommunications services; (b) information services; (c) other services or products subject to the jurisdiction of the Commission; and/or (d) products or services that are related or incidental to the provision of such products or services within the meaning of section 34(a)(1) of PUHCA. Ambient states that it is the developer and owner of proprietary technology, called Powerline Telecommunications technology (PLT), which uses existing powerlines and distribution grids to deliver broadband and multimedia telecommunications accessible through electrical outlets in commercial and residential buildings. Ambient's current plans include the development of business relationships with electrical utilities and other power companies to act as a "carrier's carrier" for telecommunications backhaul and other wholesale services on behalf of public utility customers, partners and non-affiliated third parties engaged in the business of providing telecommunications services. In the future, Ambient may provide other telecommunications services, information services and or products as permitted.

In accordance with section 1.5004 of the Commission's rules, if the Commission does not issue an order denying an ETC application within sixty (60) days of receipt of an application, in
