FCC ANNOUNCES THIRD VIDEO PROGRAMMING ACCESSIBILITY FORUM

Forum Focusing on Emergency Information Will Be Held on October 6th

GN Docket No. 21-140

By this Public Notice, the Federal Communications Commission announces a virtual event, the Video Programming Accessibility Forum – Emergency Information on October 6, 2022, from 1:00 pm to 3:00 pm ET. The FCC’s Media Bureau and Consumer and Governmental Affairs Bureau will co-host this third accessibility-related Forum focused on accessibility issues surrounding emergency information in video programming.¹

The Commission’s rules define “emergency information” as “[i]nformation, about a current emergency, that is intended to further the protection of life, health, safety, and property, i.e., critical details regarding the emergency and how to respond to the emergency.”² To ensure that individuals with disabilities can avail themselves of emergency information, the rules contain requirements governing the accessibility of televised emergency information.³ When emergency situations, such as wildfires or hurricanes, occur, it is critical that viewers with disabilities are able to access emergency information.

The Video Programming Accessibility Forum – Emergency Information will explore the current state of emergency information in video programming, as well as advancements that may occur in the future. The Forum will include two panels that will feature speakers representing television companies and consumer groups. The full agenda for the Forum is attached.

This is a public event and will be streamed live on fcc.gov/live and the FCC’s YouTube channel. We encourage the public and interested stakeholders to engage in this discussion by sending questions during the event to livequestions@fcc.gov. Up-to-date information regarding the Forum can be found on the event page: <https://www.fcc.gov/news-events/events/2022/10/video-programming-accessibility-forum-emergency-information>. Commission staff will enter information about the panel, including all relevant public notices, the agenda, and a link to a video recording of the event, into the public record for this proceeding.

The meeting will be webcast with open captioning and sign language interpreters at www.fcc.gov/live. Additional reasonable accommodations for people with disabilities are available upon request. Include a description of the accommodation you will need and tell us how to contact you if we
