NOTICE OF APPARENT LIABILITY FOR FORFEITURE

Adopted: August 31, 2016

Released: August 31, 2016

By the Regional Director, Region One, Enforcement Bureau:

I. INTRODUCTION

1. We propose a penalty of $23,000 against Daniel Delise for operating an unlicensed amateur radio station on the Amateur Radio Service frequency 147.96 MHz from his residence in Astoria, New York, and falsely transmitting an officer-in-distress call. The Commission previously warned Mr. Delise that unlicensed operation of this station was illegal and that continued operation could result in further enforcement action. Mr. Delise's deliberate disregard of the Act and the Commission's warning warrants a significant penalty. Commission action in this area is essential because unlicensed radio station operation create a danger of interference to licensed public safety and commercial communications. Transmission of a false officer-in-distress call potentially impacts the safety of life and property, and places a strain on valuable resources of safety and rescue agencies.

II. BACKGROUND

2. The Commission has received numerous complaints about Mr. Delise operating on an unlicensed basis on a number of different frequencies dating as far back as 2012. The Commission received complaints over a period of several months that Mr. Delise was operating without a license, and ultimately issued a Warning for Unlicensed Operation to Mr. Delise for operating on amateur radio frequencies without authorization on May 7, 2012, and again on August 3, 2012.² The letters were mailed to Mr. Delise's address of record in Astoria, NY.

3. The Commission continued to receive complaints about Mr. Delise throughout 2013 and 2014.³ On March 7 and 14, 2014, the agent investigated separate complaints about Mr. Delise causing interference on amateur radio frequencies but was not able to confirm a rule violation. However, on April 10 and September 20, 2014, the agent received additional complaints that Mr. Delise was operating without authority on 461.225 MHz, which is licensed to NYC City Wide Disaster Services, a nonprofit corporation. The Commission received 10 additional complaints in 2014 that identified Mr. Delise by name,⁴ another nine in 2015⁵ and one in January, 2016. Because many different frequencies were being jammed over short time intervals, it was difficult for the agent to obtain the measurements necessary to demonstrate intentional interference.

¹ The investigation began under File No. EB-FIELDNER-14-00017532 and was subsequently assigned File No. EB-FIELDNER-16-00021400. Any future correspondence with the Commission concerning this matter should reflect the new case number.

² The Commission received complaints naming Mr. Delise on Apr. 22 and 29, May 15, and June 29, 2012. See Dan Delise, Warning for Unlicensed Radio Operation (EB May 7, 2012) (on file in EB-FIELDNER-16-00021400), Dan Delise, Warning for Unlicensed Radio Operation (EB Aug. 3, 2012) (on file in EB-FIELDNER-14-00017532).

4. On April 7, 2016, two field agents started to monitor the area in Astoria, NY, where Daniel Delise had been reported to reside. The agents detected strong voice transmissions on the amateur radio frequency 147.96 MHz. The agents used direction finding techniques to determine that the voice transmissions were originating from the antennas on the roof where Mr. Delise had been reported to reside. One of the agents believed he recognized the voice as that of Daniel Delise. The agent found no evidence that Mr. Delise held an Amateur Radio Service license. After determining the direction from which the radio transmissions were coming and one of the agents believing that he recognized Daniel Delise's voice in the transmissions, the field agents approached his apartment. Mr. Delise's father, Samuel Delise, gave the agents permission to enter the apartment. Once the agents were inside, Daniel Delise then permitted the agents to inspect his radio transmitting equipment. The agents were able to confirm that the voice they heard on 147.96 MHz was that of Daniel Delise. The agents explained to Daniel Delise that they were monitoring transmissions on the frequency 147.96 MHz that were emanating from his residence. He admitted to making the transmissions on the frequency 147.96 MHz with the two-way transmitting equipment in his bedroom. He also acknowledged that he did not have an amateur radio license. The agents observed that one of the mobile radios was tuned to frequency 147.96 MHz. The agents also observed that three of the mobile radios were connected to the three antennas on the roof of the building. The agents verbally warned Mr. Delise that unauthorized operation is against the law. On April 20, 2016, the Commission's New York Office issued Mr. Delise a Notice of Unlicensed Operation for operating on the Amateur Radio Service frequency 147.96 MHz without authorization on April 7, 2016.

