HOW TO LOCATE BROADCAST NETWORK AFFILIATION AGREEMENTS IN THE REFERENCE INFORMATION CENTER

The Reference Information Center (RIC) has a limited number of Broadcast Network Affiliation Agreements located off-line. Affiliation agreements are contracts, arrangements or understandings between a television station and a network, defined as an entity which offers an interconnected program service on a regular basis for 15 or more hours a week to at least 25 affiliated television licensees in 10 or more states.

Some Affiliation Agreements can be voluminous, making it difficult to file them in the license files. When looking for Affiliation Agreements, customers should first check the Consolidated Database System (CDBS) to obtain the Facility ID Number (FAC ID) of the station they are researching. Customers then should fill out a Request form at the main counter listing the FAC ID to receive the license file for the station. If the license file does not contain an Affiliation Agreement, the RIC may have an agreement stored off-line. They can check the Off-Line Affiliation Agreement Listing (attached) kept at the main counter in the RIC to see the agreements that are stored separately from the license file.

For further information regarding this Public Notice, contact Robin Jackson, Reference Information Center at (202) 418-0296 or via e-mail at rjackson@fcc.gov.
