I. INTRODUCTION

1. We grant, subject to certain conditions, the Applications of Global Crossing Ltd. (Debtor-in-Possession) (“Global Crossing”) and GC Acquisition Limited (“New GX” and, with Global Crossing, the “Applicants”) to transfer control, from Global Crossing to New GX, of authorizations and licenses held by subsidiaries of Global Crossing (collectively, the “FCC-Licensed Subsidiaries”).¹ As discussed below, we conclude, pursuant to our review under sections 214(a) and 310(d) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended (the “Communications Act” or “Act”), and under section 2 of the Cable Landing License Act, that approval of the Applications will serve the public interest, convenience, and necessity.² In addition, subject to the limitations specified herein, we grant the Applicants’ petition for a declaratory ruling that the public interest would not be served by prohibiting the proposed indirect foreign ownership of Global Crossing’s common carrier wireless licensees in excess of the 25 percent benchmark set by

II. BACKGROUND

A. Transferor

2. Global Crossing is a telecommunications company organized under the laws of Bermuda, with its principal offices in Madison, New Jersey.⁴ Through its subsidiaries, including the FCC-Licensed Subsidiaries, Global Crossing owns and operates a global fiber optic network that reaches five continents, 27 countries, and more than 200 major cities.⁵ Global Crossing's operating subsidiaries use this network to provide integrated telecommunications services, including a full range of managed data, voice, and Internet services, to large corporations, government agencies, and telecommunications carriers.⁶ Global Crossing's U.S. subsidiaries, including the FCC-Licensed Subsidiaries, own and operate the U.S. portion of the global network.⁷ On January 28, 2002, Global Crossing and certain of its subsidiaries, including most of the FCC-Licensed Subsidiaries, filed voluntary petitions under Chapter 11 of the U.S. Bankruptcy Code.⁸ According to the Applicants, Global Crossing and the FCC-Licensed Subsidiaries retain possession of their property and business and intend to continue their operations throughout the bankruptcy process.⁹

³ 47 U.S.C. § 310(b)(4).

⁶ See id. at 3-4.

⁸ See In re Global Crossing Ltd., et al., Chap. 11 Case Nos. 02-40187 – 02-40241 (REG) (Bankr. S.D.N.Y., Jan. 28, 2002). The same day, Global Crossing and certain of its Bermuda-incorporated subsidiaries filed petitions for the appointment of Joint Provisional Liquidators in the Supreme Court of Bermuda. See Petition for Declaratory Ruling, supra note 1, at 4 n.7. On December 26, 2002, the U.S. Bankruptcy Court for the Southern District of New York approved Global Crossing's plan of reorganization. See In re Global Crossing Ltd., et al., Order Pursuant to Section 1129(a) of the Bankruptcy Code and Rule 3020 of the Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure Confirming Debtors' Joint Plan of Reorganization, Chap. 11 Case No. 02-40188 (REG) (Bankr. S.D.N.Y., Dec. 26, 2002) ("Confirmation Order"). PC Landing Corp. (Debtor-in-Possession) ("PC Landing"), a submarine cable licensee in which Global Crossing holds an indirect controlling interest, subsequently filed separately for bankruptcy. See infra ¶ 15.

⁹ See Petition for Declaratory Ruling, supra note 1, at 4-5. Following the Chapter 11 filings, the affected FCC-Licensed Subsidiaries assigned their respective licenses and authorizations on a pro forma basis to themselves as debtors-in-possession. See Global Crossing Ltd. et al., Application for Authority for a Pro Forma Assignment of Cable Landing Licenses, File Nos. SCL-ASG-20020214-00005 through SCL-ASG-20020214-00011 (filed Feb. 14, 2002; granted June 6, 2002); Letter from Jean L. Kiddoo, Helen E. Disenhaus and Paul O. B. Transferee

3. According to the Applicants, New GX is a company formed under the laws of Bermuda for purposes of carrying out the reorganization of Global Crossing under Chapter 11 of the U.S. Bankruptcy Code and Bermuda insolvency law.¹⁰ Applicants state that Global Crossing will be the sole shareholder of New GX until consummation of the proposed transaction.¹¹

C. The Proposed Transaction

1. Terms of the Transaction

4. The proposed transaction, as amended, contemplates that: (1) Global Crossing will transfer substantially all of its assets and operations, including its ownership interests in the FCC-Licensed Subsidiaries, to New GX; (2) Singapore Technologies Telemedia Pte Ltd. (“ST Telemedia”) will invest $250 million in New GX in exchange for which Global Crossing will relinquish all of its equity and voting interest in New GX and ST Telemedia will obtain common and preferred stock equal to a controlling interest of 61.5 percent of New GX’s equity and voting interests; and (3) certain creditors of Global Crossing (“Creditor Shareholders”) will receive New GX common stock in an aggregate amount of 38.5 percent of New GX’s equity and voting interests, as well as $200 million in senior secured notes of New GX and $300 million in cash.¹² The proposed transaction also contemplates the issuance of stock options to the future management of New GX in an aggregate amount of eight percent of New GX’s fully diluted equity, with the holdings of Singapore Telemedia and the Creditor Shareholders diluted upon the exercise of the issued management options.¹³ These arrangements are set out in an amended Purchase

¹⁰ See Petition for Declaratory Ruling, supra note 1, at 5; see also Letter from Andrew D. Lipman, Jean L. Kiddoo, and Paul O. Gagnier, Counsel for Applicants, to Secretary, Federal Communications Commission (filed Dec. 18, 2002) (“December 18 Letter”), at 4. New GX will hold its interests in the FCC-Licensed Subsidiaries through a newly formed Bermuda subsidiary, GC Holdings Limited (“GC Holdings”). GC Holdings is a holding company that is not expected to engage in commercial operations. Following consummation of the proposed transaction, GC Holdings will be an indirect, intermediate parent company of the FCC-Licensed Subsidiaries. See Letter from Jean L. Kiddoo and Paul O. Gagnier, Counsel for Applicants, to Secretary, Federal Communications Commission (filed Sept. 18, 2003) (“September 18 Letter”), at 1.

¹² See id. at 2 & 6; see also Third Amendment, supra note 1, at 4. Six percent of the common stock will issue to bank creditors and 32.5% will issue to other creditors. See Petition for Declaratory Ruling, supra note 1, at 6. This amended transaction reflects the withdrawal of Hutchison Telecommunications Ltd. as an investor, as described infra at note 14.

Agreement that reflects the withdrawal of Hutchison Telecommunications Ltd. as an investor.¹⁴

5. The Applicants state that the Purchase Agreement, as amended, sets out the proposed corporate governance of New GX.¹⁵ The Purchase Agreement provides that the board of directors of New GX (“Board”) will be comprised of ten directors and that ST Telemedia will nominate eight directors.¹⁶ The Official Committee of Unsecured Creditors of the Global Crossing Debtors will nominate the remaining two directors, each of whom must satisfy the independent director requirements of the New York Stock Exchange.¹⁷ The Board will make decisions by simple majority vote.¹⁸ ST Telemedia will vote the new preferred stock of New GX on an as-converted basis with New GX’s common stock on all capital as of closing before giving effect to options issued to management, 36.58% of share capital after giving effect to options issued to management, or 35.42% of share capital after giving effect to exercise of all options issuable to management; and (3) management would hold no shares as of closing before giving effect to options issued to management, but would hold 3,478,261 common shares representing 5% of share capital as of closing after giving effect to options issued to management, or 8% of share capital after giving effect to exercise of all options issuable to management. See Petition for Declaratory Ruling, supra note 1, at 7; Third Amendment, supra note 1, at Attachment F (confirming that ST Telemedia will double its investment interests over those stated in the Petition for Declaratory Ruling). Share ownership is calculated on a fully-diluted and as-converted basis, assuming: (1) full conversion of all preferred stock of New GX into common stock; and (2) exercise of all options issued to New GX’s management. See Petition for Declaratory Ruling, supra note 1, at 7; Third Amendment, supra note 1, at Attachment F.

¹⁴ ST Telemedia and Hutchison Telecommunications Ltd. originally contemplated a joint purchase of the 61.5% interests. See Purchase Agreement Dated As of August 9, 2002 Among Global Crossing Ltd. and Global Crossing Holdings Ltd., Debtors and Debtors in Possession, Joint Provisional Liquidators of Global Crossing Ltd. and Global Crossing Holdings Ltd., Singapore Technologies Telemedia PTE Ltd., and Hutchison Telecommunications Limited (“Purchase Agreement”), at Exhibit B. Global Crossing, New GX, Hutchison Telecommunications Ltd. and ST Telemedia subsequently entered into an amendment that made a number of technical modifications to the Purchase Agreement. See Letter from Jean L. Kiddoo and Paul O. Gagnier, Counsel for Applicants, to Secretary, Federal Communications Commission (filed Jan. 16, 2003), at 2. On April 30, 2003, Hutchison Telecommunications Ltd. withdrew from the Purchase Agreement and ST Telemedia agreed to assume the rights and obligations of Hutchison Telecommunications Ltd. under the Purchase Agreement. See Letter from Jean L. Kiddoo and Paul O. Gagnier, Counsel for Applicants, to Secretary, Federal Communications Commission (filed Apr. 30, 2003), at 1-2; see also Third Amendment, supra note 1, at 3-4. On July 1, 2003, the bankruptcy court approved a second amendment to the Purchase Agreement reflecting the withdrawal of Hutchison Telecommunications Ltd. See Reply Comments of Global Crossing Ltd. and GC Acquisition Limited, IB Docket No. 02-286 (filed July 3, 2003) (“Global Crossing Reply to XO Comments”). As a result of Hutchison Telecommunications Ltd.’s withdrawal, a prior amendment to the Applications (the “Second Amendment”) filed on April 7, 2003 became moot. See Third Amendment, supra note 1, at 3 n.5.

6. The Applicants state that, through the proposed transaction, New GX will acquire the knowledge and expertise of Global Crossing's management and personnel in constructing and operating telecommunications networks and providing telecommunications services, as well as the benefit of ST Telemedia's telecommunications and management experience.²⁰ The Applicants assert that the proposed transaction will enhance competition by strengthening the financial and competitive position of the FCC-Licensed Subsidiaries.²¹ The Applicants state that the FCC-Licensed Subsidiaries are important competitors in the U.S. international and domestic telecommunications market, as well as major providers of telecommunications facilities and services to other telecommunications carriers and service providers.²²

They contend, therefore, that Commission approval of the proposed transaction will serve the public interest by ensuring the continued viability of the Global Crossing network, including the operations of the FCC-Licensed Subsidiaries.²³ The Applicants further contend that the continued viability of the FCC-Licensed Subsidiaries will benefit consumers, businesses and carriers by ensuring reasonable market prices and will benefit competition by ensuring that the FCC-Licensed Subsidiaries continue to provide carrier services.²⁴ They state that, should the proposed transaction not be consummated, Global Crossing might be forced to reduce operations, discontinue services and terminate additional employees.²⁵ Finally, they allege that the proposed transaction will not cause anti-competitive effects or result in the (Debtor-in-Possession) ("MAC Landing"); (15) PAC Landing Corp. (Debtor-in-Possession) ("PAC Landing"); (16) PC Landing; and (17) Racal Telecommunications, Inc. All of the FCC-Licensed Subsidiaries, with the exception of PC Landing and EAN, are wholly-owned indirect subsidiaries of Global Crossing; Global Crossing holds a 49.77% indirect equity interest in PC Landing and an 86.7% indirect equity interest in EAN.

aggregation of market power.²⁶

2. The Proposed Shareholders of New GX

7. ST Telemedia. ST Telemedia is a Singapore telecommunications and information technologies company that, through its subsidiaries, provides fixed and mobile telecommunications, data, and Internet services as well as telephone equipment distribution, managed hosting, teleport, broadband cable and video, and e-business software development services.²⁷ Singapore Technologies Pte Ltd. (“Singapore Technologies”) wholly owns ST Telemedia and itself is wholly owned by Temasek Holdings [Private] Limited (“Temasek”), an investment holding company wholly owned by the Government of Singapore.²⁸ ST Telemedia, Singapore Technologies and Temasek are organized under the laws of the Republic of Singapore.²⁹ Temasek, through a 67.56 percent equity holding, also controls Singapore Telecommunications Limited (“SingTel”), the dominant provider of domestic and international telecommunications services, including cable landing station capacity, in Singapore.³⁰ The Applicants state that SingTel and ST Telemedia, although under common control, are legally separate and operate independently of each other.³¹ In December 2002, ST Telemedia acquired, through its subsidiary Indonesian Communications Limited, a 41.94 percent controlling stake in PT Indonesian Satellite Corporation (“Indosat”), the dominant provider of telecommunications services in Indonesia.³²

²⁶ See id.

²⁷ See id. at 11-12; see also Third Amendment, supra note 1, at 6. ST Telemedia will hold its interests in New GX through two intermediate subsidiaries. STT Communications Limited, a Singapore holding company, is a direct 98.91% subsidiary of ST Telemedia, with the remainder of its shares held by its management. STT Communications Limited has established a new wholly-owned Mauritius subsidiary, STT Crossing Ltd., to directly hold ST Telemedia’s interest in New GX. See December 18 Letter, supra note 10, at 6 n.8; September 18 Letter, supra note 10, at 1.

²⁸ See Petition for Declaratory Ruling, supra note 1, at 12.

³⁰ See id. at 12-13; December 18 Letter, supra note 10, at 11. SingTel also holds interests in a number of other Singapore telecommunications providers of Internet access, mobile wireless, cable, and other services, and SingTel subsidiaries provide various telecommunications services in Australia, Hong Kong, India, Japan, Korea, Malaysia, Mauritius, Sri Lanka, Taiwan, and the United Kingdom. See Petition for Declaratory Ruling, supra note 1, at 13; Third Amendment, supra note 1, at Attachment G, 2-3.

³² See Letter from Jean L. Kiddoo and Paul O. Gagnier, Counsel for Applicants, to Secretary, Federal Communications Commission (filed Jan. 30, 2003) (“January 30 Letter”), at 1-2; First Amendment, supra note 1, at 1-2.

8. Creditor Shareholders. Applicants state that Global Crossing's creditors, the majority of which are U.S. persons, include a variety of banks, bondholders, other communications carriers, equipment vendors, and other secured and unsecured creditors of the Global Crossing debtors.³³ The Applicants further state that they do not expect any Creditor Shareholder to hold a ten-percent-or-greater direct ownership interest in New GX immediately following the consummation of the proposed transaction.³⁴

3. Public Comment

9. On September 19, 2002, we issued a consolidated public notice in IB Docket No. 02-286, announcing the acceptability for filing of the Petition for Declaratory Ruling, Section 214 Application, Submarine Cable Application and Radio License Application and establishing a three-round pleading cycle to permit interested parties an opportunity to comment.³⁵ The Communications Workers of America ("CWA") opposed the applications, making this a restricted ex parte proceeding.³⁶ In addition, the U.S. Department of Justice and the Federal Bureau of Investigation (the "DOJ/FBI") filed a motion asking the Commission to defer dispositive action on the Applications until the Department of Defense or the DOJ/FBI had notified the Commission that the national security, law enforcement, and public safety issues under review by the Executive Branch agencies had or had not been resolved and appropriate action had been requested of the Commission.³⁷ On November 5, 2002, the Applicants filed a response to the initial round of comments.³⁸ In addition, on November 5, 2002, American Communications Network, Inc. ("ACNI") filed a pleading that we treat as a second-round comment, and, on November 18, 2002, the ³⁴ See Section 214 Application, supra note 1, at 6; Petition for Declaratory Ruling, supra note 1, at 14. See also ¶ 33, below.

³⁵ Public Notice, Global Crossing Ltd. and GC Acquisition Limited Seek FCC Consent to Transfer Control of Subsidiaries Holding Submarine Cable Landing Licenses, Wireless Licenses and Section 214 Authorizations, and Request Declaratory Ruling Allowing Indirect Foreign Ownership, IB Docket No. 02-286, DA 02-2299, 17 FCC Rcd 17206 (Int'l Bur. 2002) (providing the following filing dates: October 21, 2002 for first-round petitions/comments; November 5, 2002 for second-round oppositions/responses; and November 18, 2002 for third-round replies). See also 47 C.F.R. § 1.45 (pleadings and filing periods).

³⁶ Comments of Communications Workers of America, IB Docket No. 02-286 (filed Oct. 21, 2002) ("CWA Comments"). CWA, which represents employees and retirees of the Frontier companies that formerly were owned by Global Crossing, argues that the Applicants have failed to demonstrate the public interest benefits of the proposed transaction, and therefore asks the Commission to deny the transfers of control and petition for declaratory ruling. See id. at 5. See also 47 C.F.R. §§ 1.1200(a), 1.1208 (once a petition to deny is filed against an application for authority under Title III, the proceeding becomes a restricted ex parte proceeding in which ex parte presentations to the Commission generally are prohibited).

