FCC RELEASES CIRCUIT CAPACITY DATA FOR U.S.-INTERNATIONAL SUBMARINE CABLES AS OF DECEMBER 31, 2019

The International Bureau today released circuit capacity data for U.S.-international submarine cables as of December 31, 2019.¹

Cable landing licensees and common carriers must file annual Circuit Capacity Reports through the Commission's online filing system. The data include:

- Cable Capacity Operator Reports - Submarine cable landing licensees must file capacity information for each cable system as of December 31st of the current reporting period (available capacity) and two years from the current reporting period (planned capacity).
- Cable Capacity Holder Reports - Submarine cable landing licensees and common carriers that owned or leased capacity on a submarine cable between the United States and any foreign point must file capacity information as of December 31st for the following categories: (1) Owned Capacity; (2) Net Indefeasible Rights-of-Use (IRUs); (3) Net Inter-Carrier Leaseholds (ICLs); (4) Net Capacity Held (categories 1-3); (5) Activated Capacity; and (6) Non-Activated Capacity.²

On February 25, 2020, the International Bureau released a revised Filing Manual to reflect changes to the rules adopted in the Section 43.62 Order.³ As noted in the revised Filing Manual, similar to the Cable Operator Report, data for the Capacity Holder Report must be reported in Gbps rounded to one decimal place.⁴

¹ 47 CFR § 43.82. The International Bureau no longer releases an annual International Circuit Capacity Report. See Section 43.62 Reporting Requirements for U.S. Providers of International Services; 2016 Biennial Review of Telecommunications Regulations, IB Docket Nos. 17-55 and 16-131, Report and Order, 32 FCC Rcd 8115, 8128-29, para. 28, n.109 (2017) (Section 43.62 Order). Prior reports may be found at the FCC website. FCC, International Circuit Capacity Reports, <https://www.fcc.gov/reports-research/reports/international-circuit-capacity-reports>.

² Individual cable operator data and capacity holder data are withheld from public distribution for those filing entities that requested confidential treatment.
