Dear Congressman Michaud:

Thank you for your letter regarding the wireless license transfer between T-Mobile USA and MetroPCS Communications, Inc. Your views are very important and were included in the record of the proceeding.

On March 12, 2013, the Commission's Wireless Telecommunications and International Bureaus adopted a Memorandum Opinion and Order approving the transaction. After careful review of the record, the Bureaus found that the transaction would enhance the competitiveness of the fourth-largest nationwide wireless provider by allowing it to strengthen its network and expand its product line, thereby bolstering the long-term viability of the combined company and enabling increased employment. Moreover, during our review T-Mobile USA told the Commission that they plan to preserve and grow U.S. jobs, and I expect them to live up to these commitments.

With last month's approval of this transaction, America's mobile marketplace continues to strengthen, moving toward robust competition and revitalized competitors. We are seeing billions more in network investment, while the courts have upheld key FCC decisions to accelerate broadband build-out, promote competition, and benefit consumers, including our broadband data roaming and pole attachment rules. The new entity emerging from this transaction will benefit millions of American consumers and help the U.S. maintain the global leadership in mobile it has regained in recent years. Few sectors of the U.S. economy have more potential to create jobs than mobile.

I appreciate your interest in this matter. Please let me know if I can be of any further assistance.

Sincerely,

Dear Congressman Loebsack:

Thank you for your letter regarding the wireless license transfer between T-Mobile USA and MetroPCS Communications, Inc. Your views are very important and were included in the record of the proceeding.

On March 12, 2013, the Commission's Wireless Telecommunications and International Bureaus adopted a Memorandum Opinion and Order approving the transaction. After careful review of the record, the Bureaus found that the transaction would enhance the competitiveness of the fourth-largest nationwide wireless provider by allowing it to strengthen its network and expand its product line, thereby bolstering the long-term viability of the combined company and enabling increased employment. Moreover, during our review T-Mobile USA told the Commission that they plan to preserve and grow U.S. jobs, and I expect them to live up to these commitments.

With last month's approval of this transaction, America's mobile marketplace continues to strengthen, moving toward robust competition and revitalized competitors. We are seeing billions more in network investment, while the courts have upheld key FCC decisions to accelerate broadband build-out, promote competition, and benefit consumers, including our broadband data roaming and pole attachment rules. The new entity emerging from this transaction will benefit millions of American consumers and help the U.S. maintain the global leadership in mobile it has regained in recent years. Few sectors of the U.S. economy have more potential to create jobs than mobile.

I appreciate your interest in this matter. Please let me know if I can be of any further assistance.

The new entity emerging from this transaction will benefit millions of American consumers and help the U.S. maintain the global leadership in mobile it has regained in recent years.