³⁸ Response of Global Crossing Ltd. and GC Acquisition Limited, IB Docket No. 02-286 (filed Nov. 5, 2002).

Applicants responded to the ACNI pleading.³⁹

10. The Commission received additional pleadings outside of the initial three-round pleading cycle. ACNI sought an extension of time to file third-round comments, and the Applicants opposed ACNI's request.⁴⁰ We did not grant ACNI's request to extend the third-round comment date because ACNI, not having been a first-round petitioner, did not have a formal right to file a third-round reply.⁴¹ ACNI nonetheless subsequently filed further comments.⁴² The Commission also received correspondence and pleadings on behalf of Newbridge Capital, a bidder for the assets of Pacific Crossing Ltd., the indirect parent of submarine cable licensee PC Landing, asking the Commission to take administrative notice of the various U.S. bankruptcy court proceedings involving Global Crossing and its subsidiaries.⁴³ The ³⁹ Statement in Support of Objections to Applicants' Petition for Declaratory Ruling, IB Docket No. 02-286 (filed Nov. 5, 2002) ("ACNI Statement"); Response of Global Crossing Ltd. and GC Acquisition Limited, IB Docket No. 02-286 (filed Nov. 18, 2002) ("Global Crossing Response to ACNI"). The ACNI Statement argues that ACNI would be adversely impacted by approval of the proposed transaction because Global Crossing's indirect subsidiary GC Bandwidth is an ACNI investor and, should that investment pass to New GX, ACNI's future viability and opportunity to compete would be seriously compromised. See ACNI Statement at 5. ACNI states that the Applicants have failed to offer to ACNI, prior to the closing under the plan of reorganization, the opportunity to repurchase the ACNI shares held by Global Crossing under the provisions of a shareholder agreement giving ACNI a right of first refusal in the event that GC Bandwidth seeks to sell its interests in ACNI pursuant to a bona fide offer from a third party. See id. at 5-6. ACNI argues that the agreements it has signed with GC Bandwidth constrain ACNI's ability to compete freely and, therefore, that the dispute over ACNI's right of first refusal is not merely a contractual issue. See id. at 5. Applicants respond that even if ACNI's claims had merit, the courts would be the proper fora for their resolution. See Global Crossing Response to ACNI at 2.

⁴¹ See 47 C.F.R. § 1.45(c) (person who filed original pleading may reply to oppositions). In addition, it appears that ACNI's November 18, 2002 letter is a prohibited ex parte filing pursuant to sections 1.1202(b) and (d) and 1.1208 of the rules because the letter fails to attach a service list and, although copying CWA, fails to copy the Applicants. See 47 C.F.R. § 1.1202(b), (d) (written presentations not served on the parties to the proceeding are ex parte presentations, and a person filing an application is a party); 47 C.F.R. § 1.1208 (ex parte presentations are prohibited in restricted proceedings). As we note below, see notes 50, 54 and 216, ACNI filed a number of pleadings that, from the face of the pleadings, ACNI apparently did not serve on various parties. Because we deny the relief sought by ACNI in its pleadings, all of which are available through the Commission's Electronic Comment Filing System, we find that ACNI's prohibited ex parte filings caused no harm. However, we caution ACNI, in the future, to ensure that it serves all parties to any proceeding in which it files pleadings.

⁴³ See Letter from Julian P. Gehman to Secretary, Federal Communications Commission (filed Dec. 3, 2002), at 1 & 3 (asking the Commission to clarify that Commission approval of the Applications would not give Global Crossing any new control over PC Landing beyond the control Global Crossing currently exercises through its equity interests in PC Landing and to await an order of the U.S. Bankruptcy Court for the District of Delaware before acting on the transfer of control of the assets of PC Landing); Motion to Accept Late-Filed Pleading Submitted by Newbridge Capital and Petition to Deny with Respect to PC Landing Corp. Newbridge Capital pleadings are now moot.⁴⁴

11. On February 20, 2003, we issued a public notice announcing the acceptability for filing of a minor amendment to the Section 214 Application and Submarine Cable Application and establishing an abbreviated pleading cycle to permit an opportunity to comment on this First Amendment.⁴⁵ On March 6, 2003, ACNI filed comments.⁴⁶ On March 13, 2003, the Applicants and IDT Corporation (“IDT”) each filed a reply.⁴⁷ to Accept Late Filed Pleading and Petition to Deny with Respect to PC Landing Corp., IB Docket No. 02-286 (filed Feb. 26, 2003).

⁴⁴ See Letter from Julian P. Gehman, Counsel for Newbridge Capital, to Secretary, Federal Communications Commission (filed June 9, 2003) (stating that the bankruptcy judge in the PC Landing bankruptcy proceeding acted on June 3, 2003 and thus Newbridge Capital no longer considers itself to be a party in interest in the Commission’s proceeding). We treat the June 9, 2003 letter as a request to withdraw the December 3, 2002, January 28, 2003, and February 26, 2003 pleadings filed by and on behalf of Newbridge Capital, and we dismiss the pleadings, with prejudice.

⁴⁵ Public Notice, Global Crossing Ltd. and GC Acquisition Limited File Amendment to Application, IB Docket No. 02-286, DA 03-465, 18 FCC Rcd 2464 (Int’l Bur. 2003) (providing the following comment dates: March 6, 2003 for first-round comments; March 13, 2003 for second-round reply comments); see also First Amendment, supra note 1.

⁴⁶ Further Comments of ACN in Opposition to Applicants’ Petition for Declaratory Ruling, IB Docket No. 02-286 (filed Mar. 6, 2003) (“ACNI Further Comments”). These comments, however, do not address the minor amendment that we placed on public notice on February 20, 2003, and essentially are late-filed comments in response to the September 19, 2002 consolidated public notice. See infra note 214. During the period of March 18, 2003 to May 16, 2003, ACNI filed five additional pleadings in the form of letters unaccompanied by motions to accept late-filed pleadings. On March 18, 2003, ACNI filed a letter “to bring to the Commission’s attention what appear to be significant developments in the United States Bankruptcy Court and the Committee on Foreign Investment in the United States (CFIUS) affecting the pending application.” See Letter from William Malone, Gerard Lavery Lederer and James R. Hobson, Counsel for ACNI, to Secretary, Federal Communications Commission (filed Mar. 18, 2003) (“ACNI Letter”), at 1; but see Letter from Jean L. Kiddoo and Paul O. Gagnier, Counsel for Applicants, to Secretary, Federal Communications Commission (filed Mar. 25, 2003) (“Global Crossing Reply to ACNI Letter”) (confirming no material change to information provided to Commission). On March 24, 2003, ACNI filed a supplement to the ACNI letter. See Letter from William Malone, Gerard Lavery Lederer and James R. Hobson, Counsel for ACNI, to Secretary, Federal Communications Commission (filed Mar. 24, 2003) (“ACNI Supplement to Letter”). On April 16, 2003, ACNI filed a letter arguing that the Second Amendment, now moot, see supra note 14 and infra note 215, was a major amendment that required the Commission to provide ACNI further opportunity to comment. See Letter from William Malone, Gerard Lavery Lederer and James Hobson, Counsel for ACNI, to Secretary, Federal Communications Commission (filed Apr. 16, 2003) (“ACNI Second Supplemental Letter”). On April 18, 2003, ACNI filed a letter enclosing a press release it found on the website of Congressman Frank Wolf. See Letter from William Malone, Gerard Lavery Lederer and James Hobson, Counsel for ACNI, to Secretary, Federal Communications Commission (filed Apr. 18, 2003) (“ACNI Third Supplemental Letter”). On May 16, 2003, ACNI filed a letter opposing any abbreviated public notice period for the Third Amendment, see supra note 1, that Applicants had filed May 13, 2003. See Letter from William Malone and Gerard Lavery Laderer, Attorneys for ACNI, to Secretary, Federal Communications Commission (filed May 16, 2003) (“ACNI Fourth Supplemental Letter”).

12. On May 16, 2003, we issued a consolidated public notice announcing the acceptability for filing of a major amendment to the Applications and establishing a three-round pleading cycle to permit interested parties an opportunity to comment on this Third Amendment.⁴⁸ On June 16, 2003, IDT filed a petition to deny the Third Amendment, including an opposition to the petition for declaratory ruling, as amended.⁴⁹ ACNI filed a petition to deny.⁵⁰ The Organization for International Investment (“OII”) filed comments in support of the Third Amendment.⁵¹ On June 26, 2003, Applicants filed a second-round

_____ IDT Corporation, IB Docket No. 02-286 (filed Mar. 13, 2003) (“IDT Reply”). The IDT Reply does not respond to the Commission’s February 20, 2003 public notice seeking comment on the foreign affiliations set out in the First Amendment, but rather untimely comments generally on the Applications. See IDT Reply at 1-2 and Exhibit A (in two-page reply and attached press release about IDT’s intention to submit bankruptcy bid, IDT generally states support for comments filed by ACNI and alleges that foreign control of Global Crossing’s assets would not be in the public interest). It also appears that the IDT Reply is a prohibited ex parte filing because the service list included only Commission staff and not Applicants and other parties. IDT filed a second pleading that, from the face of the pleading, IDT apparently did not serve on various parties. See infra note 56. Because we deny the relief sought in the two IDT filings, which are available on the Commission’s Electronic Comment Filing System, we find that IDT’s prohibited ex parte filings caused no harm. We caution IDT, in the future, to ensure that it serves all parties to any proceeding in which it files pleadings. Finally, during the period of April 22, 2003 to May 14, 2003, counsel for IDT submitted three additional letters, unaccompanied by requests to accept late-filed pleadings. See Letter from David Albalah and Kirk S. Burgee, Counsel for IDT Corporation, to Secretary, Federal Communications Commission (filed April 22, 2003), at 1 (asking the Commission not to act on the Second Amendment, now moot, see supra note 14, prior to an Executive Branch determination on national security issues and an opportunity for public comment); Letter from Mark J. Tauber and E. Ashton Johnston, Counsel for IDT, to Secretary, Federal Communications Commission (filed May 7, 2003) at 2 (urging the Commission to make the Third Amendment, when filed, available for public review and comment); Letter from E. Ashton Johnston and Mark J. Tauber, Counsel for IDT, to Secretary, Federal Communications Commission (filed May 14, 2003) (asking the Commission to issue a public notice on the Third Amendment).

⁴⁸ Public Notice, Global Crossing Ltd. and GC Acquisition Limited Amend Their Applications to Transfer Control of Subsidiaries Holding Submarine Cable Landing Licenses, Wireless Licenses and Section 214 Authorizations, and Their Request for Declaratory Ruling Allowing Indirect Foreign Ownership, IB Docket No. 02-286, DA 03-1724, 18 FCC Rcd 10447 (Int’l Bur. 2003) (providing the following filing dates: June 16, 2003 for first-round petitions; June 26, 2003 for second-round oppositions; and July 3, 2003 for third-round replies). See also 47 C.F.R. §§ 1.45 (pleadings and filing periods), 1.939(e) (petition to deny a major amendment may raise only matters directly related to the major amendment). As discussed above, the filing of the Third Amendment, reflecting ST Telemedia’s assumption of the rights and obligations of Hutchison Telecommunications Ltd. in addition to the continuation of ST Telemedia’s own rights and obligations under the Purchase Agreement, mooted the Second Amendment that Applicants had filed earlier. See supra note 14.

opposition to the petitions to deny the Third Amendment.⁵² XO Communications, Inc. (“XO”) filed a late-filed petition to deny the Third Amendment, which it styles as comments opposing the Third Amendment.⁵³ ACNI filed a “supplement” to its petition to deny the Third Amendment, restating its arguments from its November 5, 2002, March 6, 2003, March 24, 2003, April 9, 2003, April 18, 2003, and June 16, 2003 pleadings.⁵⁴ On July 3, 2003, Applicants filed a response to XO’s late-filed pleading.⁵⁵ IDT filed a third-round reply.⁵⁶

⁵² Consolidated Response of Global Crossing Ltd. and GC Acquisition Limited to Comments on Third Amendment, IB Docket No. 02-286 (filed June 26, 2003) (“Global Crossing Opposition to Petitions to Deny Third Amendment”).

⁵³ Comments of XO Communications, Inc., IB Docket No. 02-286 (filed June 26, 2003) (“XO Comments”), at 1 (XO, a competing bidder for the Global Crossing assets, opposes the transfer of control of New GX to ST Telemedia and the resulting foreign ownership by ST Telemedia). XO also filed an earlier letter to “correct the record with respect to the nature of its bid.” See XO Comments at 1; see also Letter from Brian D. Oliver, Executive Vice President, Strategy and Corporate Development, and Douglas W. Kinkoph, Vice President, Regulatory and External Affairs, XO Communications, Inc. (filed June 12, 2003) (“XO Letter”). The XO Letter responds to an ex parte letter from the Official Committee of Unsecured Creditors in the Global Crossing bankruptcy proceeding addressed to the Department of Justice and the Committee on Foreign Investment in the United States (“CFIUS”) and copied to IB Docket No. 02-286. See Letter from Thomas J. Weber, Special Counsel to the Official Committee of Unsecured Creditors, to U.S. Department of Justice and Committee on Foreign Investment in the United States (dated June 9, 2002). We do not consider the letter from the unsecured creditors or the XO Letter as the position of creditors and alternative bidders in the bankruptcy proceeding is not relevant to our decision in this docket, which considers only the bid approved by the bankruptcy court and before us in the Applications. Neither the unsecured creditors nor XO becomes a party as a result of these filings. See 47 C.F.R. § 1.1202(d) (a party is a person filing a written submission referencing and regarding a pending filing and serving the written submission on the filer). We caution the Special Counsel, in the future, to ensure that he serves all parties to any Commission proceeding in which he files a letter or pleading.

⁵⁴ Opposition to Amended Applications and Petition for Declaratory Ruling, IB Docket No. 02-286 (filed June 26, 2003) (“ACNI Reply to Third Amendment”) at 1 n.2. It appears, from the service list attached to the pleading, that ACNI did not serve all parties. See supra note 41. The ACNI Reply to Third Amendment merely states that pleadings filed in the U.S. Bankruptcy Court for the Southern District of New York “put into question whether the Commission has only a hypothetical proposal before it,” and attaches copies of the pleadings. See ACNI Reply to Third Amendment at 1. In fact, the bankruptcy court denied the relief sought in the pleadings and approved the extension of the exclusivity period. See infra ¶ 15 and note 60. We disagree with ACNI that the Applications are a “hypothetical proposal.” Rather, as discussed infra, the Applications reflect the transaction approved by the bankruptcy court.

⁵⁵ Global Crossing Reply to XO Comments, supra note 14. Applicants also filed, on May 23, 2003, a letter of clarification in response to some of the general public correspondence associated with the record. See Letter from Jean L. Kiddoo and Paul O. Gagnier, Counsel for Applicants, to Secretary, Federal Communications Commission (filed May 23, 2003) (“May 23 Letter”); see also infra note 59 (general public correspondence). The May 23 Letter states that ST Telemedia does not own a significant stake in Asia Global Crossing, expects to lose its 0.14% share once Asia Global Crossing completes its restructuring, and has no equity or voting interest in Asia Netcom, the entity acquiring the assets of Asia Global Crossing. See May 23, 2003 Letter at 2.

⁵⁶ Reply of IDT Corporation, IB Docket No. 02-286 (filed July 3, 2003) (“IDT Reply to Third Amendment”). As noted, see supra note 47, the IDT Reply to Third Amendment appears to be a prohibited ex parte filing that in any case causes no harm because we deny the relief sought.

13. On July 2, 2003, we issued a consolidated public notice announcing the acceptability for filing of a major amendment to the Radio License Application and Petition for Declaratory Ruling and establishing a three-round pleading cycle to permit interested parties an opportunity to comment on this Fourth Amendment.⁵⁷ We received no record comments in response to the public notice.

