NOTICE OF APPARENT LIABILITY FOR FORFEITURE

Adopted: September 10, 2013

Released: September 11, 2013

By the Resident Agent, Anchorage Resident Agent Office, Western Region, Enforcement Bureau:

I. INTRODUCTION

1. In this Notice of Apparent Liability for Forfeiture (NAL), we find that General Communication, Inc., d/b/a GCI Communication Corp. (GCI), registrant of antenna structure number 1265246 (the Antenna Structure), located near Fairbanks, Alaska, apparently willfully and repeatedly violated Section 303(q) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended (Act),¹ and Sections 17.47, 17.48, and 17.51(b) of the Commission's rules (Rules),² by failing to (1) monitor obstruction lighting on a daily basis or maintain a functioning alarm system, (2) exhibit required daytime medium intensity obstruction lighting, and (3) notify the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) of a known lighting outage. We conclude that GCI is apparently liable for a forfeiture in the amount of twenty thousand dollars ($20,000).

II. BACKGROUND

2. The Antenna Structure is 55.8 meters in overall height above ground level and is required to be lighted.³ Specifically, the Antenna Structure is required to have dual lighting, i.e., red lights at nighttime and medium intensity flashing white lights during the daytime and at twilight.

3. On September 12 and September 13, 2012, an agent from the Enforcement Bureau's Anchorage Office (Anchorage Office) observed that the Antenna Structure was unlit during daytime hours. The agent contacted the FAA and learned that no Notice to Airmen (NOTAM) had been issued for the Antenna Structure.⁴ Later on September 13, 2012, the agent contacted GCI personnel and advised them of the light outage and the issuance of the NOTAM.⁵

³ See Antenna Structure Registration database for antenna structure number 1265246. See also 47 C.F.R. § 17.23 (antenna structures requiring notice to the FAA must comply with the FAA's painting and lighting recommendations). The relevant FAA recommendations for the Antenna Structure include Chapters 4, 8, and 12 of FAA Circular Number 70/7460-1K. Chapter 8 requires a dual lighting system, red lighting for nighttime, and flashing white lights for daytime operations. Chapter 8 also allows the omission of other types of marking when medium intensity white lights are operated on structures 153 meters above ground level or less during daytime or twilight.

4. On November 1, 2012, the Anchorage Office issued a Notice of Violation (NOV) to GCI concerning the extinguished light and failure to notify the FAA and initiate a NOTAM.⁶ In the NOV Response,⁷ GCI acknowledged the violation and determined that the light outage was caused by a failing capacitor on the control board which it replaced on October 30, 2012.⁸ GCI also stated that they installed and tested a remote monitoring and alarm system for the Antenna Structure.⁹

III. DISCUSSION

5. Section 503(b) of the Act provides that any person who willfully or repeatedly fails to comply substantially with the terms and conditions of any license, or willfully or repeatedly fails to comply with any of the provisions of the Act or of any rule, regulation, or order issued by the Commission thereunder, shall be liable for a forfeiture penalty.¹⁰ Section 312(f)(1) of the Act defines “willful” as the “conscious and deliberate commission or omission of [any] act, irrespective of any intent to violate” the law.¹¹ The legislative history to Section 312(f)(1) of the Act clarifies that this definition of willful applies to both Sections 312 and 503(b) of the Act,¹² and the Commission has so interpreted the term in the Section 503(b) context.¹³ The Commission may also assess a forfeiture for violations that are merely repeated, and not willful.¹⁴ The term “repeated” means the commission or omission of such act more than once or for more than one day.¹⁵

⁴ See 47 C.F.R. § 17.48 (requiring antenna structure owners to notify the FAA immediately of any known outages of tower lighting lasting more than 30 minutes). The agent informed the FAA of the lighting outage and the FAA issued a NOTAM for the Antenna Structure on September 13, 2012.

⁵ The agent also monitored the structure at nighttime and observed that the red obstruction lighting was functioning properly.

No. 97-765, 97th Cong. 2d Sess. 51 (1982) (“This provision [inserted in Section 312] defines the terms ‘willful’ and ‘repeated’ for purposes of section 312, and for any other relevant section of the act (e.g., Section 503) As defined[,] . . . ‘willful’ means that the licensee knew that he was doing the act in question, regardless of whether there was an intent to violate the law. ‘Repeated’ means more than once, or where the act is continuous, for more than one day. Whether an act is considered to be ‘continuous’ would depend upon the circumstances in each case. The definitions are intended primarily to clarify the language in Sections 312 and 503, and are consistent with the Commission’s application of those terms”).

