ORDER

Adopted: October 3, 2014

Released: October 3, 2014

Challenges Due: November 3, 2014

Responses Due: December 2, 2014

By the Deputy Chief, Wireline Competition Bureau:

1. In this Order, we address several universal service issues associated with the pending acquisition by Consolidated Communications Holdings, Inc. (Consolidated) of Enventis Corporation (Enventis).¹ Pursuant to the Commission's high-cost universal service rules, rate-of-return affiliates of price cap carriers receive support through Connect America Phase I and Phase II.² Consolidated is a holding company that owns price cap local exchange carriers. Enventis is a holding company that owns three rate-of-return local exchange carriers. If, as proposed, Consolidated acquires Enventis and its three rate-of-return local exchange carriers, those local exchange carriers will become rate-of-return affiliates of a price cap carrier. Accordingly, those study areas will be subject to Connect America Phase I and Phase II and will no longer participate in high-cost universal service mechanisms for rate-of-return carriers.

2. Below, we provide guidance regarding this transition. Specifically, we (a) confirm that the Enventis study areas will receive Connect America Phase I frozen high-cost support based on 2011 support, (b) require Consolidated to file with the Universal Service Administrative Company (USAC) a revision of the data filed to establish its Eligible Recovery amounts under the Commission's intercarrier compensation rules, (c) rebase the high-cost loop support (HCLS) cap to reflect the removal of Enventis's study areas from the HCLS mechanism, and (d) establish a challenge process to determine the eligibility of census blocks currently served by Enventis for Connect America Phase II support.

3. Connect America Phase I Frozen High-Cost Support. The Commission's rules state that a rate-of-return affiliate of a price cap carrier receives Connect America Phase I frozen high-cost support.³ Given the administrative difficulties of an immediate change to frozen high-cost support, Consolidated will begin receiving Connect America Phase I frozen high-cost support beginning January 1, 2015. For those study areas, Consolidated will be subject to any conditions or obligations associated with Connect America Phase I frozen high-cost support at that time.⁴ Consistent with the USF/ICC Transformation Order, the amount of frozen high-cost support will be based on the amount of high-cost universal service support, including HCLS, forward-looking high-cost model support, safety valve support, local switching support (LSS), interstate access support, and interstate common line support, that the Enventis study areas received in 2011.⁵

¹ See Domestic Section 214 Application Filed for the Transfer of Control of Enventis Corporation to Consolidated Communications Holdings, Inc., Streamlined Pleading Cycle Established, WC Docket No. 14-111, Public Notice, 29 FCC Rcd 9665 (Wireline Comp. Bur. 2014).

4. Connect America Fund Inter-carrier Compensation Replacement. Consolidated's acquisition of the three study areas currently operated by Enventis will require an adjustment to its Eligible Recovery amounts under the Commission's inter-carrier compensation rules. In the USF/ICC Transformation Order, the Commission acknowledged that, by defining Eligible Recovery based on a carrier's interstate switched access requirement, "in essence, carriers receiving LSS today will be eligible to receive support as part of their Eligible Recovery."⁶ As described above, these three study areas will receive frozen high-cost support that includes LSS. In order to avoid duplicative recovery of LSS, therefore, LSS needs to be removed from the Eligible Recovery amounts. Accordingly, we require Consolidated to update filings completed pursuant to sections 54.304 and 51.917 of the Commission's rules within 45 days of closing on its acquisition of Enventis. As with the Connect America Phase I frozen high-cost support, changes to the Eligible Recovery will be applied beginning January 1, 2015.

5. Rebasing High-Cost Loop Support Cap. Consistent with precedent, we direct the National Exchange Carrier Association (NECA) to re-calculate the HCLS cap for 2015 to exclude the HCLS that NECA attributed to Enventis's three study areas when it rebased the cap for 2012.⁷ Thus, beginning January 1, 2015, the total annual amount of the incumbent local exchange carrier portion of the nationwide loop cost expense adjustment (i.e., the cap on HCLS) pursuant to section 54.1303(a) shall be adjusted to remove any support previously included due to Enventis's treatment as a rate-of-return carrier in January 2012.⁸

6. Connect America Phase II Challenge Process. In the event that the proposed acquisition occurs, the Enventis study areas will be eligible for the offer of model-based support to Consolidated. The Bureau currently is conducting a challenge process for determining the eligibility of price cap census blocks for Connect America Phase II support.⁹ In this Order, we initiate a challenge process limited exclusively to high-cost census blocks in the three incumbent study areas currently served