14. Appendix A to this Order and Authorization lists the parties and the record in this proceeding, including five letters from Members of the U.S. Congress.⁵⁸ In addition to the record filings, the Commission has received approximately 170 pieces of correspondence from the general public.⁵⁹

4. Bankruptcy Court Action

15. On December 26, 2002, the U.S. Bankruptcy Court for the Southern District of New York approved Global Crossing's plan of reorganization, which, among other things, includes the proposed transaction involving ST Telemedia and the Creditor Shareholders that is the subject of the Dayton Ex Parte") (stating concern about national security); Letter from Conrad Burns and Ernest F. Hollings, United States Senate (dated May 15, 2003) ("Sen. Burns and Sen. Hollings Ex Parte") (stating serious concern about sale to companies owned and controlled by foreign governments); Letter from Curt Weldon, U.S. House of Representatives (dated June 12, 2003) ("Cong. Weldon Ex Parte") (urging strict scrutiny review of foreign government ownership); Letter from Charles Schumer, U.S. Senate (dated June 24, 2003) ("Sen. ⁵⁹ This ex parte public correspondence, primarily from individual shareholders and former or current employees of Global Crossing, is available for public review through the Commission's Electronic Comment Filing System. See 47 C.F.R. § 1.1212(h). Most of the public correspondence is in the form of emails and form letters. One shareholder, Karl Schwarz of CommAxxess f/k/a Global Axxess, filed multiple rounds of informal comments, and various other members of the general public filed more than once. The public correspondence, by and large, raises concerns about the post-transaction value of shareholder and employee investments in Global Crossing and about the national security implications of foreign ownership, although it also includes correspondence from companies that use the services of Global Crossing and support the proposed transaction. We note that complaints about shareholder or employee investments more appropriately are addressed in other fora, such as at the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission or in shareholder lawsuits. See, e.g., Application of XO Communications, Inc. for Consent to Transfer Control of Licenses and Authorizations Pursuant to Sections 214 and 310(d) of the Communications Act and Petition for Declaratory Ruling Pursuant to Section 310(b)(4) of the Communications Act, Memorandum Opinion, Order and Authorization, IB Docket 02-50, DA 02-2512, 17 FCC Rcd 19212, 19215 n.31 (Int'l Bur., WTB & WCB 2002). We address national security and foreign ownership issues, also raised by the parties, in our public interest analysis, infra at Section III of this Order and Authorization.

Applications.⁶⁰ Two related bankruptcy cases, involving PC Landing and Asia Global Crossing, Ltd. (Debtor-in-Possession) (“Asia Global Crossing”), will affect Global Crossing assets: (1) on July 19, 2002, submarine cable licensee PC Landing and certain of its affiliates commenced voluntary proceedings under Chapter 11 in the U.S. Bankruptcy Court for the District of Delaware;⁶¹ and (2) on November 17, 2002, Global Crossing’s majority-owned subsidiary Asia Global Crossing, an indirect majority owner of licensee PC Landing, and one of its subsidiaries filed voluntary petitions under Chapter 11 in the U.S. Bankruptcy Court for the Southern District of New York.⁶² Although the Applicants expect that the two bankruptcy proceedings eventually will eliminate Global Crossing’s equity interests in Commission licensee PC Landing, they continue to seek authority to transfer control of their interests in the Pacific Crossing-1 (“PC-1”) cable landing license because these interests have not yet been extinguished.⁶³

See supra note 21; see also Appendix C to this Order and Authorization for a chart that sets out PC Landing’s ownership structure. On June 3, 2003, the U.S. Bankruptcy Court for the District of Delaware approved the sale of substantially all of the assets of PC Landing to Pivotal Telecom, LLC (“Pivotal”). See In re PC Landing Corp., et al., Order Authorizing (1) Sale of Substantially All of the Debtors’ Assets Free and Clear of Certain Liens, Claims, Rights, Interests and Encumbrances, (2) Authorizing the Assumption and Assignment of Certain Executory Contracts and Leases and the Transfer of Certain Licenses and Permits, (3) Determining That the Sale Will be Subject to Bankruptcy Code § 1164, and (4) Granting Related Relief, Chap. 11 Case No. 02-12086 (PJW) (Bankr. On December 17, 2002, attorneys for PC Landing notified the Commission of the pro forma transfer of control, to Asia Global Crossing as debtor-in-possession, of Asia Global Crossing’s interest in PC Landing’s submarine cable landing license. See Letter from Martin Stern, Attorney for PC Landing, to Secretary, Federal Communications Commission (filed Dec. 17, 2002). On January 29, 2003, the U.S. Bankruptcy Court for the Southern District of New York approved the sale of substantially all of Asia Global Crossing’s assets, but excluding the equity interest indirectly held by Asia Global Crossing in PC Landing, to Asia Netcom. III. PUBLIC INTEREST ANALYSIS

A. Framework for Analysis

16. In considering the Applications, the Commission must determine, pursuant to section 214(a) and section 310(d) of the Act, whether the proposed transfers of control will serve the public interest.⁶⁴ In addition, because Global Crossing seeks to transfer ultimate control of its ownership interests in cable landing licenses, we review the proposed transaction under the Cable Landing License Act.⁶⁵ Finally, because of the foreign ownership interests presented in this case, we also must determine whether the proposed transfer of control of wireless licensees GCNAN and EAN is permissible under the foreign ownership provisions of section 310 of the Act.⁶⁶

17. The legal standards that govern our public interest analysis for transfer of control of authorizations and licenses under sections 214(a) and 310(d) require that we weigh the potential public interest harms against the potential public interest benefits to ensure that, on balance, the proposed transaction will serve the public interest, convenience, and necessity.⁶⁷ Our analysis considers the likely bankruptcy proceeding, they expect the equity interests currently held by Global Crossing in Asia Global Crossing and PC Landing to be eliminated. See December 18 Letter, supra note 10, at 3. See also February 6 Letter, supra note 62, at 10-11. Applicants asked the Commission to approve the transfer to New GX of Global Crossing's indirect interests in the PC-1 submarine cable license held by PC Landing, advising that appropriate application will be made to the Commission should subsequent events warrant the further transfer of the cable landing license. See December 18 Letter, supra note 10, at 4. On August 18, 2003, Applicants further advised that PC Landing's asset sale has not yet closed and, although Asia Global Crossing has completed the sale of substantially all of its operating subsidiaries, the Asia Global Crossing transaction has not yet affected Global Crossing's ownership interest in PC Landing, which interest will remain intact until either the PC Landing reorganization concludes or the AGCL Chapter 7 trustee abandons its equity interests in PC Landing. See August 18 Letter, supra note 62, at 2-3; see also Letter from Jean L. Kiddoo and Paul O. Gagnier, Counsel for Applicants, to Secretary, Federal Communications Commission (filed Mar. 20, 2003) ("March 20 Letter"), at 1; Global Crossing Reply to XO Comments, supra note 14, at 4-5. Thus, Applicants state that Commission approval to transfer control of Global Crossing's interest in the PC-1 cable landing license held by PC Landing continues to be required. See March 20 Letter at 1; Global Crossing Reply to XO Comments, supra note 14, at 4; August 18 Letter, supra note 62, at 3.

competitive effects of the proposed transfers and whether such transfers raise significant anti-competitive issues.⁶⁸ In addition, we consider the efficiencies and other public interest benefits that are likely to result from the proposed transfers of control of the licenses and authorizations.⁶⁹ Further, we consider any national security, law enforcement, foreign policy or trade policy concerns brought to our attention by the Executive Branch.⁷⁰ Similarly, our review pursuant to the Cable Landing License Act considers the competitive effects and public interest benefits of the proposed transaction, as well as any national security, law enforcement, foreign policy or trade policy concerns raised by the Executive Branch.⁷¹

B. Qualifications of Applicants

18. As a threshold matter, we must determine whether the Applicants have the requisite qualifications to hold and transfer control of licenses under section 310(d) of the Act and Commission rules.⁷² In making this determination, we do not, as a general rule, re-evaluate the qualifications of a transferor unless issues related to basic qualifications have been designated for hearing by the Commission or have been sufficiently raised in petitions to warrant the designation of a hearing.⁷³ We conclude that no such issues have been raised here that would require us to designate a hearing to re-evaluate the basic qualifications of the transferor, Global Crossing.⁷⁴ Conversely, the analysis of every

Under this line of policy guidance, the allegations raised by CWA fall short of giving rise to an issue of Global Crossing's qualifications to hold and transfer wireless authorizations. We are not aware of adjudicated non-FCC-related behavior that would bear upon the qualifications of Global Crossing to hold and transfer the wireless authorizations involved in this docketed proceeding. Likewise, as discussed below, see ¶¶ 52-54, we deny ACNI's request that we modify the contracts with GC Bandwidth, and do not reach ACNI's argument that Global Crossing refused to honor contract law.

⁷⁷ Our review of the Applications finds no basis to conclude that the ownership information submitted by the Applications is either insufficient or otherwise incomplete for purposes of evaluating New GX's qualifications. Specifically, IDT alleges that the Applicants' Form 603 ownership filings do not contain "required attributable ownership information regarding officers and directors." See IDT Reply to Third Amendment, supra note 56, at 5 n.13. We note, however, that our rules do not require the disclosure of "attributable ownership information" for officers and directors in this context. Rather, what is required is the disclosure of the real party (or parties) in interest to an application, including a disclosure of those persons or entities directly or indirectly owning or controlling the applicant or licensee. We believe that the Applications satisfy this requirement. Similarly, with respect to IDT's argument that Applicants must provide the names of the officers and directors of each of the Singapore entities—including ST Telemedia, Singapore Technologies, Temasek and SingTel—in order to determine the extent of interlocking directorates, see IDT Petition to Deny Third Amendment, supra note 49, at 6, we note that the Commission's foreign carrier affiliation rules require the Applicants to provide information on any interlocking directorates between the transferee, New GX, and foreign carriers, not among the various Singapore companies and not with respect to the two domestic wireless licensees at issue here. In any case, this Order and Authorization conditions the transfer of control of the international section 214 authorizations and submarine cable licenses on a requirement that New GX provide an updated interlocking directorate certification, pursuant to parts 63 and 1 of the rules, within five business days after appointment of its board of directors and the boards of directors of the international section 214 and submarine cable subsidiaries or within five business days of release of this Order and Authorization, whichever occurs later. qualifications to control GCNAN and EAN.⁷⁸ Thus, we find that New GX possesses the basic qualifications to control wireless licensees GCNAN and EAN.

C. Foreign Ownership Review

19. In this section, we address issues relevant to our public interest inquiry under the foreign ownership provisions of section 310 of the Act. New GX requests a ruling, pursuant to section 310(b)(4) of the Act, that it would not serve the public interest for the Commission to prohibit ST Telemedia from acquiring, through New GX, indirect ownership interests in common carrier wireless licensees GCNAN and EAN in excess of the statutory 25 percent foreign ownership benchmark. Specifically, New GX asks that the ruling: (1) permit the “unlimited” indirect foreign ownership of GCNAN and EAN by ST Telemedia; and (2) allow GCNAN and EAN to accept up to and including additional, aggregate 25 percent indirect equity and voting interests from other unnamed foreign investors, except that no single foreign investor, with the exception of ST Telemedia, may acquire indirect foreign ownership of GCNAN and EAN in excess of 25 percent without prior Commission approval under section 310(b)(4).⁷⁹ In support of the requested ruling, New GX asserts that the proposed investment by ST Telemedia is attributable to a World Trade Organization (“WTO”) Member – Singapore – and, therefore, ST Telemedia is entitled to a rebuttable presumption that the proposed investment in New GX does not raise competitive concerns.⁸⁰

20. Based on the record before us, we conclude that it would not serve the public interest to deny the transfer of control of the licenses held by GCNAN and EAN because of the proposed indirect foreign ownership interests that would be held by and through New GX and its wholly-owned subsidiary GC Holdings. We therefore grant New GX’s petition for declaratory ruling under section 310(b)(4) to the extent specified below. Relying on Commission precedent, we find that we should not consider the proposed transfers of control under section 310(a) and 310(b)(1)-(b)(3) of the Act.⁸¹ Given Commission

⁷⁹ See Petition for Declaratory Ruling, supra note 1, at 25-26, as amended by Third Amendment, supra note 1, at 3 n.6, and as further amended by the Fourth Amendment, supra note 1, at 1.

⁸⁰ See Petition for Declaratory Ruling, supra note 1, at 16-18 and 26, as amended by Third Amendment, supra note 1, at 7 (asserting that, as company from WTO Member country, ST Telemedia is entitled to presumption that proposed investment in New GX is in the public interest and nothing in the record raises exceptional circumstances that would rebut presumption). Applicants also state that Singapore is one of the largest trading partners of the United States and is a key strategic U.S. ally in the Asia-Pacific Region. See Third Amendment, supra note 1, at 8 & 8 nn.18-20. Applicants contend that the proposed transaction is the kind of investment envisioned by the U.S.-Singapore Free Trade Agreement signed on May 6, 2003. See id. at 8 & 8 n.19.

⁸¹ Section 310(a) of the Act prohibits any radio license from being “granted to or held by” a foreign government or its representative. See 47 U.S.C. § 310(a). The ownership structure proposed by New GX is such that no foreign government or its representative will hold any of the radio licenses. Section 310(b)(1)-(2) of the Act prohibits common carrier, broadcast and aeronautical fixed or en route radio licenses from being “granted to or held by” aliens, or their representatives, or foreign corporations. See 47 U.S.C. § 310(b)(1), (b)(2). According to the Applications, no alien, representative, or foreign corporation will hold any of the common carrier licenses. Accordingly, we find that the proposed transaction is not inconsistent with the foreign ownership provisions of section 310(a) and 310(b)(1)-(b)(2) of the Act. See VoiceStream/Deutsche Telekom Order, 16 FCC Rcd at 9804-9809, ¶¶ 38-48 (issues related to indirect foreign ownership of common carrier licensees are (continued...))

precedent, we dismiss the arguments of ACNI and IDT that we must consider the transfer of control of the wireless licenses under section 310(a).⁸²

1. Legal Standard for Foreign Ownership of Radio Licensees

21. Section 310(b)(4) of the Act establishes a 25 percent benchmark for indirect, attributable investment by foreign individuals, corporations, and governments in U.S. common carrier radio licensees, but grants the Commission discretion to allow higher levels of foreign ownership if it determines that such ownership is not inconsistent with the public interest.⁸³ The calculation of foreign ownership interests under section 310(b)(4) is a two-pronged analysis in which the Commission examines separately the equity interests and the voting interests in the licensee's parent.⁸⁴ The Commission calculates the equity interest of each foreign investor in the parent and then aggregates these interests to determine whether the sum of the foreign equity interests exceeds the statutory benchmark. Similarly, the Commission calculates the voting interest of each foreign investor in the parent and aggregates these voting interests.⁸⁵ The presence of aggregated alien equity or voting interests in a common carrier licensee's parent in excess of 25 percent triggers the applicability of section 310(b)(4)'s statutory benchmark.⁸⁶ Once the benchmark is triggered, section 310(b)(4) directs the Commission to determine addressed under section 310(b)(4)). Additionally, because the proposed transaction does not involve direct foreign investment in GCNAN and EAN, the common carrier wireless licensees, it does not trigger section 310(b)(3) of the Act, which places a 20 percent limit on direct alien, foreign corporate or government ownership of entities that hold common carrier, broadcast and aeronautical fixed or en route Title III licenses. See 47 U.S.C. § 310(b)(3).

⁸² See ACNI Objections to Third Amendment, supra note 50, at 5 (stating that Third Amendment fails to certify that ST Telemedia is not a foreign government or representative thereof); IDT Petition to Deny Third Amendment, supra note 49, at 10-16 (arguing that Commission precedent is erroneous); IDT Reply to Third Amendment, supra note 56, at 22 (arguing that "past Commission decisions do not provide a solid basis on which to confirm the distinction between Sections 310(a) and 310(b)"); but see Global Crossing Opposition to Petitions to Deny Third Amendment, supra note 52, at 3 (GCNAN and EAN are U.S. companies that clearly are not foreign governments and will not become representatives of a foreign government). See also Sen. Burns and Sen. Hollings Ex Parte, supra note 58, at 1-2 (urging Commission to give thorough consideration to Congressional intent regarding foreign ownership).

⁸³ See 47 U.S.C. § 310(b)(4) (providing that "No broadcast or common carrier or aeronautical en route or aeronautical fixed radio station license shall be granted to or held by ... any corporation directly or indirectly controlled by any other corporation of which more than one-fourth of the capital stock is owned of record or voted by aliens, their representatives, or by a foreign government, or representative thereof, or by any corporation organized under the laws of a foreign country, if the Commission finds that the public interest would be served by the refusal or revocation of such license.").

whether the “public interest will be served by the refusal or revocation of such license.”⁸⁷ Applicants identify proposed foreign ownership, through New GX, of Global Crossing North American Holdings, Inc., the U.S. parent of GCNAN and EAN, that would exceed the 25 percent benchmark set by section 310(b)(4).⁸⁸ In addition, New GX itself is a foreign company, as is its wholly-owned subsidiary GC Holdings, which will be the direct parent of Global Crossing North American Holdings, Inc. Thus, the 100 percent direct and indirect ownership interest that would be held by GC Holdings and New GX in Global Crossing North American Holdings, Inc. also would exceed the 25 percent benchmark. We therefore must consider the transfer of control to New GX of the common carrier licenses held by GCNAN and EAN under section 310(b)(4) of the Act.

