ORDER

Adopted: February 7, 2019

Released: February 7, 2019

By the Chief, Consumer and Governmental Affairs Bureau:

1. In this Order, the Consumer and Governmental Affairs Bureau (CGB or Bureau) of the Federal Communications Commission (FCC or Commission) grants the Motion for Extension of Time filed on behalf of the Coalition of E-Reader Manufacturers (the Coalition).¹

2. Section 716 of the Communications Act, as amended, requires that providers of advanced communications services (ACS) and manufacturers of equipment used for ACS make their services and products accessible to individuals with disabilities, unless doing so is not achievable.² The Commission may grant waivers of the ACS requirements for multipurpose equipment or services or classes of multipurpose equipment or services that are capable of accessing ACS but are nonetheless designed primarily for purposes other than use of ACS.³ On January 28, 2014, the Bureau granted a one-year waiver of the Commission's ACS accessibility rules for a defined class of basic e-readers that are capable

² 47 U.S.C. § 617(a)(1), (b)(1). ACS is defined as interconnected voice over Internet protocol (VoIP) service; non-interconnected VoIP service; electronic message service, such as e-mail, instant messaging, and SMS text messaging; and interoperable video conferencing service. Id. § 153(1); 47 CFR § 14.10(c).

In instances where equipment and services may have multiple primary or co-primary purposes, waivers may not be warranted, depending on the circumstances. ACS Report and Order, 26 FCC Rcd at 14635, para. 184. The Commission delegated to CGB the authority to act upon all such waiver requests. ACS Report and Order, 26 FCC Rcd at 14566, 14640-41, paras. 19, 197.

of accessing ACS, but are designed primarily for reading text-based digital works that the Bureau determined were not designed primarily or co-primarily for ACS.⁴ In 2015, the Bureau extended the waiver for one more year.⁵ In 2016, the Bureau granted an indefinite extension of the waiver for this class of basic e-readers.⁶

3. In the 2016 E-Reader Waiver Order, the Bureau also required the Coalition to submit a report three years after the release of the order (or by February 1, 2019) on, among other things, the design, technological development, marketing, and consumer use trends of basic e-readers.⁷ The report requirement is intended to assist the Bureau to determine whether conditions have changed such that ACS has become a primary or co-primary purpose of basic e-readers and whether the Bureau should re-open this proceeding to make any appropriate adjustments to the waiver or, if warranted, terminate the waiver.⁸

4. Section 1.46 of the Commission's rules provides that "[i]t is the policy of the Commission that extensions of time are not routinely granted."⁹ Further, it is the responsibility of persons subject to the Commission's rules to familiarize themselves with those regulations and to ensure that required filings and reports are submitted by applicable deadlines.¹⁰ In this instance, however, we find that extending the deadline as requested, until March 5, 2019,¹¹ will provide the Coalition with the additional time it needs and has requested to gather the information required for the report, which will best assist the Bureau in making its determination, and will ensure the development of a complete record, which will serve the public interest.¹²

¹² Coalition Motion at 2.

5. Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED, pursuant to section 1.46 of the Commission's rules, 47 CFR § 1.46, that the Coalition's Motion for Extension of Time filed on February 1, 2019, IS GRANTED, and the deadline for filing the required report is extended until March 5, 2019.

6. IT IS FURTHER ORDERED, that this Order SHALL BE EFFECTIVE upon release.
