Wireless Telecommunications Bureau Seeks Comment on Verizon Wireless Petition for Waiver of Part 64 Priority Access Service Rule

WT Docket No. 05-212

Comment Date: June 24, 2005

In 2000, the Commission authorized Commercial Mobile Radio Service (CMRS) providers to offer priority access service (PAS) in accordance with the policies and procedures (uniform protocols) set forth in Appendix B to Part 64 of the Commission's Rules.¹ These uniform protocols require CMRS providers that elect to offer PAS to make available five priority levels² for National Security and Emergency Preparedness (NSEP) users.³ However, in a request for waiver of these protocols, Verizon Wireless asserts that the network equipment and software currently used with Code Division Multiple Access (CDMA) wireless systems are not currently capable of delivering PAS⁴ with the five priorities required under the Commission's rules.⁵

In the PAS R&O, the Commission concluded that the National Communications System (NCS)⁶ would have responsibility for the day-to-day administration of PAS, with oversight responsibilities residing ² Id. at 16722 ¶ 4; 47 C.F.R. § 64.402 Appendix B. The five PAS priority levels in order of priority are 1) Executive Leadership and Policy Makers; 2) Disaster Response/Military Command and Control; 3) Public Health, Safety and Law Enforcement Command; 4) Public Services/Utilities and Public Welfare; and 5) Disaster Recovery. 47 C.F.R. § 64.402 Appendix B, Section 5.

with the Commission.⁷ Verizon Wireless states that it has been working with the NCS to provide a PAS capability that will meet the Department of Homeland Security's needs for providing priority access to NSEP users.⁸ In order to provide PAS capability promptly, Verizon Wireless on May 13, 2005, requested a waiver of Section 64.402 of the Commission's Rules⁹ to allow it to develop CDMA PAS capability in two phases: It proposes that the first phase PAS implementation would have a single priority level for all NSEP users,¹⁰ and that the second phase would provide the required five PAS priority levels.¹¹ Verizon Wireless believes it can deploy the second phase by early 2007.¹² Both the NCS and the Department of Defense (DoD) have filed statements in support of the Verizon Wireless waiver request.¹³

Section 1.925 of the Commission's Rules¹⁴ provides that a waiver of the Commission's Rules may be granted if it is shown that the underlying purpose of the rule(s) would not be served or would be frustrated by application to the instant case, and that a grant of the requested waiver would be in the public interest; or in view of the unique or unusual circumstances of the instant case, application of the rule(s) would be inequitable, unduly burdensome or contrary to the public interest or in the applicant has no reasonable alternative.

Requests for waiver of the Commission's Rules are subject, unless otherwise provided, to treatment by the Commission as restricted proceedings for ex parte purposes under Section 1.1208 of the Commission's Rules.¹⁵ However, because Verizon Wireless' request implicates important public safety and Homeland Security considerations, we believe it would be in the public interest to treat the waiver request as a permit-but-disclose proceeding as allowed by the Commission's ex parte rules.¹⁶ Therefore, ex parte presentations provides guidance and assistance to the President, the National Security Council, the Homeland Security Council, the Director of the Office of Science and Technology Policy, and the Director of the Office of Management and Budget concerning the coordination of, planning for, and provision of NS/EP telecommunications for the Federal government under all circumstances, including crisis or emergency, attack, recovery, and reconstitution. Id. at 1-2.

Verizon Wireless further asserts that NCS, Computer Science Corporation (NCS's service integrator), Verizon Wireless and equipment vendors have agreed that CDMA PAS deployment should occur in two phases. Id.; see also NCS Statement of Support at 6 (permitting the two-phased deployment would substantially accelerate the availability of PAS for key emergency responders in heavily-populated northeastern portion of the United States).