¹⁵ Section 312(f)(2) of the Act, 47 U.S.C. § 312(f)(2), which also applies to violations for which forfeitures are assessed under Section 503(b) of the Act, provides that “[t]he term ‘repeated’, when used with reference to the commission or omission of any act, means the commission or omission of such act more than once or, if such

A. Failure to Exhibit Required Obstruction Lighting on the Antenna Structure, Failure to Monitor Antenna Structure Lighting, and Failure to Notify the FAA

6. The evidence in this case is sufficient to establish that GCI violated Section 303(q) of the Act and Sections 17.47, 17.48, and 17.51(b) of the Rules. Section 303(q) of the Act states that antenna structure owners shall maintain the painting and lighting of antenna structures as prescribed by the Commission.¹⁶ Section 17.47(a) of the Rules requires antenna structure owners to observe the lights on antenna structures visually once every 24 hours or alternatively to install and properly maintain an automatic alarm system designed to detect any failure of such lights and to provide indication of such failure to the owner.¹⁷ Section 17.47(b) of the Rules also requires owners employing automatic alarm systems to “inspect at intervals not to exceed 3 months . . . all . . . alarm systems associated with the antenna structure lighting to insure that such apparatus is functioning properly.”¹⁸ Section 17.48(a) of the Rules states that owners of antenna structures “shall report immediately by telephone or telegraph to the nearest Flight Service Station or office of the Federal Aviation Administration any observed or otherwise known extinguishment or improper functioning of any top steady burning light or any flashing obstruction light, regardless of its position on the antenna structure, not corrected within 30 minutes”¹⁹ Section 17.51(b) of the Rules requires all high intensity and medium intensity obstruction lighting to be exhibited continuously unless otherwise specified.²⁰

7. The Antenna Structure is 55.8 meters above ground in overall height and is required to be lighted with medium intensity flashing white lights during the daytime and at twilight, and with red lighting at nighttime.²¹ On September 12 and September 13, 2012, an agent from the Anchorage Office observed that the Antenna Structure was not lighted during daylight hours, and determined that GCI had failed to notify the FAA of the outage. As discussed above, GCI acknowledged that the medium intensity flashing white lights were extinguished during the day and that the lighting system was repaired on October 30, 2012. GCI did not appear to have a functioning monitoring system in place at the time of the agent’s inspection, and subsequently installed and tested a remote monitoring and alarm system for the Antenna Structure. Therefore, based on the evidence before us, we find that GCI apparently willfully and repeatedly violated Section 303(q) of the Act and Sections 17.47, 17.48, and 17.51(b) of the Rules by failing to monitor the lighting on the Antenna Structure or maintain a properly functioning automatic alarm system, failing to exhibit required daytime medium intensity obstruction lighting on the Antenna Structure, and failing to notify the FAA of the outage.

B. Proposed Forfeiture Amount

8. Pursuant to the Commission’s Forfeiture Policy Statement and Section 1.80 of the Rules, the base forfeiture amount for failing to comply with prescribed lighting and monitoring requirements, and commission or omission is continuous, for more than one day.” See Callais Cablevision, Inc., 16 FCC Rcd at 1362, para. 9.

notification of extinguished lights is $10,000.²² In assessing the monetary forfeiture amount, we must also take into account the statutory factors set forth in Section 503(b)(2)(E) of the Act, which include the nature, circumstances, extent, and gravity of the violations, and with respect to the violator, the degree of culpability, any history of prior offenses, ability to pay, and other such matters as justice may require.²³

9. Given the totality of the circumstances, and consistent with the Forfeiture Policy Statement, we conclude that an upward adjustment of the base forfeiture is warranted. GCI, a Tier III carrier, is a publicly-held corporation serving most of Alaska, with annual revenues in the hundreds of millions of dollars.²⁴ To ensure that forfeiture liability is a deterrent and not simply a cost of doing business, the Commission has determined that large companies such as GCI should expect the assessment of higher forfeitures for violations.²⁵ Applying the Forfeiture Policy Statement, Section 1.80 of the Rules, and the statutory factors to the instant case, we therefore conclude that GCI is apparently liable for a total forfeiture in the amount of $20,000.

IV. ORDERING CLAUSES
