By this Public Notice, the Wireline Competition Bureau (Bureau) announces that the National Lifeline Eligibility Verifier (National Verifier) will soft launch on March 12, 2019 in Indiana, Kentucky, and Michigan.¹

The soft launch period will allow Eligible Telecommunications Carriers (ETCs) to become familiar with the National Verifier and adjust and test their systems and business processes before use of the National Verifier becomes mandatory. During the soft launch, only ETCs will have access to the National Verifier. ETCs will also have access to a pre-production test environment in the National Verifier to improve their ability to conduct sample transactions and train their employees for readiness.²

If an ETC uses existing eligibility processes to enroll subscribers during the soft launch period, the ETC must comply with the Commission’s existing rules for eligibility determinations.³

ETCs in Indiana, Kentucky, and Michigan should not begin any recertifications for Lifeline subscribers as of March 12, 2019 and should finish any currently open recertifications for Lifeline subscribers in these states no later than May 17, 2019. In addition, USAC will begin reverification of existing Lifeline subscribers in these states during the soft launch period. USAC will use the National Verifier to re-verify the eligibility of consumers that already participate in the Lifeline program.⁴ Any consumer whose eligibility cannot be verified in this process will be de-enrolled from the program. The reverification process will continue after the full launch date to verify that subscribers in the National Verifier for these three states are eligible to receive Lifeline service.

USAC will be conducting ongoing outreach and training for ETCs in the relevant states during the soft launch, and ETCs can also access the pre-production test environment. To ensure that ETCs continue to be supported during the transition to the National Verifier, USAC will also be contacting ETCs in the relevant states to provide details regarding additional training opportunities. Informational resource materials regarding the National Verifier are also available on USAC’s website.⁵

² In contrast to the service provider portal available during the soft launch, to which ETCs should only submit true data for consumers seeking to apply in the Lifeline program, the pre-production environment allows ETCs to use test data that does not reflect actual Lifeline applicants.
