DOMESTIC SECTION 214 APPLICATION FILED FOR TRANSFER OF CONTROL OF BIRCH TELECOM, INC. TO IONEX TELECOMMUNICATIONS, INC.

STREAMLINED PLEADING CYCLE ESTABLISHED

WC Docket No. 03-39

On February 4, 2003, Ionex Telecommunications, Inc. (“Ionex”) and Birch Telecom, Inc. (“Birch”) and its shareholders (collectively, the “Applicants”), filed an application, pursuant to section 63.04 of the Commission’s rules,¹ for consent to the transfer of control of Birch, and its operating subsidiaries holding blanket section 214 authorizations to provide domestic telecommunications service, from the existing shareholders of Birch to Ionex.²

Applicants assert that this transaction is entitled to presumptive streamlined treatment pursuant to section 63.03(b)(2)(i) of the Commission’s rules because (1) the proposed transaction will result in Ionex having a market share in the interstate, interexchange market of less than 10 percent; (2) Ionex will provide competitive telephone exchange services or exchange access services (if at all) exclusively in geographic areas served by a dominant LEC that is not a party to the transaction; and (3) neither Birch nor Ionex is dominant with respect to any service.

In addition to holding their respective section 214 authorizations to provide domestic interstate telecommunications service, Birch’s operating subsidiaries collectively are authorized to provide, and currently provide, intrastate telecommunications services in the following states: Texas, Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, Ohio, Wisconsin, Kansas, Missouri, Oklahoma, Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Kentucky, Louisiana, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina, and Tennessee. Through its operating subsidiaries, Birch provides bundled local and long distance services, calling card services, toll free numbers, dial-up Internet access (using ISDN, DSL, T1 and/or other high-speed facilities), Web hosting, integrated voice and data transmission services, and telephone equipment sales and services, primarily to small and medium-sized business customers located in the Midwest and Southeastern United States. Birch currently has 371,000 lines in service. Through its subsidiaries, Ionex currently provides facilities-based telecommunications services, including local and long distance telephone service, enhanced voice services and high-speed data services, to more than 60,00 small and medium-sized business customers, located primarily in Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, Missouri, Minnesota, South Dakota, Colorado, and Iowa.

Any action on this domestic application is without prejudice to Commission action on other related pending applications.

The proposed transfer of control will be effected by the merger of Birch with a special purpose subsidiary of Ionex, whereby Birch will be the surviving entity and will become a wholly owned, direct subsidiary of Ionex. Birch will continue to own and control each of its existing subsidiaries. Ionex will issue new shares of its own stock to the diffuse group of current shareholders of Birch, pro rata, so that they will hold approximately 18 to 26.4 percent of the total outstanding stock of Ionex; however, none of those shareholders individually will hold a 10 percent or greater equity interest in Ionex. An integral part of the transaction is a multimillion dollar additional investment by the current shareholders of Ionex.

Applicants state that the proposed transaction is in the public interest because it will allow Birch and Ionex to take advantage of greater economies of scale and Birch will have access to additional capital from a well-financed parent, Ionex.³ Applicants contend that the proposed transaction will thus allow them to continue to provide customers the benefits of competition. Specifically, Applicants state that the proposed transaction will facilitate the ability of Birch and Ionex, through their operating subsidiaries, to compete more effectively against the incumbent telecommunications carriers in their service areas, and thereby will enhance long term consumer choice throughout the United States. Applicants state that they will benefit from the significant inflow of capital that will result from the transaction, and Birch's management team will add a depth of experience to Ionex's current operations, which, post-transaction, will further facilitate the success of both Birch and Ionex. Finally, Applicants state that Birch will continue to serve its present customers and the transaction will be transparent to them.
