RE: File No. EB-08-TC-6833

Dear Correspondent:

This is an official CITATION, issued pursuant to section 503(b)(5) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended (the Act), 47 U.S.C. § 503(b)(5), for violations of the Act and the Federal Communications Commission's rules that govern telephone solicitations and unsolicited advertisements.¹ As explained below, you may appeal this citation. In addition, future violations of the Act or Commission's rules in this regard may subject you and your company to monetary forfeitures.²

Attached are consumer complaints regarding telemarketing calls that your company, or an entity acting on behalf of your company, made to telephone lines that are contained in the National Do-Not-Call Registry. These complaints indicate that your company, acting under your direction, has violated the Commission's rules regarding telephone solicitations. See 47 C.F.R. § 64.1200(c)(2).

Section 64.1200(c)(2) of the Commission's rules generally prohibits the delivery of telephone solicitations to residential telephone numbers that are contained in the National Do-Not-Call Registry except in certain limited situations. Under the Communications Act and the Commission's rules, a "telephone solicitation" is "the initiation of a telephone call or message for the purpose of encouraging the purchase or rental of, or investment in, property, goods, or services, which is transmitted to any person.”³ Calls made by or on behalf of tax-exempt nonprofit groups are not considered to be telephone solicitations. Similarly, calls that are made to a person who either has provided prior express invitation or permission to call⁴ or has an established business relationship⁵ with the caller are not considered to be telephone solicitations. Finally, the rules permit telephone solicitations to a consumer whose number is listed on the National Do-Not-Call Registry if that consumer has a personal relationship with the individual making the calls.⁶

² We have attached one complaint at issue in this citation. Within the complaint is the telephone number 530-885-3375, which your business utilized during the time period at issue.

Accordingly, under the Commission’s rules, it is unlawful to deliver a telephone solicitation to a residential telephone line on the National Do-Not-Call Registry unless: (1) the call is made by or on behalf of a tax-exempt nonprofit group; (2) the call is made by a person who has a personal relationship with the called party; (3) the called party has provided signed, written consent for the call to be made; or (4) the called party has made a purchase from, or had a transaction with, the caller within the 18 months immediately preceding the call or has made an inquiry or application regarding the caller’s products or services within the three months immediately preceding the call, and the called party has not specifically asked the caller to stop all telemarketing calls.

Entities making telephone solicitations must honor do-not-call registrations no later than 31 days after a number is placed on the National Do-Not-Call Registry,⁷ and for a period of no less than five years. To accomplish this, section 64.1200(c)(2)(i)(D) requires entities making

⁴ Prior express invitation or permission to call a number contained on the National Do-Not-Call Registry must be evidenced by a signed, written agreement between a consumer and seller. The agreement must include both the consumer’s consent to be called by the particular seller and the telephone number to which such calls may be placed. 47 C.F.R. § 64.1200(c)(2)(ii).

⁵ An “established business relationship” means “a prior or existing relationship formed by a voluntary two-way communication between a person or entity and a residential subscriber with or without an exchange of consideration, on the basis of the subscriber’s purchase or transaction with the entity within the eighteen (18) months immediately preceding the date of the telephone call or on the basis of the subscriber’s inquiry or application regarding products or services offered by the entity within the three months immediately preceding the date of the call, which relationship has not been previously terminated by either party.” 47 C.F.R. § 64.1200(f)(4). The established business relationship exception does not apply when a telephone subscriber has made a company-specific do-not-call request. A company-specific do-not-call request terminates an established business relationship for telemarketing purposes even if the requester continues to do business with the company. 47 C.F.R. § 64.1200(f)(4)(i); see also Rules and Regulations Implementing the Telephone Consumer Protection Act of 1991, Report and Order, 7 FCC Rcd 8752, 8766 n.47, 8770 n.63 (1992); see also H.R. ⁶ 47 C.F.R. § 64.1200(c)(2)(iii). A “personal relationship” exists if the recipient of the call is a “family member, friend, or acquaintance of the telemarketer making the call.” 47 C.F.R. § 64.1200(f)(14).

⁷ The 31-day requirement applies to telephone solicitations made on or after January 1, 2005. Rules and Regulations Implementing the Telephone Consumer Protection Act of 1991, Order, 19 FCC Rcd 19215 (2004). Previously, the Commission’s rules provided that do-not-call registrations had to be honored within 3 months. Rules and Regulations Implementing the Telephone Consumer Protection Act of 1991, Report and Order, 18 FCC Rcd 14014, 14040, para. 38 (2003). The 3-month provision applied to telephone solicitations made before January 1, 2005.

telephone solicitations to use a version of the National Do-Not-Call Registry obtained no more than 31 days before any telephone solicitation is made, and to document this process. An entity that does not claim one of the exemptions set forth above is not liable for calling a telephone number on the National Do-Not-Call Registry only if it is able to demonstrate that it has fully complied with the Commission's standards governing use of the National Do-Not-Call Registry as set out in section 64.1200(c)(2)(i)(A)-(E) of the rules, and that the particular telephone solicitation call was the result of error.

Additionally, attached are consumer complaints regarding telemarketing calls that your company or an entity acting on behalf of your company, acting under your direction, made to residential telephone lines despite previous do-not-call requests by members of the households.⁸ These complaints indicate that you and your company have violated the Commission's requirements regarding telemarketing calls in 47 C.F.R. § 64.1200(d).

Section 64.1200(d) of the Commission's rules requires entities that make telemarketing calls to residential telephone subscribers to follow certain procedures to ensure that the subscribers are able to stop such calls. Specifically, entities that make telemarketing calls must (1) develop written policies for maintaining a do-not-call list and make such written policies available upon demand; (2) inform and train their personnel engaged in any aspect of telemarketing about the existence and use of the do-not-call list; (3) place consumers who request not to receive telemarketing calls on the do-not-call list; and (4) honor each do-not-call request within a reasonable time from the date of the request, which may not exceed thirty (30) days, for five years from the time the request is made.⁹ In addition, the Commission has found that it is unlawful to call a residential telephone line to deliver a telemarketing call if any member of the household has made a do-not-call request.¹⁰

Under the Commission's rules, a "telemarketing" call is "the initiation of a telephone call or message for the purpose of encouraging the purchase or rental of, or investment in, property, goods, or services, which is transmitted to any person."¹¹

If, after receipt of this citation, you or your company violate the Communications Act or the Commission's rules in any manner described herein, the Commission may impose monetary forfeitures not to exceed $11,000 for each such violation or each day of a continuing violation occurring before September 2, 2008, and $16,000 for each such violation or each day of a continuing violation occurring on or after September 2, 2008.¹²