22. In the Foreign Participation Order, the Commission concluded that the public interest would be served by permitting greater investment by individuals or entities from WTO Member countries in U.S. common carrier and aeronautical fixed and en route licensees.⁸⁹ Therefore, with respect to indirect foreign investment from WTO Members, the Commission replaced its “effective competitive opportunities,” or “ECO,” test with a rebuttable presumption that such investment generally raises no competitive concerns.⁹⁰ In evaluating an applicant’s request for approval of foreign ownership interests under section 310(b)(4), the Commission uses a “principal place of business” test to determine the nationality or “home market” of foreign investors.⁹¹

⁸⁸ GCNAN and EAN are common carrier wireless licensees. GCNAN has 25 common carrier licenses and one private carrier wireless license. EAN has 20 common carrier point-to-point microwave licenses. We note that section 310(b)(4) governs only common carrier, broadcast, and aeronautical en route or fixed radio licenses. Therefore, we do not consider specifically in our discussion here the proposed transfer of the private radio license held by GCNAN. Our findings with respect to competitive effects, see infra ¶¶ 36-41, our public interest determination for the common carrier licenses, see infra ¶¶ 25-35, and the Executive Branch’s resolution of any national security and law enforcement concerns, see infra ¶¶ 46-51, collectively suffice to resolve any public interest implications, outside our review under section 310(b)(4), to the extent there are any, for the non-common carrier license.

⁸⁹ See Foreign Participation Order, 12 FCC Rcd at 23896, ¶ 9, 23913, ¶ 50, and 23940, ¶¶ 111-12.

⁹⁰ See id. at 23896, ¶ 9, 23913, ¶ 50, 23940, ¶ 111-12.

⁹¹ To determine a foreign entity’s home market for purposes of the public interest determination under section 310(b)(4), the Commission will identify and balance the following factors: (1) the country of a foreign entity’s incorporation, organization or charter; (2) the nationality of all investment principals, officers, and directors; (3) the country in which the world headquarters is located; (4) the country in which the majority of the tangible property, including production, transmission, billing, information, and control facilities, is located; and (5) the country from which the foreign entity derives the greatest sales and revenues from its operations. See Foreign Participation Order, 12 FCC Rcd at 23941, ¶ 116 (citing Market Entry and Regulation of Foreign-Affiliated Entities, Report and Order, FCC 95-475, 11 FCC Rcd 3873, 3951, ¶ 207 (1995)). For examples of cases applying the five-factor “principal place of business” test, see Lockheed Martin Global Telecommunications, Comsat Corporation, and Comsat General Corporation, Assignor, and Telenor Satellite Mobile Services, Inc., and Telenor Satellite, Inc., Assignee, Applications for Assignment of Section 214 Authorizations, Private Land Mobile Radio Licenses, Experimental Licenses, and Earth Station Licenses and Petition for Declaratory Ruling (continued....)

23. In light of the policies adopted in the Foreign Participation Order, we begin our evaluation of the proposed transaction under section 310(b)(4) by calculating the proposed attributable foreign equity and voting interests in Global Crossing North American Holdings, Inc., the U.S. parent of the wireless licensees. We then determine whether these foreign interests properly are ascribed to individuals or entities that are citizens of, or have their principal places of business in, WTO Member countries. The Commission has stated, in the Foreign Participation Order, that it will deny an application if it finds that more than 25 percent of the ownership of an entity that controls a common carrier radio licensee is attributable to parties whose principal place(s) of business are in non-WTO Member countries that do not offer effective competitive opportunities to U.S. investors in the particular service sector in which the applicant seeks to compete in the U.S. market, unless other public interest considerations outweigh that finding.⁹²

24. In this case, the foreign equity and voting interests in Global Crossing North American Holdings, Inc. would be held by and through New GX and GC Holdings. In Wilner & Scheiner and its progeny, the Commission has set forth a standard for calculating both alien equity and voting interests held in a licensee, or, as here, in the licensees' parent Global Crossing North American Holdings, Inc., where such interests are held through intervening entities.⁹³ In calculating attributable alien equity interests in a parent company, the Commission uses a multiplier to dilute the percentage of each investor's equity interest in the parent company when those interests are held through intervening companies. The multiplier is applied to each link in the vertical ownership chain, regardless of whether any particular link in the chain represents a controlling interest in the company positioned in the next lower tier.⁹⁴ Once the pro rata equity interests of each alien investor are calculated, these interests then are aggregated to determine whether the sum of the interests exceeds the statutory benchmark.⁹⁵ By contrast, in calculating alien voting interests in a parent company, the multiplier is not applied to any link in the vertical ownership chain that constitutes a controlling interest in the company positioned in the next lower tier.⁹⁶

2. Attribution of Foreign Ownership Interests

25. As discussed in Section II above, the proposed transaction contemplates that New GX will succeed to the assets of Global Crossing, which include one hundred percent of the equity and voting interests in Global Crossing North American Holdings, Inc., a Delaware corporation that indirectly wholly owns GCNAN and indirectly controls, and owns 86.7 percent equity and voting interests in, EAN.⁹⁷ In addition, New GX will acquire the remaining 13.3 percent minority equity and voting interests in EAN currently held by two individuals, and thus will own one hundred percent of EAN.⁹⁸ Like Global Crossing, New GX is itself organized under the laws of Bermuda, a WTO Member.⁹⁹ Applicants state that New GX, a newly-formed company, does not yet have commercial operations and will not have such operations until consummation of the proposed transaction.¹⁰⁰ Applicants assert that New GX will have substantially the same principal places of business as Global Crossing.¹⁰¹ Specifically, Applicants state that New GX, like Global Crossing, will not have a single principal place of business, but, once it succeeds to Global Crossing's assets and operations, will carry out its global business principally in countries that are WTO Members.¹⁰² On balance we find that New GX, like Global Crossing, principally will conduct its business in countries that are WTO Members.¹⁰³ Therefore, pursuant to the Foreign

¹⁰³ As noted above, see supra note 10, New GX will hold its interests in Global Crossing North American Holdings, Inc. through GC Holdings. Based on Applicants' representation that GC Holdings will not (continued....)

Participation Order, New GX and GC Holdings are entitled to a rebuttable presumption that their proposed foreign ownership of Global Crossing North American Holdings, Inc., the U.S. parent of the Title III licensees, does not pose a risk to competition in the U.S. market that would justify denial of the Applications. This presumption could be rebutted only if we were to find that grant of the Applications would pose a very high risk to competition in the U.S. market, where our general safeguards and other conditions would be ineffective at preventing harm to U.S. consumers.¹⁰⁴

26. We next calculate the foreign equity and voting interests in Global Crossing North American Holdings, Inc. that would be attributable to ST Telemedia and the Creditor Shareholders. As discussed in Section II.C above, following consummation of the proposed transaction contemplated in the Purchase Agreement, ST Telemedia, a Singapore company, would acquire common and preferred stock equal to 61.5 percent of New GX's equity and voting interests, and the Creditor Shareholders would acquire common stock equal to 38.5 percent of New GX's equity and voting interests.¹⁰⁵

27. ST Telemedia. We turn first to the proposed investment in New GX by ST Telemedia, a Singapore company. The Commission's attribution principles require that we attribute ST Telemedia's 61.5 percent equity and voting interests in New GX fully to Global Crossing North American Holdings, Inc., because Global Crossing North American Holdings, Inc. would be wholly owned and controlled by New GX. ST Telemedia is a direct wholly-owned subsidiary of Singapore Technologies, a Singapore-based conglomerate that, in turn, is a direct wholly-owned subsidiary of Temasek, a Singapore investment company that is wholly owned by the Government of Singapore.¹⁰⁶ Applying the five-factor principal place of business test, we find that ST Telemedia and its parent companies have their principal place of business in Singapore, a WTO Member.¹⁰⁷ ST Telemedia, Singapore Technologies, and Temasek are organized under the laws of the Republic of Singapore and headquartered in Singapore.¹⁰⁸ Seven out of eight of ST Telemedia's directors, and six out of its seven senior officers, are citizens of Singapore, which also is the country in which the majority of its tangible property is located, and the country from which it derives the greatest sales and revenues.¹⁰⁹ All of the directors and senior officers of Singapore Technologies, and all of the directors and four of the five senior officers of Temasek, are citizens of

Singapore.¹¹⁰ A majority of the property of each of Singapore Technologies and Temasek is located in Singapore, and both companies derive the largest portion of their revenues from their Singapore operations.¹¹¹ Therefore, ST Telemedia, Singapore Technologies, Temasek, and the Government of Singapore are entitled to a rebuttable presumption that their proposed indirect foreign ownership of Global Crossing North American Holdings, Inc. does not pose a risk to competition in the U.S. market that would justify denial of the Applications.¹¹²

28. The Commission also considers any relevant factors and evidence that might tend to rebut the presumption that investment by individuals or entities from WTO Member countries generally raises no risk to competition in the U.S. market.¹¹³ IDT contends that the transfer of control of Commission licenses to New GX would raise “precisely the sort of ‘exceptional circumstances’ that rebut the presumption” because New GX would be “affiliated with carriers possessing market power in [Singapore and Indonesia], themselves affiliated with [the Government of Singapore].”¹¹⁴ In the VoiceStream/Deutsche Telekom Order, the Commission stated that the existence and degree of control by a foreign government is relevant to determining the public interest under section 310(b)(4).¹¹⁵ Here, for the reasons discussed below at paragraphs 31-32, we conclude that the Government of Singapore’s indirect ownership interest in ST Telemedia, which will control transferee New GX, will not confer a unique financial advantage, or otherwise create a high risk to competition or consumers in the United States, that warrants conditions under section 310(b)(4) other than those adopted in this Order and Authorization.

29. The Applicants contend that government ownership of ST Telemedia poses no threat to competition in the United States.¹¹⁶ Applicants advise that the Government of Singapore does not have

¹¹⁶ See Global Crossing Opposition to Petitions to Deny Third Amendment, supra note 52, at 7, 11-14. Applicants state that the FCC-Licensed Subsidiaries participate as non-dominant providers in U.S. markets that are highly competitive. They state that consummation of the proposed transaction will not change the situation, because there will be no consolidation of U.S. network assets or of the U.S. interstate (continued....)

the right to consent to or veto the decisions of, or to hold a “golden share” in, ST Telemedia.¹¹⁷ Applicants further advise that ST Telemedia functions as a competitive, commercial enterprise with a profit-maximizing objective.¹¹⁸ Applicants state that the Government of Singapore provides no subsidies or grants to ST Telemedia, but that ST Telemedia finances its investment activities through traditional commercial means.¹¹⁹ Applicants also state that ST Telemedia’s workforce and the workforces of ST Telemedia’s subsidiaries are not and never have been civil servants.¹²⁰ Finally, the Applicants note that ST Telemedia’s operational subsidiaries in Singapore are subject to the regulatory oversight of the Information Communications Development Authority of Singapore (the “IDA”) and that the IDA has issued over 600 licenses to provide facilities-based and services-based telecommunications, including licenses held by subsidiaries of U.S. telecommunications carriers.¹²¹

30. IDT replies that ST Telemedia’s status as an indirect wholly-owned subsidiary of Temasek confers significant advantages not available to ST Telemedia’s competitors.¹²² IDT states that Temasek is willing to use the assets of one of its companies to benefit another Temasek company.¹²³ IDT also suggests that the exercise of shareholder rights, including the right to appoint board members to the Temasek companies, results in government influence over ST Telemedia’s commercial policy.¹²⁴

¹²² See IDT Reply to Third Amendment, supra note 56, at 7. IDT states that Temasek is a “massive investment holding company” wholly owned by the Ministry of Finance. See id.

¹²⁴ See id. at 9-10. IDT contends that Temasek and the Government of Singapore exercise influence over ST Telemedia through the appointment of board members, including persons who are family members of government officials and including at least one key government official. See id. at 10-11. In particular, IDT states that Mr. Tan Guong Ching is Permanent Secretary of the Ministry of Home Affairs and Chairman of the boards of directors of ST Telemedia and Singapore Technologies. See id. at 11. IDT also argues that links between the Temasek companies and the Government of Singapore raise the question whether there exist persons and entities that “are ‘representatives’ of the Singapore government for purposes of the Commission’s foreign ownership analysis.” See id. at 10. In this regard, if IDT is making an argument that any government officials holding office in the Temasek companies are “representatives” under section 310(a), this argument fails because any such officials are not Commission licensees. The Commission consistently has construed the term “representative,” as applied to 47 U.S.C. § 310(a), to prohibit individuals acting on behalf of or in conjunction with a foreign government from holding licenses under Title III of the Act. See VoiceStream/Deutsche Telekom Order, 16 FCC Rcd at 9808, ¶ 47 (“The Commission consistently has construed (continued....)”).

31. For the reasons outlined below, we decline to adopt special conditions in this case. First, as the Commission stated in the Foreign Participation Order, the commitments made by WTO Members, the Commission's regulatory safeguards, and antitrust law should adequately address competitive concerns resulting from participation by foreign carriers from WTO Member countries in the U.S. telecommunications market.¹²⁵ The Commission has confirmed that the presumption in favor of market entry for private entities from WTO Member countries also applies to an analysis of whether the denial of indirect investment by a WTO Member government would serve the public interest.¹²⁶ Upon review of the competitive issues raised by this transaction, we conclude that IDT has not provided sufficient evidence to rebut the presumption favoring investment by WTO Members. The Applicants state, in a pleading certified under penalty of perjury as true, complete and correct by the Senior Vice President – General Counsel of ST Telemedia, that the Government of Singapore does not provide subsidies or grants to ST Telemedia, does not influence ST Telemedia's commercial policy, and will not influence the commercial policy of New GX and the FCC-Licensed Subsidiaries.¹²⁷ Notwithstanding IDT's allegations, we find no credible evidence that ST Telemedia receives any special benefits or has preferential access to capital by virtue of government ownership.¹²⁸

32. Second, and perhaps most important, we are not persuaded that the indirect foreign corporate and government ownership of ST Telemedia raises in itself competitive concerns with respect to any of the product markets served by the FCC-Licensed Subsidiaries. Although IDT cites to a web page describing the corporate background of Temasek for the proposition that the Government of Singapore exercises its shareholder rights to influence the strategic direction of the Temasek investments, the record does not support a finding that the exercise of these shareholder rights would harm competition in the United States.¹²⁹ As we note in the Competitive Effects section below, the acquisition of the FCC-

¹²⁷ See Global Crossing Opposition to Petitions to Deny Third Amendment, supra note 52, at 11-12 & Certification of Pak Siok Lan, Senior Vice President – General Counsel, ST Telemedia (certifying that the statements with respect to ST Telemedia and its affiliates and subsidiaries are true, complete and correct). Moreover, although there is no record evidence that the proposed transaction will affect competition adversely in any input market essential for the provision of international services, including the market for international transport services, see infra ¶¶ 39-41, we note in passing that the government shares in Temasek are administered by the Ministry of Finance, an agency separate from Singapore's telecommunications regulator, the IDA.

¹²⁹ See IDT Reply to Third Amendment, supra note 56, at 9, citing "Corporate Backgrounder" (available at http://www.temasekholdings.com.sg/temasek_news/corp_backgrounder/corporate_backgrounder-Jul03.htm (visited Sept. 5, 2003) and attached as Attachment 2 of IDT's pleading). Licensed Subsidiaries will not reduce competition within the U.S. market.¹³⁰ Rather than decreasing competition, the acquisition likely will result in the continued provision of interstate services by GCNAN and EAN. Given these realities, it is highly unlikely that GCNAN or EAN could achieve market power in any U.S. product market, and any attempt by the Government of Singapore to aid GCNAN or EAN in such an endeavor would be likely to fail. Anti-competitive activity succeeds if the market that is the object of such activity is susceptible to consolidation and maintenance of market power. To consolidate and maintain market power, a company would need to force the exit of competitors from a market and prevent the entry of new competitors. Attempts at such exclusion would be unlikely to succeed.¹³¹ Accordingly, we cannot find that the transfer of control of GCNAN and EAN to New GX as controlled by ST Telemedia presents a high risk to competition that warrants additional conditions under this section 310(b)(4) analysis.

33. Creditor Shareholders. We next calculate the attributable foreign equity and voting interests in New GX that would be held by the Creditor Shareholders. Applicants advise that the identities of the Creditor Shareholders and the amount of New GX common stock that each Creditor Shareholder would receive have not been fully determined.¹³² Nonetheless, Applicants provide a best effort estimate of anticipated creditor shareholdings.¹³³ Applicants: (1) identified creditors of record for each of the four classes of creditors set out in the plan of reorganization approved by the bankruptcy court's Confirmation Order; (2) reviewed the names and business addresses of the creditors of record to determine which creditors in each class are from the United States, other WTO Members, or non-WTO countries; (3) divided the total dollar amount of the claims submitted by the non-U.S. WTO Member creditors and non-WTO creditors in each class by the total dollar amount of the total claims for that class, to determine the approximate percentage of claims held by non-U.S. WTO Member and non-WTO foreign persons; and (4) multiplied that percentage by the percentage of New GX common stock to be granted to that class of Commission focuses its analysis on competitive effects in U.S. markets). IDT also argues that the record is insufficient to provide a basis for concluding that the Government of Singapore will not influence the commercial policy of New GX and the FCC-Licensed Subsidiaries, and suggests that the Commission designate the Applications for hearing to establish a more complete record. See IDT Reply to Third Amendment, supra note 56, at 12. IDT's pleading does not contain specific allegations of fact (or any supporting affidavit) sufficient to show that a grant of the Applications would be prima facie inconsistent with the public interest, convenience and necessity. Based on the record, we conclude that there are no substantial and material questions of fact to warrant the designation of a hearing. See Astroline Communications Company Limited Partnership v. F.C.C., 857 F.2d 1556, 1561-62 (D.C. Cir. 1988). See also 47 U.S.C. § 309(d)(1), (2) of the Act.