5. On April 19, 2016, the New York City Police Department (NYPD) informed a Commission field agent that the NYPD had taken Daniel Delise into custody on Saturday April 16, 2016 for "sending out false radio transmissions over the New York City Police Department's radio transmission system" and for possessing radios that operate on NYPD frequencies without permission in violation of New York law. The NYPD report said that a call went out over the police radio for an officer in need. The first police officer on the scene confirmed he did not send out a call for an officer in need. When an NYPD officer responded to the call, he saw Daniel Delise speaking into a radio device. The report said that Mr. Delise admitted to making the transmissions, and that he said he had more radios and would continue to transmit on police frequencies. The NYPD obtained a warrant for Mr. Delise's apartment and confiscated all the radio transmitting equipment from Mr. Delise (except the antennas), including fourteen radios that transmit and receive NYPD communications.

III. DISCUSSION

6. We find that Daniel Delise apparently willfully violated Sections 301 and 325(a) of the Act. Section 301 of the Act states that no person shall use or operate any apparatus for the transmission of energy or communications or signals by radio within the United States without a license granted by the Commission.⁶ Section 325(a) of the Act prohibits "[k]nowingly utter[ing] or transmit[ing] ... any false or fraudulent signal of distress..."⁷ The Act and our rules require that conduct be either willful or

⁴ The Commission received complaints on September 20, 22 and 23; October 3, 4, 5, 6, and 11; November 25; and December 30, 2014.

⁵ Specifically, the Commission received complaints that identified Mr. Delise by name on the following dates: January 5, June 3, 11, and 22; July 21 and 24; and November 11 and 18, 2015. The Commission also received complaints on July 8, 16, August 31, and November 14, 2015 that did not identify Mr. Delise by name, but alleged that someone was impeding service and using profanity on amateur radio and GMRS frequencies in the area surrounding Mr. Delise's residence, which are consistent with the complaints describing Mr. Delise's actions.

A. Operation without a License

7. We find Daniel Delise apparently willfully violated Section 301 of the Act. Section 301 states that no person shall use or operate any apparatus for the transmission of energy or communications or signals by radio within the United States without a license granted by the Commission. On April 7, 2016, agents from the New York Office determined that an unlicensed radio station operated on Amateur Radio Service frequency 147.96 MHz from Mr. Delise's residence. Mr. Delise admitted that he transmitted on frequency 147.96 MHz using the two-way transmitting equipment in his apartment. Mr. Delise also admitted that he does not have a license to operate in the Amateur Radio Service. Mr. Delise was warned by the Commission that such unlicensed operations violated the Act. As a result, we find Mr. Delise apparently willfully violated Section 301 of the Act by operating an unlicensed radio station.

B. Transmission of a False or Fraudulent Signal of Distress

8. We find Daniel Delise apparently willfully violated Section 325(a) of the Act. Pursuant to Section 325(a) of the Act, "[n]o person within the jurisdiction of the United States shall knowingly utter or transmit, or cause to be uttered or transmitted, any false or fraudulent signal of distress, or communication relating thereto." According to the NYPD report describing Mr. Delise's arrest, an NYPD officer heard Mr. Delise transmit an officer-in-distress call over frequencies licensed to the NYPD. An NYPD officer responded to that distress call and found Mr. Delise talking on a police radio. Mr. Delise possessed fourteen radios that operate on NYPD frequencies when he was arrested. Mr. Delise admitted to the NYPD officer that he transmitted a false officer-in-distress message. Mr. Delise said that he had other radios and would continue to transmit such messages. Based on the evidence, we find that Mr. Delise apparently willfully violated Section 325(a) of the Act by knowingly transmitting a false or fraudulent signal of distress. Section 312(f)(1) of the Act defines "willful" as the "conscious and deliberate commission or omission of [any] act, irrespective of any intent to violate" the law.⁹ The legislative history to Section 312(f)(1) of the Act makes clear that this definition of willful applies to both Sections 312 and 503(b) of the Act, and the Commission has so interpreted the term in the Section 503(b) context. Mr. Delise does not deny that he made a false officer-in-distress call. Therefore, we find that his transmission of a false officer-in-distress call was willful, according to the Act.

