FCC COMMISSIONER KEVIN J. MARTIN ANNOUNCES STAFFING CHANGE

Washington, DC -- FCC Commissioner Kevin J. Martin today announced that his Confidential Assistant, Ginger Clark, has decided to pursue other opportunities at the Commission. He said, "It is with great regret that I announce Ginger's departure from my staff. While I understand her desire to pursue other professional opportunities, I will miss her greatly. Ginger started with me two years ago, and she has played an integral role in the effective management of my office. Her experience has been invaluable to me. I thank her profoundly for her assistance, and I wish her every success in her future endeavors."

Ms. Clark has served as Confidential Assistant to Commissioner Martin since he took office in July of 2001. Prior to joining Commissioner Martin's staff, Ms. Clark served on the staffs of Commissioner Harold Furtchgott-Roth and Commissioner James H. Quello, in addition to serving in the bureaus now known as the Wireless Telecommunications Bureau, the Wireline Competition Bureau, and the Media Bureau.