¹³⁰ GCNAN holds 25 common carrier point-to-point microwave licenses. See Petition for Declaratory Ruling, supra note 1, at 25. EAN, which holds 20 common carrier point-to-point microwave licenses, provides voice and data services to business customers in western Massachusetts and New Hampshire. See Fourth Amendment, supra note 1, at 2. As noted, see infra ¶ 38, the transaction will not result in the concentration of market power in the U.S. domestic interstate markets served by GCNAN and EAN.

¹³¹ A company seeking to drive out competitors by lowering price must have sufficient supply capacity to provide services to the bulk of its rivals' customers. Otherwise rivals will not need to match price reductions to preserve their customer base. GCNAN and EAN are only two of many common carriers that offer interstate voice and data services in the United States.

creditors.¹³⁴ The result is an estimate of the percentage of New GX common stock that would be issued to the non-U.S. Creditor Shareholders (from WTO and non-WTO countries) in each of the four classes of creditors.¹³⁵ These calculations lead us to conclude that the vast majority of the creditor shares are likely to be held by individuals or entities from the United States or other WTO Member countries.¹³⁶ Applicants state that no Creditor Shareholder is expected to obtain a ten-percent-or-greater voting or equity interest in New GX.¹³⁷

34. In summary, virtually all of the indirect foreign equity and voting interests that would be held in Global Crossing North American Holdings, Inc. by and through New GX and GC Holdings are properly ascribed to individuals and entities from WTO Member countries.¹³⁸ Therefore, Applicants are entitled to a rebuttable presumption that the proposed indirect foreign ownership of GCNAN and EAN would not pose a risk to competition in the U.S. market that would justify denial of the Radio License Application and Fourth Amendment seeking to transfer control of the Title III common carrier licenses held by GCNAN and EAN. As discussed above, there is no credible evidence in the record that would rebut this presumption and, as we explain more fully in Section III.D below, the proposed transaction does not raise any significant competitive concerns.¹³⁹ We also determine in Section III.F below that the agreement between the Applicants and the Executive Branch addresses any national security and law enforcement concerns.¹⁴⁰

35. We do not grant ST Telemedia's request for "unlimited" indirect investment in GCNAN and

¹³⁵ See id. at 2-3. Applicants acknowledge that this methodology is not precise because it assumes that all currently existing claims in a given class will be allowed, and advise that the process of objecting to certain claims and negotiating settlements with various creditors effectively will result in their removal as creditors and an increase in shares available to remaining creditors whose claims are allowed. See id. at 3 n.5.

¹⁴⁰ We note that ACNI and IDT assert that transfer of control of the FCC-Licensed Subsidiaries from Global Crossing to New GX raises national security concerns because of the foreign citizenship of ST Telemedia. See ACNI Statement, supra note 39, at 17-20; IDT Petition to Deny Third Amendment, supra note 49, at 31-35. See also Sen. Dayton Ex Parte at 1, Sen. Burns and Sen. Hollings Ex Parte at 1, Cong. Weldon Ex Parte at 1. EAN.¹⁴¹ We require GCNAN and EAN to request specific Commission approval pursuant to section 310(b)(4) before ST Telemedia (through STT Communication Limited and STT Crossing Ltd.) and ST Telemedia's Singapore shareholders can acquire any additional equity or voting interest in New GX. We otherwise conclude that it will not serve the public interest to prohibit the proposed indirect foreign ownership of GCNAN and EAN, the Title III licensees. Specifically, this ruling permits GCNAN and EAN to be owned indirectly by: (1) New GX (through GC Holdings) (up to and including 100 percent of the equity and voting interests); (2) ST Telemedia (through STT Communication Limited and STT Crossing Ltd.) and ST Telemedia's Singapore shareholders, including Singapore Technologies, Temasek, and the Government of Singapore (up to and including 61.5 percent of the equity and voting interests); and (3) various WTO Member Creditor Shareholders, each of which is permitted to hold a less-than-ten-percent equity and/or voting interest as finally determined under the plan of reorganization (up to and including an aggregate 38.5 percent of the equity and voting interests). In addition to these approved interests, New GX may accept up to and including an aggregate 25 percent indirect equity and/or voting interest from the WTO Member Creditor Shareholders, and from other foreign investors, without seeking prior Commission approval under section 310(b)(4), subject to the following conditions: (1) GCNAN and EAN shall obtain prior approval before any foreign individual or entity other than New GX (through GC Holdings), ST Telemedia (through STT Communication Ltd. and STT Crossing Ltd.), Singapore Technologies, Temasek, and the Government of Singapore acquires individually a greater-than-25-percent indirect equity and/or voting interest in GCNAN or EAN; and (2) GCNAN and EAN shall seek approval under section 310(b)(4) before they accept any additional indirect investment, other than that approved here, from ST Telemedia, Singapore Technologies, Temasek and the Government of Singapore.¹⁴² We emphasize that, as Commission licensees, GCNAN and EAN have an affirmative duty to continue to monitor attributable foreign equity and voting interests and to calculate attributable interests consistent with the attribution principles enunciated by the Commission.¹⁴³

¹⁴¹ See Third Amendment, supra note 1, at 3 n.6 (seeking to amend the Petition for Declaratory Ruling to permit ST Telemedia "to hold an unlimited indirect interest" in GCNAN); Fourth Amendment, supra note 1, at 1 (requesting that the Petition for Declaratory Ruling be modified to permit EAN to have the foreign ownership described in the Third Amendment). Our approval in this Order and Authorization of indirect foreign investment in GCNAN and EAN pursuant to section 310(b)(4) shall not modify any requirement imposed on the licensees by other provisions of the Act or the Commission's rules to obtain prior approval for, or to notify the Commission of, changes in their ownership.

¹⁴² In response to the ACNI Objections to Third Amendment, supra note 50, at 3 & 3 n.5, suggesting that Hutchison Telecommunications Ltd. may seek to acquire a 25% investment in New GX at some future date despite Executive Branch objections, we observe that the network security agreement between the Executive Branch and the Applicants, the provisions of which are incorporated as a condition to this Order and Authorization, may not permit a 25% investment by Hutchison Telecommunications Ltd. or another foreign entity. See infra ¶ 47 & notes 190-91 (requiring New GX to give notice to the Executive Branch of any 10% or greater foreign investment and reserving an Executive Branch right to object under certain circumstances). See also Global Crossing Opposition to Petitions to Deny Third Amendment, supra note 52, at 16 n.44 (stating that Hutchison Telecommunications Ltd. "will have no interest in New GX following consummation of the transaction").

D. Competitive Effects

36. Our public interest analysis includes an evaluation of the competitive effects of the proposed transaction in both the relevant product markets and the relevant geographic markets. For telecommunications service providers, the Commission has determined that the relevant product and geographic markets can include both U.S. domestic telecommunications services markets and telecommunications services between the United States and foreign points.¹⁴⁴ We determine that the proposed transfer is not likely to result in harm to competition in any relevant market and likely will yield tangible public interest benefits.

37. We find that the instant case does not pose a threat of a reduction in the number of potential competitors in the geographic and product markets served by the FCC-Licensed Subsidiaries. Indeed, the Applicants submit that consummation of the proposed transaction would enable the FCC-Licensed Subsidiaries to continue to compete in the U.S. domestic and international telecommunications markets and to provide telecommunications services and facilities, including submarine cable capacity, to other telecommunications carriers and service providers.¹⁴⁵ CWA argues that the Applicants have not demonstrated a verifiable public benefit to competition from the continued viability of these subsidiaries.¹⁴⁶ However, we find that the continued operation of the FCC-Licensed Subsidiaries will benefit competition by preventing discontinuance of service and providing consumers choices among providers of telecommunications services. We give no weight to ACNI's suggestion that, because other entities have expressed an interest in acquiring Global Crossing's assets, the FCC Licensed-Subsidiaries are not in danger of disappearing.¹⁴⁷ The Confirmation Order of the bankruptcy court approved the proposed transaction currently before us, and we will not speculate on what other transactions the court might or might not have approved.

38. No anti-competitive effects will result from this decision. As the Applicants observe, the operating subsidiaries and affiliates of ST Telemedia do not provide U.S. interstate services, and thus the proposed transaction would not result in any increase in concentration of market power in the U.S. domestic interstate markets.¹⁴⁸ Further, the activities of the FCC-Licensed Subsidiaries and those of the subsidiaries of ST Telemedia and its affiliates largely do not overlap in the U.S. international market.¹⁴⁹ Neither ST Telemedia's subsidiary StarHub, Inc. nor SingTel's subsidiary Singapore Telecom USA, Inc. has a significant market share on any U.S. route.¹⁵⁰ Moreover, the subsidiaries and affiliates of ST Telemedia outside the United States would not pose a risk of competitive harm on any U.S. route sufficient to warrant denial of the Applications. These subsidiaries and affiliates either do not control bottleneck facilities and otherwise do not have the ability to affect competition in the U.S. telecommunications services market, or, in the case of the U.S.-Singapore and U.S.-Indonesia routes, their market power will be constrained by the Commission's dominant carrier regulation of the International ¹⁴⁸ See Petition for Declaratory Ruling, supra note 1, at 22-23; Third Amendment, supra note 1, at 7. With respect to domestic telecommunications services, the Commission separately analyzes the impact on competition in the product market for local exchange and exchange access services, and the product market for interexchange services. See, e.g., MCI/WorldCom Order, 13 FCC Rcd at 18040 n.61. Budget Call, Global Crossing Bandwidth, Global Crossing Local Services, GCNAN, and Global Crossing Telecommunications (collectively, the "Domestic 214 Subsidiaries") provide domestic resold and facilities-based local exchange, intrastate, and interstate telecommunications services on a retail and wholesale basis in all fifty states and the District of Columbia. See Section 214 Application, supra note 1, at Exhibit A; see also December 18 Letter, supra note 10, at 12. Each of the five Domestic 214 Subsidiaries provides both interstate and intrastate services, but only Global Crossing Local Services provides local exchange services, which it provides as a competitive facilities-based carrier in 26 states. See December 18 Letter, supra note 10, at 13. The Commission further distinguishes between domestic interstate interexchange services provided to: (1) residential consumers and small businesses (mass market); and (2) medium-sized and large business customers (large business market). See WorldCom/MCI Order, 13 FCC Rcd at 18040, ¶ 24. The Applicants estimate that the Domestic 214 Subsidiaries collectively have a small percentage of the domestic mass market, on the order of less than one percent nationwide. See December 18 Letter, supra note 10, at 12. In the large business market, the Applicants state that the Domestic 214 Subsidiaries are important competitive providers of telecommunications services to large enterprise customers, and provide service to over 450 carriers in the United States. See id. at 13. In addition, as noted, wireless licensees GCNAN and EAN hold common carrier microwave licenses used to provide voice and data services. See supra note 130.

¹⁴⁹ See Petition for Declaratory Ruling, supra note 1, at 23; Third Amendment, supra note 1, at 7. The Commission has distinguished between international services provided to mass market and larger business customers. See WorldCom/MCI Order, 13 FCC Rcd at 18095, ¶ 122. For the international telecommunications market, the Commission also has evaluated the competitive effects on a country-by-country basis, for service between the United States and specific foreign countries, where service to each foreign country from the United States represents a separate geographic market. See Comsat/Lockheed Order, 15 FCC Rcd at 22916, ¶ 18.

¹⁵⁰ See Petition for Declaratory Ruling, supra note 1, at 23 (stating neither StarHub, Inc. nor Singapore Telecom USA, Inc. has a "remotely cognizable market share on any U.S. international route"); Third Amendment, supra note 1, at 7 (stating that StarHub, Inc. has a "very small participation" in the U.S. telecommunications market). See also, e.g., 2001 International Telecommunications Data, Industry Analysis & Technology Division, Wireline Competition Bureau, Federal Communications Commission (Jan. 2003), at Tables A1, A28 (reporting that StarHub, Inc. billed only 499,046 of the 33.3 billion minutes of international message telephone service billed in the United States for year 2001, or less than 0.002%). We note that Singapore Telecom USA, Inc.'s section 43.61(a) filing for year 2001, submitted subsequent to publication of 2001 International Telecommunications Data, reported 53,631,738 billed minutes, representing less than 0.2% of total U.S. billed international message telephone service minutes.

214 Subsidiaries on these routes.¹⁵¹

39. Our conclusion that the proposed transaction will not impact in any significant way the market for international long distance services is further supported by the absence of any evidence in the record to demonstrate that the proposed transaction would affect competition adversely in any input market that is essential for the provision of international services, including the market for international transport services.¹⁵² For purposes of determining whether the transaction would affect competition adversely in any input market that is essential for the provision of international services, we focus our analysis on submarine cable facilities.¹⁵³ Here, we analyze both capacity owned on cables landing in the United States and cable landing station ownership at the foreign end of U.S. international service routes.¹⁵⁴

40. First, with respect to capacity owned on cables landing in the United States, we find that the proposed transaction will result in no appreciable increase in concentration of market power.¹⁵⁵ In the Atlantic Ocean and Americas regions, ST Telemedia and its affiliates do not own significant capacity on cables landing in the United States, and thus there is no appreciable post-transaction increase in ¹⁵¹ See Petition for Declaratory Ruling, supra note 1, at 23-25. The Global Crossing subsidiaries that hold international section 214 authority are: Budget Call; GC Bandwidth; Global Crossing Government Markets; Global Crossing Holdings USA; GCNAN; Global Crossing Telecommunications; International Optical Networks, L.L.C.; and Racal Telecommunications Inc. (collectively, the “International 214 Subsidiaries”). See Section 214 Application, supra note 1, at 2 n.1. See also infra ¶¶ 42-45 of this Order and Authorization, concerning our regulatory treatment of the International 214 Subsidiaries to the extent that they are authorized to serve the U.S.-Singapore and U.S.-Indonesia routes.

concentration in either of those regions.¹⁵⁶ Similarly, in the Pacific Ocean region, we find no risk of harm to competition. We therefore disagree with IDT's contention that the transaction will result in "consolidation of control of much of the undersea cable capacity in Southeast Asia by dominant carriers in that region" and thus "is likely to result in a substantial decrease in competition and an opportunity for the Applicants to restrict output and raise prices on certain Southeast Asian routes."¹⁵⁷ In 2001, capacity in PC-1 represented 20.2 percent of cable capacity that was available on 13 transpacific cables landing in the United States.¹⁵⁸ ST Telemedia's affiliate SingTel is an original owner of capacity on three transpacific cables that land in the United States.¹⁵⁹ Further, SingTel's subsidiary SingTelOptus owns capacity on Southern Cross, a common carrier cable between the United States and Australia, New Zealand and Fiji.¹⁶⁰ We find that the approximately 5.5 percent increase in the concentration ratio ¹⁵⁸ See International Bureau Report, 2001 Section 43.82 Circuit Status Data, supra note 156, at 35 (PC-1 cable had 967,680 of the total 4.8 million 64 Kbps circuits in service in the transpacific region). IDT argues that capacity in four unbuilt transpacific cables licensed to GC Pacific Landing must be included in the Commission's analysis of Pacific Ocean region capacity. See IDT Reply to Third Amendment, supra note 56, at 15. Contrary to IDT's assertion, an analysis of licensed, as opposed to operational, capacity in the Pacific Ocean region derives a significantly lower capacity percentage, for year 2001 and later, for the Submarine Cable Subsidiaries. Aggregate transpacific submarine cable capacity licensed to the Global Crossing subsidiaries, including the four unbuilt cables, represents less than 10% of the capacity on transpacific cables licensed to land in the United States (Asia Direct, Guam Telecom, Hawaii Express and Orient Express cables are authorized at 10 Gbps each with an aggregate capacity of 483,840 64 Kbps circuits, which, along with the PC-1 capacity, equals less than 1.5 million of 15.4 million licensed circuits, including circuits licensed on the Flag Pacific-1, 360pacific, and Tycom Pacific cables that also were not yet operational in 2001). See International Bureau Report, 2001 Section 43.82 Circuit Status Data, supra note 156, at 37. This suggests that additional capacity, provided by several suppliers, will mitigate against an increase in concentration and prevent any anti-competitive effects in the Pacific Ocean region market.

