Notes

1. A sample of 375 urban Census tra Mathematica from a list of 58,331 url Census tract in the sample, all servic service plans in that Census tract. If Cenus tracts was randomly selected Mathematica.
2. In the data file, each row represen level of service using a specific techr and usage allowance.

| :--- |
| Name of the residential broadband provider reporting the rate. |
| State in which the Census tract is located. |
| The product of 1) a weight reflecting the magnitude of the service provider's presence in the  Census tract, 2) the number of households in the Census tract, and 3) the inverse of the number of  technologies and service plans for the given level of service. For service providers limited to 25  survey responses, this weight was increased by an amount reflecting the weights for unrequested  responses. |
| Technology used to provide the residential service. |
| The advertised download bandwidth for the reported service in Mbps |
| The advertised upload bandwidth for the reported service in Mbps |
| The monthly usage allowance (if any) for the reported service. If the plan has no maximum usage  allowance, the field reports "Unlimited" |
| The monthly charge for the service |
| Monthly mandatory charges not included elsewhere |
| Monthly surcharges not included elsewhere |
| The total monthly end-user charge which is the sum of monthly charge, other mandatory charge,  and surcharge |
| Difference between the minimum and maximum total charge |
| "Yes" indicates that the observation was included in the regression analysis. "No" indicates that the  observation was not included in the regression analysis. |

icts was randomly selected without replacement using the "Random Choice" function in san Census tracts encompassing the 50 states, the District of Columbia, and Puerto Rico. For each ;e providers with residential subscribers in the Census tract were requested to provide rates for all a service provider offered service in more than 25 Census tracts of the sample, a subsample of 25 for survey responses from that service provider using the "Random Choice" function in its the broadband provider's reported rates in a specific Census tract within the state for a specific ology and/or service plan. A specific level of service is defined by its download/upload bandwidth
