PUBLIC SAFETY AND HOMELAND SECURITY BUREAU RELEASES UPDATED AGENDA FOR WORKSHOP/WEBINAR ON CONTRABAND CELL PHONE USE IN PRISONS FCC Committed to Identifying Solutions to Combat this National Issue

Washington, D.C. – The Federal Communications Commission’s (FCC’s) Public Safety and Homeland Security Bureau (Bureau) today released the agenda for a workshop/webinar to discuss methods for combating the use of contraband cell phones in prisons. The workshop/webinar will be conducted in partnership with the National Institute of Justice and the Association of State Correctional Administrators. The event will be held on Thursday, September 30, 2010 from 1:00 p.m. - 3:00 p.m. ET in the Commission Meeting Room (TW-C305).

The use of cell phones by prisoners to carry out criminal enterprises is a significant problem across the nation and demands effective and prompt remedies. This workshop/webinar will discuss technologies currently available and in use to combat contraband cell phone use in prisons, as well as the legal constraints and policy concerns relating to cell jamming and other interfering technologies. Discussion will focus on available technologies and ensuring that they are operated in accordance with the law and without jeopardizing public safety or the lawful use of cell phones by the public, including calls to 9-1-1. The session will also address possible solutions, including previous tests and pilots, as well as a discussion of a recently deployed managed access system.

This event is designed to encourage public interaction, whether through in-person attendance or via the web. The workshop/webinar will be open to the public; however, in-person admittance will be limited to the seating available. Those individuals who are interested in attending this event in person or via WebEx must pre-register on-line at <http://www.fcc.gov/pshs/event-registration.html>. Those who pre-register will be asked to provide their name, title, organization affiliation, and contact information.