¹⁵⁶ In the Atlantic Ocean region, capacity in the Atlantic Crossing ("AC-1") and Atlantic Crossing-2 ("AC-2") cables represented approximately 26% of capacity available in 2001 on 17 transatlantic cables landing in the United States. See International Bureau Report, 2001 Section 43.82 Circuit Status Data (rel. Nov. 2002), at 34, Table 7, available on the Commission's website at www.fcc.gov/ib/pd/pf/csmanual.html (AC-1 and AC-2 cables had 3.6 million of the total 13.9 million 64 Kbps circuits in service in the transatlantic region). ST Telemedia's affiliate SingTel is an original capacity owner with 2,128 64 Kbps circuits on the Columbus II, TAT-12/13 and TAT-14 cables, or less than 0.02% of total transatlantic capacity for year 2001, not an appreciable post-transaction increase in market concentration. See, e.g., American Telephone and Telegraph Company et al., Joint Application for Authorization Under Section 214 of the Communications Act of 1934, as Amended, to Construct, Acquire Capacity in and Operate a High Capacity Digital Submarine Cable System Between and Among the United States Mainland, Mexico, U.S. Virgin Islands, Spain, Italy and Portugal, File No. ITC-93-029, Memorandum Opinion, Order and Authorization, DA 93-910, 8 FCC Rcd 5263, 5382, Appendix A Schedule E-3 (Columbus II section 214 authorization); AT&T, et al., Joint Application for Authorization Under Section 214 of the Communications Act of 1934, as Amended, to Construct, Operate and Acquire Capacity in a High Capacity Digital Submarine Cable Network Between and Among the United States Mainland, the United Kingdom and France, File No. ITC-93-062, Memorandum Opinion, Order and Authorization, DA 93-893, 8 FCC Rcd 4810, 4816, Appendix A (CCB 1993) (TAT-12/13 section 214 authorization), as updated by Revised Schedules, WDM Update Program (filed Aug. 26, 1998 and available in File No. ITC-93-062); AT&T et al., Joint Application for a License to Land and Operate in the United States a Submarine Cable System Extending Between the United States, Denmark, Germany, the Netherlands, France and the United Kingdom, File No. SCL-LIC-19990303-00004, Cable Landing License, DA 99-2042 (Int'l Bur., rel. Oct. 1, 1999) (TAT-14 cable landing license), at Appendix B. In the Americas region in 2001, capacity in the Mid-Atlantic Crossing ("MAC"), Pan American Crossing ("PAC"), and South American Crossing ("SAC") cables represented approximately 30% of submarine cable capacity that was available on 15 intra-Americas cables landing in the United States. See International Bureau Report, 2001 Section 43.82 Circuit Status Data at 34 (MAC, PAC, and SAC cables had 967,680 of the total 3.2 million 64 Kbps circuits in service in the Americas region). SingTel owns 30 64 Kbps circuits on the Americas I cable, or approximately 0.0009% of year 2001 total Americas region capacity. See American Telephone and Telegraph Company et al., Joint Application for Authorization Under Section 214 of the Communications Act of 1934, as Amended, to Construct, Acquire Capacity in and Operate a High Capacity Digital Submarine Cable System Between and Among the United States Mainland, U.S. Virgin Islands, Brazil, Trinidad and Venezuela, File No. ITC-93-030, Memorandum Opinion, Order and Authorization, DA 93-911, 8 FCC Rcd 5287, 5295, Appendix A Schedule D-3 (CCB 1993) (Americas I section 214 authorization).

¹⁵⁷ See IDT Petition to Deny Third Amendment, supra note 49, at 18-21. IDT's contention rests in part on the faulty premise that Global Crossing "currently controls five undersea cable systems in the Pacific region." Id. at 23. As noted below, see infra 158, GC Pacific Landing, a subsidiary of Global Crossing, has licenses to construct four small-capacity Pacific region cables, but the facilities remain unbuilt although the licenses transferred to GC Pacific Landing in 1999. See Asia Direct Communications, L.L.C., et al., Application for Authority, Pursuant to the Submarine Cable Landing License Act, to Assign Cable Landing Licenses and to Transfer Control of the Entity Holding Such Licenses, 14 FCC Rcd 11316, DA 99-1325 (Int'l Bur. 1999). A second, majority-owned indirect subsidiary of Global Crossing, PC Landing, owns the U.S. end of the PC-1 cable linking the United States and Japan. As noted, see supra note 63, consummation of the PC Landing bankruptcy reorganization is expected to divest the Applicants of any interest in PC-1.

¹⁵⁹ SingTel owns capacity on: TPC-5, a common carrier cable landing in the continental United States, Hawaii, Guam, and Japan, see American Telephone and Telegraph Company, et al., Joint Application for Authorization Under Section 214 of the Communications Act of 1934, as Amended, to Construct, Acquire Capacity in and Operate a High Capacity Digital Submarine Cable Network Between and Among the United States Mainland, the State of Hawaii, the Island of Guam and Japan, File No. ITC-92-179, Memorandum Opinion, Order and Authorization, DA 92-1559, 7 FCC Rcd 7758, 7765, Appendix 2 Schedule C (CCB 1992) (TPC-5 section 214 authorization), as updated in TPC-5 CN Revised Schedules Effective 1 June 1998, Schedule G-4 (memorandum and attachments from J. Eric Stein, TPC-5 MC Coordinator, filed Aug. 5, 1998 and available in File No. ITC-92-179); China-U.S., a private cable landing in the continental United States, Guam, China, Taiwan, Japan, and South Korea, see AT&T et al., Joint Application for a License to Land and Operate in the United States a Digital Submarine Cable System Extending Between the United States, China, Taiwan, Japan, South Korea, and Guam, File No. SCL-98-002, DA 98-1711, 13 FCC Rcd 16232 (Int'l Bur. 1998) (China-U.S. cable landing license) and China-US Cable Network Amendatory Agreement No. 1 to the Construction and Maintenance Agreement, at Schedule C (available in File No. SCL-98-002); and JUS, a private cable between the United States and Japan, see AT&T Corp. et al., Joint Application for a License to Land and Operate a Submarine Cable Network Between the United States and Japan, File No. SCL-LIC-19981117-00025, Cable Landing License, FCC 99-167, 14 FCC Rcd 13066, 13086, Appendix B Schedule B (1999) (JUS cable landing license). SingTel's ownership capacity, as described in the applications for the three cables, approximates 68,464 64 Kbps circuits (4,980 circuits on TPC-5, 56,914 circuits on China-U.S., and 6,570 circuits on JUS), which represents 1.43% of capacity on transpacific cables landing in the United States in 2001 (68,464 of 4,787,370 circuits). See International Bureau Report, 2001 Section 43.82 Circuit Status Data, supra note 156, at 35.

resulting from the proposed transaction, for transpacific cables landing in the United States, is not likely to have anti-competitive effects in the provision of U.S. international services.¹⁶¹

41. Second, with respect to cable landing stations at the foreign end of U.S. routes, the Applicants advise that all of Global Crossing's cable landing station subsidiaries have substantially less than a 50 percent share of the cable landing station market in their respective countries and do not control bottleneck facilities.¹⁶² In Singapore, ST Telemedia's affiliate SingTel, the dominant provider of domestic and international telecommunications services, owns three of the four cable landing stations, and therefore also is dominant in that input market.¹⁶³ In Indonesia, ST Telemedia-controlled subsidiary Indosat, the dominant telecommunications provider, and its subsidiary PT Satelit Palapa Indonesia have market power in the cable landing station input market.¹⁶⁴ As we discuss further below, the Applicants have agreed to accept dominant treatment of the International 214 Subsidiaries on the U.S.-Singapore and U.S.-Indonesia routes.¹⁶⁵ We find that, with the dominant carrier safeguards we impose in this Order and Authorization, the proposed transaction will not affect competition adversely in any input market that is essential for the provision of international services, including the input market for international transport services.¹⁶⁶

E. Dominant Carrier Safeguards

42. As part of our public interest analysis under section 214(a) of the Act, we also consider whether, upon consummation of the proposed transfers of control, the international section 214 authorization holders will become affiliated with a foreign carrier that has market power on the foreign

¹⁶² See December 18 Letter, supra note 10, at 11. Each of these cable landing station providers is located in a WTO Member country. See id.

¹⁶³ See id. at 11.

¹⁶⁴ See January 30 Letter, supra note 32, at 2; see also First Amendment, supra note 1, at 2. Applicants also state that C2C (Hong Kong) Limited, a company owned 59.5% by SingTel, controls one of several cable landing stations in Hong Kong, but, because there are several other providers of cable landing stations in Hong Kong, C2C (Hong Kong) Limited does not have market power in the provision of cable landing stations in Hong Kong. See December 18 Letter, supra note 10, at 11.

¹⁶⁵ See Section 214 Application, supra note 1, at 19; Petition for Declaratory Ruling, supra note 1, at 24; December 18 Letter, supra note 10, at n.17; First Amendment, supra note 1, at 4.

¹⁶⁶ Additionally, we find no merit in IDT's argument that we must consider the transfer of the assets of Global Marine Systems, Ltd. an unregulated Global Crossing subsidiary that plans and installs submarine cables, as a "new and substantial vertical risk" in our analysis of this transaction. See IDT Petition to Deny Third Amendment, supra note 49, at 33-34. As Applicants state, IDT has failed to explain how the transfer of these unregulated assets would affect competition in the U.S. telecommunications market. See Global Crossing Opposition to Petitions to Deny Third Amendment, supra note 52, at 8 n.27.

end of a U.S. international route that the international section 214 authorization holders have authority to serve pursuant to the international section 214 authorizations that will be transferred.¹⁶⁷ In addition, under section 1.767(a)(8) and (a)(11) of the Commission's rules, a submarine cable licensee that proposes to transfer control of an interest in a submarine cable landing license granted pursuant to the Cable Landing License Act and Executive Order 10530 is required to disclose if it will become affiliated with a foreign carrier as a result of the transfer of control.¹⁶⁸ Under rules adopted in the Foreign Participation Order, the Commission classifies a U.S. carrier as "dominant" on a particular route if it is, or is affiliated with, a foreign carrier that has market power on the foreign end of that route.¹⁶⁹ With respect to submarine cable licensees, the Commission similarly applies competitive safeguards to a licensee that is, or is affiliated with, a carrier with market power in foreign input markets that could result in harm to competition in the U.S. market.¹⁷⁰

43. The Applicants state that neither Global Crossing nor New GX has received authority under section 214 of the Act.¹⁷¹ The Applicants certify that neither the Applicants, the International 214 Subsidiaries, nor the Submarine Cable Subsidiaries are foreign carriers within the meaning of sections 63.09(d) of the Commission's rules.¹⁷² The Applicants advise that Global Crossing, the International 214

¹⁶⁹ See Foreign Participation Order, 12 FCC Rcd at 23987, ¶ 215, 23991-99, ¶¶ 221-39. A carrier classified as dominant on a particular U.S. international route due to an affiliation with a foreign carrier that has market power on the foreign end of the route is subject to specific international dominant carrier safeguards set forth in section 63.10 of the rules. See 47 C.F.R. § 63.10(c), (e). These safeguards are designed to address the possibility that a foreign carrier with control over facilities or services that are essential inputs for the provision of U.S. international services could discriminate against rivals of its U.S. affiliates (i.e., vertical harms). In the Foreign Participation Order, the Commission concluded that these safeguards, in conjunction with generally applicable international safeguards, are sufficient to protect against vertical harms by carriers from WTO Member countries in virtually all circumstances. In the exceptional case where an application poses a very high risk to competition in the U.S. market -- where the standard safeguards and additional conditions would be ineffective -- the Commission reserves the right to deny the application. See Foreign Participation Order, 12 FCC Rcd at 23913-14, ¶ 51. In circumstances where an affiliated foreign carrier possesses market power in a non-WTO Member country, the Commission applies the ECO test, see supra ¶ 22, as part of its public interest inquiry under section 214(a). See Foreign Participation Order, 12 FCC Rcd at 23944, ¶ 124.

¹⁷⁰ See Submarine Cable Report and Order, 16 FCC Rcd at 22180, ¶ 25. Relevant foreign carrier input markets include those facilities or services necessary for the landing, connection, or operation of submarine cables. See id. at 22180, ¶ 23. In the Submarine Cable Report and Order, the Commission found that these competitive safeguards should be sufficient in all but the most exceptional of circumstances to detect and deter any anti-competitive behavior associated with market power in WTO Member markets where U.S.-licensed cable systems land and operate. See id.; see also id. at 22174, ¶ 12, n. 32 (noting that, pursuant to the Foreign Participation Order, 12 FCC Rcd at 23944-46, ¶¶ 124-130, an applicant proposing to acquire an interest in a U.S. cable landing license that is affiliated with a foreign carrier that possesses market power in a non-WTO destination market of the cable is required to meet the ECO test as a prerequisite to grant of the cable landing license application).

Subsidiaries, and the Submarine Cable Subsidiaries currently are affiliated with foreign carriers in the following countries: Argentina, Belgium, Brazil, Canada, Chile, Denmark, France, Germany, Ireland, Italy, Mexico, The Netherlands, Norway, Panama, Peru, Spain, Sweden, Switzerland, the United Kingdom, Uruguay and Venezuela.¹⁷³ The Applicants further state that ST Telemedia is not a foreign carrier but has operating subsidiaries or affiliates that are foreign carriers. As a result of the proposed transaction, Applicants advise that the International 214 Subsidiaries and Submarine Cable Subsidiaries will acquire new affiliations with foreign carriers. The proposed investment by ST Telemedia would result in foreign carrier affiliations in the following countries: Australia, Hong Kong, India, Indonesia, Japan, Korea, Malaysia, Mauritius, Philippines, Singapore, Sri Lanka, Taiwan and the United Kingdom.¹⁷⁴

44. The Applicants certify that they seek authority for the International 214 Subsidiaries to continue to provide international telecommunications services to all of the countries in which they have foreign carrier affiliates or with which they will have foreign carrier affiliates as a result of the proposed transaction.¹⁷⁵ Similarly, New GX certifies that it seeks authority for the Submarine Cable Subsidiaries to continue to provide international telecommunications services to all of the countries in which they currently have foreign carrier affiliates or with which they will have foreign carrier affiliates following consummation of the proposed transaction.¹⁷⁶ The Applicants advise that each country is a WTO Member.¹⁷⁷ The Applicants state that, following the consummation of the proposed transaction, the International 214 Subsidiaries and Submarine Cable Subsidiaries would qualify for a presumption of non-dominance under section 63.10(a)(3) of the Commission's rules with respect to the provision of service on all authorized routes except the U.S.-Singapore and U.S.-Indonesia routes, because their affiliates would lack 50 percent market share in the international transport and the local access markets on the foreign ends of these routes.¹⁷⁸ At the same time, the Applicants advise that, upon consummation of the proposed transaction, the International 214 Subsidiaries and Submarine Cable Subsidiaries would become affiliated with SingTel, a foreign carrier in Singapore, and with Indosat, a foreign carrier in Indonesia.¹⁷⁹ With respect to the U.S.-Singapore and U.S.-Indonesia routes, New GX agrees to have the International 214 Subsidiaries classified as dominant pursuant to section 63.10 of the Commission's rules, and to file quarterly traffic reports pursuant to section 43.61(c) of the Commission's rules.¹⁸⁰ Further, New GX agrees to have the Submarine Cable Subsidiaries accept and abide by the reporting requirements set out in section 1.767(l) of the Commission's rules.¹⁸¹ These reporting requirements apply only to licensees affiliated with carriers with market power in a cable's destination market. None of the cables covered by the submarine cable licenses at issue in this docket lands in Singapore or Indonesia, the only two markets where the Submarine Cable Subsidiaries will become affiliated with a carrier having market power. Thus, because there is no basis in the record to impose special safeguards in this case, the Submarine Cable Subsidiaries need not file the reports required by section 1.767(l).

45. We find that the Section 214 Application and Cable Landing Application, seeking to transfer control of international section 214 authorizations and interests in submarine cable licensees to New GX, are consistent with Commission policies on foreign carrier entry adopted in the Foreign Participation Order. The dominant carrier safeguards in section 63.10(c) will protect sufficiently against any potential harms to U.S. customers on the two routes where the International 214 Subsidiaries will become affiliated with foreign carriers that possess market power. Accordingly, and taking into account our findings below with respect to issues raised by the Executive Branch, we conclude that the proposed transfers of control of the international section 214 authorizations and submarine cable landing licenses from Global Crossing

See also 47 C.F.R. § 43.61(c). ACNI suggests that "the dominant position of applicants in the markets will jeopardize competition." See ACNI Statement, supra note 39, at 16-17. IDT asserts that ST Telemedia's affiliate SingTel might coordinate with ST Telemedia and New GX to maintain high termination rates for Singapore and Indonesia. See IDT Petition to Deny Third Amendment, supra note 49, at 26. In the Foreign Participation Order the Commission carefully considered the ability and incentive of a foreign affiliate with market power to discriminate against rivals of its U.S. affiliates, and adopted specific international dominant carrier safeguards designed to address the possibility that a foreign carrier with control over essential inputs for the provision of U.S. international services would discriminate against rivals of its U.S. affiliates. See supra note 169. We find that the remedy prescribed by the Commission's Foreign Participation Order, that of employing dominant carrier safeguards on routes where a carrier's affiliate at the foreign end of the route holds market power, resolves the stated concerns of ACNI and IDT.

to New GX are consistent with our foreign carrier affiliation rules.

