PROTECTIVE ORDER

Adopted: February 7, 2005

Released: February 7, 2005

By the Chief, Pricing Policy Division:

1. On January 28, 2005, the Verizon Telephone Companies (Verizon) filed a petition¹ seeking pricing flexibility² for special access end user channel termination services located in the Dallas-Fort Worth, Texas Metropolitan Statistical Area (MSA) pursuant to sections 1.774 and 69.701 et seq. of the Commission's rules.³ In support of its petition for pricing flexibility, Verizon filed two categories of information for which it seeks confidential treatment:⁴ (1) data showing the identity of specific service providers and where they have collocated their facilities in Verizon wire centers,⁵ and (2) data on Verizon's special access revenues earned in the subject MSA.⁶ Today, we authorize examination of the revenue data listed in the second category

² In the Pricing Flexibility Order, the Commission adopted a framework for granting relief from its price cap and tariff rules to price cap local exchange carriers (LECs) that can demonstrate that competitive entry into a particular market is sufficient to warrant relaxation of such rules governing interstate access services. See Access Charge Reform, CC Docket No. 96-262, Fifth Report and Order, 14 FCC Rcd 14221 (1999) (Pricing Flexibility Order), aff'd, WorldCom v. FCC, 238 F.3d 449 (D.C. Cir. 2001). To make such a showing, a price cap LEC may submit information concerning collocation, wire-center revenue data, and wire-center line count information. See 47 C.F.R. § 69.701 et seq.

for which confidential treatment has been sought, subject to compliance with this Protective Order. For the reasons discussed below, however, this Order does not authorize public inspection of certain collocation data listed in the first category.

2. Collocation Data. Verizon argues that information concerning the identity of specific service providers that have collocated their facilities in Verizon wire centers represents confidential carrier information that is known to Verizon by virtue of its provision of collocation services.⁷ In the Pricing Flexibility Order, the Commission required a price cap LEC: (1) to provide to each party upon which the price cap LEC relies in its pricing flexibility petition any information contained in the petition about that party's collocation arrangements, even if the price cap LEC has sought confidential treatment of that information; (2) to certify in its petition that it has done so; and (3) to provide to the Commission a copy of the information it provides to those parties.⁸ Verizon has certified that it has provided the required information to each collocating party identified in its Petition.⁹ Because the individual collocators upon which Verizon relies can verify or dispute the accuracy of the collocation information by virtue of these safeguards, we do not provide for public inspection of the collocation data pursuant to this Protective Order.

3. Revenue Data. Verizon argues that disclosure of revenue data included in its petition would provide Verizon's competitors valuable market information that would enable competitors to identify Verizon's most lucrative markets within its serving area and to target their business planning efforts accordingly.¹⁰ Therefore, Verizon seeks confidential treatment of its revenue data.

4. Pending a final determination on the issue of confidentiality, this revenue information will be made available for inspection subject to this Protective Order. This Protective Order should facilitate the orderly exchange of relevant information. We, therefore, adopt this Protective Order to ensure that the documents considered confidential or proprietary by Verizon are accorded the necessary protection.¹¹

5. Subject to compliance with this Protective Order, Authorized Representatives may inspect the data specified above for which Verizon has requested confidential treatment in this proceeding by contacting the following Verizon representative:

Reviewing Parties, by viewing these materials: (a) agree not to assert any such waiver; (b) agree not to use material derived from any Confidential Information to seek disclosure in any other proceeding; and (c) agree that accidental disclosure of Confidential Information shall not be deemed a waiver of any privilege.