C. Proposed Forfeiture

9. Section 503(b) of the Act authorizes the Commission to impose a forfeiture against any entity that "willfully or repeatedly fail[s] to comply with any of the provisions of [the Act] or of any rule, regulation, or order issued by the Commission."¹⁰ Here, Section 503(b)(2)(D) of the Act authorizes us to assess a forfeiture against Mr. Delise of up to $18,936 for each violation or each day of a continuing violation, up to a statutory maximum of $142,021 for a single act or failure to act.¹¹ In exercising our

¹¹ See 47 U.S.C. § 503(b)(2)(D); 47 CFR §§ 1.80(b)(7), (9). These amounts reflect inflation adjustments to the forfeitures specified in Section 503(b)(2)(D) ($10,000 per violation or per day of a continuing violation and $75,000 per any single act or failure to act). The Federal Civil Penalties Inflation Adjustment Act of 1990, Pub. L. No. 101-410, 104 Stat. 890, as amended by the Debt Collection Improvement Act of 1996, Pub. L. No. 104-134, Sec. 31001, 110 Stat. 1321 (DCIA), as further amended by the Federal Reports Elimination Act of 1998, Pub. L. No. 105-362, Sec. 1301, 112 Stat. 3280, and as further amended by the Federal Civil Penalties Inflation Adjustment Act Improvements Act of 2015, Sec. 701, Pub. L. No. 114-74, 129 Stat. 599 (codified as amended 28 U.S.C. § 2461 note) (the 2015 Inflation Adjustment Act), requires the Commission to adjust its penalties for inflation and publish interim final rules with the initial penalty adjustment amounts by July 1, 2016 and new penalty levels must take effect no later than August 1, 2016. See 28 U.S.C. § 2461 note. The Commission published those interim final rules

forfeiture authority, we must consider the “nature, circumstances, extent, and gravity of the violation and, with respect to the violator, the degree of culpability, any history of prior offenses, ability to pay, and such other matters as justice may require.”¹² In addition, the Commission has established forfeiture guidelines; they establish base penalties for certain violations and identify criteria that we consider when determining the appropriate penalty in any given case.¹³ Under these guidelines, we may adjust a forfeiture upward for violations that are egregious, intentional, or repeated, or that cause substantial harm or generate substantial economic gain for the violator.¹⁴

10. Section 1.80(b) of the Rules sets a base forfeiture amount for operation without an instrument of authorization of $10,000.¹⁵ For transmission of a false or fraudulent signal of distress, Section 1.80(b) of the Rules sets a base forfeiture amount of $8,000 for each violation.¹⁶ Accordingly, we propose a total base forfeiture of $18,000.

11. In addition, in this case, we find that an upward adjustment to the proposed base forfeiture amount is warranted. In 2012, the Commission warned Mr. Delise twice that operating without a license was a violation of the Communications Act and could result in a forfeiture penalty. If a person was warned against such action and the person subsequently engages in conduct of the type described in the warning, the Commission can issue an NAL proposing a forfeiture that considers both the conduct that led to the citation and the conduct following it in assessing the forfeiture.¹⁷ The unlicensed operation violation in this case was egregious due to the length of time Mr. Delise operated his station after being warned that such operation violated the Act.¹⁸ The fact that Mr. Delise continued to operate an unlicensed station after receiving notice that his actions contravened the Act also demonstrates a deliberate disregard for the Commission’s authority and requirements. Accordingly, we find that an upward adjustment of $5,000 is warranted.¹⁹ Therefore, after applying the Forfeiture Policy Statement, Section 1.80 of the Rules, and the statutory factors, we propose a total forfeiture of $23,000, for which Daniel Delise is apparently liable.

IV. CONCLUSION