F. National Security, Law Enforcement, Foreign Policy and Trade Policy Concerns

46. When analyzing a transfer of control or assignment application in which foreign investment is an issue, we also consider any national security, law enforcement, foreign policy, or trade policy concerns raised by the Executive Branch.¹⁸² In their Applications, the Applicants stated that there were national security, law enforcement and public safety issues that Executive Branch agencies wanted to review and requested that Commission action be deferred until “all issues identified by the Executive Branch have or have not resolved” and appropriate action” is requested.¹⁸³ In addition, as noted, on October 21, 2002, the DOJ/FBI filed the DOJ/FBI Motion requesting that the Commission defer dispositive action on the Applications until the Executive Branch had notified the Commission that the national security, law enforcement, and public safety issues under review by the Executive Branch agencies had or had not been resolved. The DOJ/FBI now advises that the Executive Branch agencies have no objection to grant of the Applications provided that the Commission conditions the grant on compliance with the terms of an agreement between the Department of Justice, Federal Bureau of Investigation, Department of Defense and Department of Homeland Security, on one hand, and Global Crossing, New GX and ST Telemedia, on the other (“the New GX/Executive Branch Agreement”). Specifically, on September 26, 2003, the DOJ/FBI filed, with the concurrence of the Department of Defense and Department of Homeland Security, a Petition to Adopt Conditions to Authorizations and Licenses (“Petition to Adopt Conditions”) that attaches the New GX/Executive Branch Agreement.¹⁸⁴ The New GX/Executive Branch Agreement is intended to ensure that the Department of Justice, Federal Bureau of Investigation, Department of Defense and Department of Homeland Security and other entities with responsibility for enforcing the law, protecting the national security and preserving public safety can proceed in a legal, secure and confidential manner to satisfy these responsibilities.¹⁸⁵ The DOJ/FBI represents that the Applicants and ¹⁸⁴ Petition to Adopt Conditions, IB Docket No. 02-286 (filed Sept. 26, 2003). The agreement, which the parties entered on September 24, 2003, is the result of discussions between Applicants and the Executive Branch to resolve national security and other concerns highlighted in the Petition for Declaratory Ruling, see supra note 1, at 20 (asking Commission to defer dispositive action on the Applications pending notification that all issues raised by the Executive Branch had or had not been resolved), and by the DOJ/FBI Motion filed on October 21, 2002, see supra note 38 (seeking deferral of Commission action for review of national security, law enforcement and public safety issues); Third Amendment, supra note 1, at 10 (reiterating Applicants’ request for prompt review but no dispositive action until after DOJ/FBI notification). See also Letter from James L. Ball, Chief, Policy Division, International Bureau, Federal Communications Commission to Andrew D. Lipman, Jean L. Kiddoo, and Paul O. Gagnier, Counsel for Applicants (dated Apr. 22, 2003) (advising that review of the Applications could not be finalized by the requested date of April 30, 2003 without receipt of Executive Branch notification withdrawing the DOJ/FBI Motion in sufficient time to complete this review) (“Policy Division Letter”). The Petition to Adopt Conditions advises the Commission that those Executive Branch agencies “have no objection to the FCC granting” the Applications “provided that the Commission conditions the grant” on compliance with the New GX/Executive Branch Agreement. See Petition to Adopt Conditions at 1-2.

¹⁸⁵ See Petition to Adopt Conditions at 5. See also id. at 3 (stating concern that foreign involvement in the provision of U.S. communications must not be permitted to impair the ability of the U.S. government to satisfy its obligations to U.S. citizens).

ST Telemedia do not object to the grant of the petition.¹⁸⁶

47. The New GX/Executive Branch Agreement includes, inter alia, provisions for information storage, access to facilities and data, security, auditing, reporting and notice. The New GX/Executive Branch Agreement is attached as Appendix D to this Order and Authorization. In part, the New GX/Executive Branch Agreement provides that New GX and its subsidiaries will ensure that all “domestic communications infrastructure” will be located in the United States and directed, controlled, supervised and managed by a “domestic communications company.”¹⁸⁷ The New GX/Executive Branch Agreement also requires New GX to maintain a full and complete record of every electronic or written communication -- related to interconnection agreements, security procedures and policy, major equipment purchases, and joint venture provisions -- by the New GX directors, officers, employees and agents with the ST Telemedia directors, officers, employees and agents.¹⁸⁸ Further, it requires the establishment of a security committee of the New GX Board, as well as other security provisions including establishment of a visitation policy.¹⁸⁹

48. The notice provisions include a requirement that New GX promptly notify the Department of Justice, Federal Bureau of Investigation, Department of Defense and Department of Homeland Security of any foreign entity or individual, other than ST Telemedia, that obtains or likely will obtain a direct or indirect ownership interest above ten percent in New GX or a domestic communications company, or gains or likely will gain “control” of New GX or a domestic communications company.¹⁹⁰ The New GX/Executive Branch Agreement provides for suspension of the agreement with respect to New GX and all domestic communications companies thirty days after receipt from New GX of notice and

¹⁸⁷ See New GX/Executive Branch Agreement at Art. 2. “Domestic communications infrastructure” does not include, among other things, equipment dedicated to the termination of international undersea cables, provided that such equipment is utilized solely to effectuate the operation of undersea transport networks(s) outside of the United States and in no manner controls land-based transport network(s) or their associated systems in the United States. See id. at Art. 1.11. A “domestic communications company” means a subsidiary or other component of New GX, or any entity over which New GX has de facto or de jure control, that provides domestic communications. See id. at Art. 1.10. Domestic communications is wire communications or electronic communications, whether stored or not, from one U.S. location to another U.S. location as well as the U.S. portion of a wire or electronic communication that originates or terminates in the United States. See id. at Art. 1.9.

¹⁸⁸ See id. at Art. 3.3.

¹⁸⁹ See id. at Art. 3 (including provisions, inter alia, on the development and maintenance of an information security plan, the qualifications of the principal network and security officers, general counsel and head of human resources, and the establishment of a security committee of the New GX Board). Articles 3.15-3.16 provide that 50% of the members of the New GX Board nominated by ST Telemedia must be security directors, that is, directors who are U.S. citizens, have or acquire U.S. security clearances, and satisfy the independent director requirements of the New York Stock Exchange. See id. at Art. 3.15-3.16. Within 30 days of receiving notice of the proposed appointment of an individual as a security director, the Department of Justice, Federal Bureau of Investigation, Department of Defense, or Department of Homeland Security may object to the appointment, requiring rescission of the appointment and appointment of another candidate. See id. at Art. 3.16.

¹⁹⁰ See id. at Art. 5.2. See also id. at Art. 1.3 (which defines “control” to include the power to reach certain decisions as well as de facto and de jure control) and at Art. 1.5 (defining de facto and de jure control).

documentation reasonably satisfactory to the Department of Justice, Federal Bureau of Investigation, Department of Defense and Department of Homeland Security that neither ST Telemedia nor any other foreign entity either controls New GX or a domestic communications company or holds, directly or indirectly, a ten percent or greater interest in New GX or a domestic communications company, unless these agencies notify New GX within thirty days that the agreement will not be suspended to protect U.S. national security, law enforcement and public safety concerns.¹⁹¹ Finally, the New GX/Executive Branch Agreement states that the Attorney General, Secretary of Defense, and Secretary of Homeland Security shall not make any objection to CFIUS or the President concerning ST Telemedia's investment in New GX or grant of the applications filed with the Commission in IB Docket No. 02-286, provided that the Commission conditions grant of the Applications on compliance, by Global Crossing, New GX and ST Telemedia, with the provisions of the New GX/Executive Branch Agreement.¹⁹² In conclusion of the CFIUS process, on September 19, 2003, the President sent a letter to Congress attaching a classified report "on my decision to take no action to suspend or prohibit the proposed 61.5 percent investment by [ST Telemedia], a company indirectly owned by the Government of Singapore, in [New GX]."¹⁹³

49. In assessing the public interest, we take into account the record and afford the appropriate level of deference to Executive Branch expertise on national security and law enforcement issues.¹⁹⁴ As the Commission stated in the Foreign Participation Order, foreign participation in the U.S. telecommunications market may implicate significant national security or law enforcement issues uniquely within the expertise of the Executive Branch.¹⁹⁵ In presuming that an application from a WTO Member applicant does not pose a risk of anti-competitive harm that would justify denial of the application, the Commission does not, however, presume that an application poses no national security, law enforcement, foreign policy, or trade concerns.¹⁹⁶ In the context of this particular proceeding, we considered these concerns independent of our competition analysis, and, at the request of the DOJ/FBI, we deferred action on the Applications.¹⁹⁷ The Executive Branch, after raising national security and law

¹⁹¹ See id. at Art. 8.19.

¹⁹² See id. at Art. 7.3. Article 7.3 reserves a right to object if, inter alia, there is a material increase in the authority of a foreign entity to exercise control of New GX or other material change in the circumstances associated with the proposed transaction. See id. at Art. 7.3. In addition, Article 7.2 reserves a right to object to the grant of applications or petitions of a domestic communications company for a license or other authorization under Title II or III of the Communications Act. See id. at Art. 7.2.

¹⁹³ See Letter from the President to the Speaker of the House of Representatives and the President of the Senate (dated Sept. 19, 2003), available on www.whitehouse.gov/news/releases/2003/09/20030919-4.html (visited Sept. 22, 2003).

¹⁹⁵ See 12 FCC Rcd at 23919, ¶ 62.

¹⁹⁶ See 12 FCC Rcd at 23920-21, ¶ 65.

¹⁹⁷ See, e.g., Policy Division Letter, supra note 184 (advising Applicants we would defer final review of the Applications until we received Executive Branch notification withdrawing the request to defer Commission action). XO and IDT argue that we should obtain public comment on the Executive Branch's national security and law enforcement findings before acting on the Applications. See XO Comments, supra note 53, at 2 (arguing for new 180-day clock or additional comment period); IDT Petition to Deny Third Amendment, supra note 49, at 31-35. We disagree. We have provided four sets of public comment periods in this proceeding, including a three-round comment period on the Third Amendment. See supra ¶¶ 9, 11, 12, and 13. It has not (continued....)

enforcement concerns, now has resolved these concerns through the negotiation of the New GX/Executive Branch Agreement. Therefore, on the record before us, we will not need to consider these particular concerns as a part of our own independent analysis of whether grant of the Applications is in the public interest.¹⁹⁸ We recognize that, separate from our licensing process, New GX has entered into the New GX/Executive Branch Agreement, and that the agreement expressly states that the Department of Justice, Federal Bureau of Investigation, Department of Defense, and Department of Homeland Security will not object to grant of the pending Applications, provided that the Commission conditions grant of the Applications on compliance with the New GX/Executive Branch Agreement.¹⁹⁹ The Executive Branch has not otherwise commented on this proceeding.

50. In addition, the resolution of the Executive Branch's concerns regarding national security and law enforcement addresses the concerns stated in the letters from Senator Dayton, Senators Burns and Hollings, and Congressman Weldon that the amended Applications might raise U.S. national security issues.²⁰⁰ Similarly, Executive Branch resolution of national security and law enforcement concerns also addresses the arguments of ACNI and IDT that the proposed foreign ownership of New GX could implicate national security issues.²⁰¹

51. We note that the New GX/Executive Branch Agreement contains certain provisions relevant to this transaction that, if broadly applied, would have significant consequences for the telecommunications industry. These provisions, if viewed as precedent for other service providers and potential investors, would warrant further inquiry on our part, and we will consider any subsequent been the Commission's policy or practice to seek public comment on the Executive Branch's national security and law enforcement determinations and XO and IDT fail to provide a compelling reason for doing so in this instance. See Foreign Participation Order, 12 FCC Rcd at 23920, ¶ 63 (Commission accords deference to Executive Branch on national security); see also Global Crossing Reply to XO Comments, supra note 14, at 3 ("XO fails to identify a single transaction in which the Commission has proceeded as XO suggests.").

²⁰¹ See ACNI Statement, supra note 39, at 17-20. ACNI contends that the DOJ/FBI Motion "clearly calls into question the ability of the Commission to rule favorably on any public interest test under Sections 214(a) and 310(d) of the Act." See id. at 18. IDT argues that the Commission should not approve the transaction before receiving Executive Branch findings regarding national security and comment of interested parties on those findings. See IDT Petition to Deny Third Amendment, supra note 49, at 31-35. We agree that it was correct to defer action in this proceeding until we received Executive Branch notification. We do not agree that yet another round of public comments is required. See supra note 197.

Furthermore, ACNI argues that installation of an oversight panel composed of U.S. citizens does not preclude the Commission from rejecting the transfer of control of the common carrier licenses. See ACNI Second Supplemental Letter at 2, citing Cellwave Telephone Services v. F.C.C., 30 F.3d 1533 (D.C. Cir. 1994) and Moving Phones Partnership v. F.C.C., 998 F.2d 1051 (D.C. Cir. 1993), cert. denied, 511 U.S. 1004. The cited cases involved partnership arrangements in a proposed licensee that the Commission found to violate alien ownership requirements of section 310(b)(3) of the Act. See Cellwave Telephone Services, 30 F.3d at 1534-35; Moving Phones Partnership, 998 F.2d at 1055. No such statutory violation exists here. See supra note 81 (section 310(b)(3) is inapplicable to the Applications).

agreements on a case-by-case basis. Notwithstanding these concerns about the broader implications of the New GX/Executive Branch Agreement, we see no reason to modify or disturb the agreement of the parties on these matters. Therefore, in accordance with the request of the DOJ/FBI, in the absence of any objection from the Applicants, and given the discussion above, we condition our grant of the Applications on compliance with the New GX/Executive Branch Agreement.²⁰²

G. Other Issues

1. ACNI

52. ACNI states that, as a reseller of telecommunications services in the United States and abroad, it would be adversely impacted by the proposed transaction.²⁰³ ACNI advises that Global Crossing, through its subsidiary GC Bandwidth, is an ACNI investor that owns all of ACNI's Series A convertible Preferred Stock.²⁰⁴ ACNI states that its stockholders' agreement reserves to ACNI a right of first refusal should GC Bandwidth seek to sell its interests in ACNI pursuant to a bona fide offer from a third party, but that Applicants have failed to offer the ACNI shares held by GC Bandwidth to ACNI.²⁰⁵ ACNI further states that this is "not a mere contractual dispute," but rather that its stockholder, carrier service, and security agreements with GC Bandwidth constrain ACNI's ability to compete freely in the marketplace, "thereby precluding the Commission's unqualified finding that the transfer proposed by Global Crossing is in the public interest."²⁰⁶ ACNI seeks a Commission ruling that ACNI's authorization to provide service will not be affected by grant of the Applications, and urges the Commission either to deny the Petition for Declaratory Ruling or to declare that the exercise, by Global Crossing or its successors, of "any of the powers and options granted Global Crossing in connection with its purchase of

²⁰² We note that the New GX/Executive Branch Agreement provides first for informal resolution of any disputes. See New GX/Executive Branch Agreement at Art. 4.1. If any of the parties to the New GX/Executive Branch Agreement determines that further negotiation would be fruitless, Article 4.1 authorizes the party to resort to the remedies of Article 4.2 to enforce the New GX/Executive Branch Agreement. See id. Article 4.2 includes the right of a party to bring action for appropriate judicial relief and expressly does not limit the right of a U.S. government agency, inter alia, to request the Commission to modify, condition, revoke, cancel or render null and void any license, permit, or other authorization granted or given by the Commission to a domestic communications company, or request the Commission to impose other appropriate sanction such as a forfeiture. See id. at Art. 4.2

²⁰³ See ACNI Statement, supra note 39, at 3.

²⁰⁴ See id. at 5. ACNI states that Series A is a voting stock that currently represents 10% of ACNI's voting shares, see id. at 7, and that GC Bandwidth holds one of nine ACNI board of director seats and has the right to designate one of three members of an audit committee of the board. See id. at 7-8. GC Bandwidth has the right to convert its preferred shares to common stock or debt. See id. at 8. A security agreement associated with the stock purchase agreement grants GC Bandwidth a security interest in the property of ACNI and its subsidiaries, and a carrier service agreement commits ACNI to purchasing capacity from Global Crossing. See id. The stock agreement also gives GC Bandwidth veto power over certain non-telecommunications business activities. See id.

