WIRELESS TELECOMMUNICATIONS BUREAU ANNOUNCES FORUM:
AUGMENTING MOBILE BROADBAND IN YOUR COMMUNITY – AN OVERVIEW OF DISTRIBUTED ANTENNA SYSTEMS AND SMALL CELL SOLUTIONS

The FCC Wireless Telecommunications Bureau, in cooperation with the National Association of Telecommunications Officers and Advisors (NATOA), will present an informational forum on distributed antenna systems (DAS) and small cell solutions on Wednesday, February 1, 2012, in the Commission Meeting Room at FCC Headquarters in Washington, DC. The event will begin at 9:30 AM.

The forum will provide an overview of DAS and small cell technologies that augment mobile broadband and wireless services. The forum will discuss uses of these technologies in both outdoor and indoor public spaces, including hospitals, business and historical districts, campuses, and transit systems. Panelists will explore DAS and small cell equipment needs and business models, how these solutions benefit communities by expanding mobile broadband and wireless data coverage, and case studies in successful deployment.