²⁰⁶ See id. at 5-6; see also id. at 20 (alleging that "the disinclination of [Global Crossing] to honor the right of first refusal by [ACNI] may be read as a reflection of the Applicant's refusal to honor or recognize the contract laws of the United States").

preferred stock in ACNI, Inc., and transactions of this nature with other resellers,” is not in the public interest.²⁰⁷

53. Global Crossing replies that ACNI is using the proceeding in an attempt to exert pressure with respect to a dispute over unrelated contractual agreements, and contends that the Commission is not the proper venue for ACNI’s contractual claims.²⁰⁸ Global Crossing also contends that ACNI mischaracterizes the agreements between the parties, because, although ACNI has a right of first refusal if GC Bandwidth sells its holdings in ACNI, the proposed transaction will not result in the sale of the ACNI shares owned by GC Bandwidth and therefore will not trigger any right of first refusal.²⁰⁹ Finally, Global Crossing agrees that approval of the proposed transaction will not affect the authorization previously granted to ACNI.²¹⁰

54. This proceeding is not the proper forum for interpreting the commercial contracts between Global Crossing and ACNI.²¹¹ We also clarify, as requested by ACNI and supported by Global Crossing, that grant of the instant Applications does not purport to affect ACNI’s international section 214 authorization.²¹² In all other respects, we deny the relief ACNI requests. In this regard, we deny ACNI’s suggestion that we inquire further into the proceedings conducted by the U.S. bankruptcy court and CFIUS, as well as the alternative suggestion that we dismiss the Applications for failure to meet section 1.65 or 1.747 of the Commission’s rules.²¹³ We find without merit ACNI’s arguments against the First

²⁰⁷ See id. at 3, 21-24; see also ACNI Objections to Third Amendment, supra note 50, at 9-10 (arguing that Commission should qualify any declaratory ruling to prohibit Global Crossing from exercising any of the powers or options).

²⁰⁸ See Global Crossing Further Reply to ACNI, supra note 47, at 1-2.

²⁰⁹ See id. at 2.

²¹⁰ See id. at 4.

²¹² See ACN Communication Services, Inc., International Telecommunications Certificate, File No. ITC-214-20000203-00052, Public Notice, International Authorizations Granted, Report No. TEL-00194, DA 00-483, 15 FCC Rcd 4659, 4660 (Int’l Bur. 2000) (ACNI’s international section 214 authorization). We do not grant ACNI’s request that we broaden our clarification to include “any similarly situated carriers’ certificates,” see ACNI Statement, supra note 39, at 3 and ACNI Objections to Third Amendment, supra note 50, at 9-10, as the record does not include information about any such additional carriers, nor do we reach the question of whether any such carriers are “estopped on the merits in respect of any future transfer of their certificates,” see id., for the same reason.

²¹³ See ACNI Letter, supra note 46, at 1-2, 7; 47 C.F.R. §§ 1.65 (requiring applicants to furnish additional or corrected information in a timely fashion), 1.747 (disallowing inconsistent or conflicting applications); see also Global Crossing Reply to ACNI Letter, supra note 46, at 1 (“Applicants reaffirm that there have been no material changes to the information provided in the Application except as previously disclosed by Applicants.”).

Amendment filed by the Applicants.²¹⁴ Further, we find without merit ACNI's argument that the Second Amendment filed by Applicants, now moot, was a major amendment requiring additional notice and comment.²¹⁵ Additionally, we find no merit in ACNI's argument that Applicants are in violation of the Anti-Drug Abuse Act.²¹⁶

²¹⁴ ACNI seems to construe the First Amendment, involving the Submarine Cable Application and Section 214 Application, as somehow also involving Title III questions. See ACNI Further Comments, supra note 46, at 9-10, 12-15. ACNI also seems to suggest that, merely because the Commission sought further information from Applicants in a series of letters in this proceeding, Applicants failed to fully disclose, misrepresented, or deliberately concealed information. See id. at 11-12. Further, by focusing on Hutchison Telecommunications Ltd. and its major shareholder Hutchison Whampoa Ltd., see id. at 15-18, instead of commenting on the Indosat transaction described in the First Amendment, ACNI's comments are not responsive to the Commission's February 20, 2003 public notice. See also Global Crossing Further Reply to ACNI, supra note 47, at 1-2 (arguing Commission should reject ACNI Further Comments because they fail to raise any issue related to the affiliations placed on public notice). Finally, ACNI argues, with respect to each of Applicants' Anti-Drug Abuse Act certifications, that ACNI "would have difficulty in acknowledging its veracity" because Applicants cannot "certify under section 5301 that no officer or five percent (5%) owner is in violation of the Anti-Drug Abuse Act of 1988." See ACNI Further Comments at 20; see also infra note 216. In effect, the ACNI Further Comments are an untimely petition to deny the underlying Applications, unaccompanied by a motion to accept a late-filed pleading. See 47 C.F.R. §§ 1.45, 1.46. Although we have read and considered the ACNI Further Comments, we find nothing in the pleading that furthers our analysis of this transaction.

²¹⁶ See ACNI Further Comments, supra note 46, at 20 (alleging that any certification as to the investment by Hutchison Telecommunications Ltd., now moot, would be insufficient); see also ACNI Second Supplemental Letter at 3 (arguing Applicants must certify compliance by Hutchison Whampoa Ltd. directors); ACNI Objections to Third Amendment, supra note 50, at 7-8 (arguing that Applicants have not certified that all officers, directors and persons holding 5% or more of stock are eligible); Letter from William Malone, Gerard Lavery Lederer, and James R. Hobson, Counsel for ACNI, to Secretary, Federal Communications Commission (filed July 2, 2003) ("ACNI Fifth Supplemental Letter"), at 1 (arguing that Applicants must identify every individual subject to certification). We note that Applicants have filed anti-drug abuse statements. See Section 214 Application, supra note 1, at 10; Submarine Cable Application, supra note 1, at 9; Radio License Application, supra note 1, at Form 603; Third Amendment, supra note 1, at Attachment H (providing certifications from Global Crossing, New GX, and ST Telemedia and advising that no Creditor Shareholder will hold a 5% or greater interest in New GX); Fourth Amendment, supra note 1, at Form 603, Assignee/Transferee Certification Statements; see also Global Crossing Further Reply to ACNI, supra note 47, at 1-4 (stating that Applicants have provided anti-drug abuse certifications). Moreover, we disagree with ACNI that the anti-drug abuse certifications are deficient because they do not identify specifically each officer and director of New GX and the Singapore companies that would control New GX. See ACNI Fifth Supplemental Letter at 1 (arguing that the Commission is treating U.S. and foreign applicants differently). Applicants' certifications are consistent with those provided by both U.S. and foreign applicants seeking to transfer control of the kinds of authorizations and licenses at issue in this proceeding. See also Global Crossing Opposition to Petitions to Deny Third Amendment, supra note 52, at 2 n.5 (stating that the certifications "are consistent with the certifications submitted in similar proceedings and routinely accepted by the Commission in both paper and electronic filings"). Finally, it appears from the service list attached to the ACNI Fifth Supplemental Letter that ACNI did not serve all of the parties. See supra note 41.

2. Pending Applications

55. Applicants request that the transfer of control of the wireless licensees include authority for New GX, upon consummation of the proposed transaction, to control the following authorizations and filings: (1) authorizations issued to GCNAN and EAN subsequent to the filing of the Applications but prior to consummation of the proposed transfers; (2) licenses held by GCNAN and EAN for facilities that have been constructed and are operational by the time the transfer is consummated and that may have been omitted from the Applications; and (3) applications, notifications of minor modifications, and amendments thereto filed by GCNAN and EAN and pending at the time of consummation of the transfers.²¹⁷ We conclude that any authorizations issued during the pendency of this proceeding or filed after the Applications and still pending at the time of the release of this Order and Authorization, any licenses that have been constructed and are operational by the time the transfer is consummated, and any applications, notifications of minor modifications, and amendments thereto pending at the time of consummation should be deemed to be covered by this Order and Authorization to the extent that they are listed in Appendix B. Consistent with section 1.65 of the Commission's rules, Applicants should amend any current pending applications to reflect the transactions approved by this Order and Authorization.²¹⁸

IV. CONCLUSION

56. Based on the foregoing findings, we conclude, pursuant to section 310(b)(4) of the Act and Commission's precedent for indirect investment by WTO Members in U.S. common carrier licensees, that it would not serve the public interest to prohibit the proposed indirect foreign ownership, by and through New GX, of GCNAN and EAN, the Title III licensees. Specifically, this ruling permits GCNAN and EAN to be owned indirectly by: New GX (through GC Holdings) (up to and including 100 percent of the equity and voting interests); ST Telemedia (through STT Communication Limited and STT Crossing Ltd.) and ST Telemedia's Singapore shareholders, including Singapore Technologies, Temasek, and the Government of Singapore (up to and including 61.5 percent of the equity and voting interests); and various WTO Member Creditor Shareholders, each of which is permitted to hold a less-than-ten-percent equity and/or voting interest as finally determined under the plan of reorganization (up to and including an aggregate 38.5 percent of the equity and voting interests). In addition to these approved interests, New GX may accept up to and including an aggregate 25 percent indirect equity and/or voting interest from the WTO Member Creditor Shareholders, and from other foreign investors, without seeking prior Commission approval under section 310(b)(4), subject to the following conditions: (1) GCNAN and EAN shall obtain prior approval before any foreign individual or entity other than New GX (through GC Holdings), ST Telemedia (through STT Communication Limited and STT Crossing Ltd.), Singapore Technologies, Temasek, or the Government of Singapore acquires individually a greater-than-25-percent indirect equity and/or voting interest in GCNAN or EAN; and (2) GCNAN and EAN shall seek approval under section 310(b)(4) before they accept any additional indirect investment, other than that approved here, from ST Telemedia, Singapore Technologies, Temasek and the Government of Singapore. We emphasize that, as Commission licensees, GCNAN and EAN have an affirmative duty to continue to monitor attributable foreign equity and voting interests and to calculate attributable interests consistent with the attribution principles enunciated by the Commission.

²¹⁷ See Radio License Application, supra note 1, at Form 603, Exhibit C. Applicants have provided updated information on this request. See February 6 Letter, supra note 62, at 11. See also August 18 Letter, supra note 62, at 2.

²¹⁸ 47 C.F.R. § 1.65.

57. We also conclude, pursuant to sections 214(a) and 310(d) of the Act, and section 2 of the Cable Landing License Act, that the transfers of control are not likely to result in harm to competition in any relevant markets and likely will result in public interest benefits. The amended reorganization plan, approved by the bankruptcy court, will allow the FCC-Licensed Subsidiaries to remain as valuable competitors and providers of telecommunications services. We determine that the agreement between the Applicants and the Executive Branch addresses any national security and law enforcement concerns related to foreign investment in the transferee.

58. Accordingly, we approve the requested transfer of the international section 214 authorizations, domestic section 214 authority, common carrier and non-common carrier wireless licenses, and submarine cable landing licenses listed in Appendix B, subject to the requirements and conditions specified in this Order and Authorization.

V. ORDERING CLAUSES

59. Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED that, pursuant to sections 4(i) and (j), 214(a), 309, and 310(d) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, 47 U.S.C. §§ 154(i) and 154(j), 214(a), 309, and 310(d), and section 2 of the Cable Landing License Act, 47 U.S.C. § 35, and Executive Order 10530, the Section 214 Application, Submarine Cable Application, and Radio License Application, as amended by the First Amendment, Third Amendment and Fourth Amendment filed by the Applicants in the above-captioned proceeding to transfer control of various licenses and authorizations listed in Appendix B to this Order and Authorization, ARE GRANTED to the extent specified in this Order and Authorization.

60. IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that, pursuant to section 310(b)(4) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, 47 U.S.C. § 310(b)(4), the Petition for Declaratory Ruling IS GRANTED to the extent specified in paragraph 35 of this Order and Authorization.

61. IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that, pursuant to sections 4(i) and (j), 214(a) and (c), 309 and 310(b) and (d) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, 47 U.S.C. §§ 154(i) and 154(j), 214(a), (c), 309, and 310(b), (d), and section 2 of the Cable Landing License Act, 47 U.S.C. § 35, the Petition to Adopt Conditions to Authorizations and Licenses filed by the DOJ/FBI on September 26, 2003, IS GRANTED, and the declaratory ruling, authorizations and licenses granted herein are SUBJECT TO COMPLIANCE WITH the provisions of the New GX/Executive Branch Agreement attached hereto between Global Crossing, New GX and ST Telemedia on the one hand and the Department of Justice, Federal Bureau of Investigation, Department of Defense and Department of Homeland Security on the other, dated September 24, 2003, effective on the date when the transfers have closed, which New GX/Executive Branch Agreement is designed to address national security, law enforcement, and public safety issues of the Department of Justice, Federal Bureau of Investigation, Department of Defense and Department of Homeland Security regarding the authority granted herein. Nothing in the New GX/Executive Branch Agreement is intended to limit any obligation imposed by Federal law or regulation including, but not limited to, section 222(a) and (c)(1) of the Communications Act, 47 U.S.C. § 222(a) and (c)(1), and the Commission's implementing regulations.

62. IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that, pursuant to section 214 of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, 47 U.S.C. § 214, and section 63.10 of the Commission's rules, 47 C.F.R. § 63.10, the International 214 Subsidiaries SHALL BE CLASSIFIED as dominant international carriers in their provision of services on the U.S.-Singapore and U.S.-Indonesia routes, and SHALL FILE the reports required by section 43.61(c), 47 C.F.R. § 43.61(c), as applicable.

63. IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that, pursuant to section 214 of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, 47 U.S.C. § 214, section 2 of the Cable Landing License Act, 47 U.S.C. § 35, and sections 63.24(e)(2), 63.18(h), 63.09(g), and 1.767(a)(8) and (11) of the Commission's rules, 47 C.F.R. § 63.24(e)(2), 63.18(h), 63.09(g), 1.767(a)(8), (11), New GX SHALL FILE an updated interlocking directorate certification with the Commission within five business days after appointment of its board of directors and the boards of the International 214 Subsidiaries and Submarine Cable Subsidiaries or within five business days of the release of this Order and Authorization, whichever occurs later.

64. IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that File No. SCL-T/C-20020822-00070, to transfer control of interests held by Global Crossing Telecommunications in the JUS cable landing license, IS DISMISSED AS MOOT for the reason stated herein at note 155.

65. IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that ACNI's motion to extend the deadline to file replies IS DENIED in all respects for the reasons stated herein at paragraph 10.

66. IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that the Gehman Letter and Newbridge Capital's pleadings ARE DISMISSED with prejudice for the reason stated herein at paragraph 10.

67. IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that the petitions to deny the transfers of control and oppositions to the petition for declaratory ruling, as amended, filed by CWA, ACNI, IDT, and XO ARE DENIED in all respects.

68. IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that, pursuant to section 1.65 of the Commission's rules, 47 C.F.R. § 1.65, the Applicants are afforded 30 days from the date of release of this Order and Authorization to amend all pending applications in connection with the instant Applications to reflect the transfer of control approved in this Order and Authorization.

69. This Order and Authorization is issued pursuant to authority delegated by sections 0.261, 0.291, and 0.331, 47 C.F.R. §§ 0.261, 0.291, 0.331, and is effective upon release. Petitions for reconsideration under section 1.106 or applications for review under section 1.115 of the Commission's rules, 47 C.F.R. §§ 1.106, 1.115, may be filed within 30 days of the date of the release of this Order and Authorization. See 47 C.F.R. § 1.4(b)(2).

²²¹ Assignment/transfer of control to GC Pacific Landing of interests in cable landing licenses previously granted to various entities. The underlying file numbers for the referenced cables are, respectively, SCL-95-013, SCL-95-005, SCL-95-006, SCL-95-004, SCL-94-003, SCL-95-010, and SCL-95-011.

²²² On August 20, 2002, Global Crossing filed an application for the pro forma assignment of WPRT617, a private land mobile license held in its name, to GCNAN. See ULS File No. 0001002830. This transaction was approved by the Commission on September 3, 2002, and was consummated on September 4, 2002. ULS File No. 0001001014 was amended on September 6, 2002, to include WPRT617. On January 16, 2003, GCNAN filed an application to cancel WLT711, effective upon filing, and updated Form 603 accordingly. See February 6 Letter, supra note 62, at 11.

²²³ On June 17, 2003, EAN filed a Form 603 requesting the transfer of control of EAN to Global Crossing. See ULS File No. 0001351238. On June 18, 2003, EAN filed a Form 601 requesting Special Temporary Authority (“STA”) for that transaction. See ULS File No. 0001352905. The Wireless Telecommunications Bureau granted the STA on June 24, 2003, and EAN filed Form 603 requesting the pro forma assignment of its common carrier radio licenses to EAN as debtor-in-possession. See ULS File No. 0001359746. On June 26, 2003, the Wireless Telecommunications Bureau granted the assignment, which was consummated on June 27, 2003. See Fourth Amendment, supra note 1, at 2 n.2.
