

OFFICE OF
THE CHAIRMAN

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION
WASHINGTON

May 29, 2015

The Honorable John Thune
Chairman
Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation
United States Senate
254 Russell Senate Office Building
Washington, D.C. 20510

Dear Chairman Thune:

Thank you for your letter urging the Commission to reform our Universal Service Fund (“USF”) mechanisms to support broadband deployment in rural America. The universal service program is one of the most important tools at our disposal to ensure that consumers and businesses in rural America have the same opportunities as their urban and suburban counterparts to be active participants in the 21st century economy. I share your goal of ensuring that the universal service program better reflects today’s marketplace and technology in areas served by rate-of-return carriers.

As I explained at the Senate Commerce Committee’s FCC Oversight Hearing earlier this year, resolving this issue will require all the stakeholders to work together and make hard decisions to reach consensus on the best path forward. Everybody agrees that the goal of any changes should be supporting broadband in rural areas, but so long as the recipients of USF funding remain divided, achieving those goals remains problematic. Those rate-of-return carriers who provide rural service must coalesce around changes that create the proper incentives to deploy and maintain robust broadband networks. The lack of such a plan will prevent policy makers from making informed decisions about the best way to serve both the rural Americans who use those networks and the ratepayers who contribute that support.

With that in mind, I directed my staff and staff members from the Commission’s Wireline Bureau to meet with stakeholders in the rate-of-return community. In that meeting, which was joined by Commissioner O’Rielly, his staff, and Commissioner Clyburn’s staff, we gave stakeholders thirty days to work together to develop an approach that both has the widespread support of the rate-of-return community and meets the principles unanimously outlined by the Commission in our April 2014 Further Notice of Proposed Rulemaking.

On May 20, at a meeting with Wireline Bureau staff, the stakeholders asked for additional time to continue to work on a solution. We agreed to an additional two weeks, but if we are going to get this done this year, there is not only a need for consensus, but also time for public comment on any new proposals and for the Commission to evaluate the proposals in light of the comments received. The search for consensus cannot drag on.

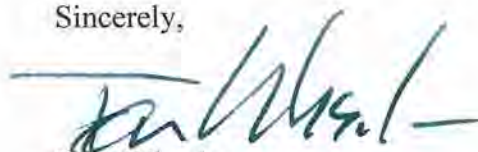

While it is encouraging the stakeholders appear to have come to consensus on the notion of a “two-path” approach to reforming the program that is comprised of both a model-based path and updates to the existing mechanisms, agreement as to structure is a long way from agreement as to substance. Specifically, while the parties agree on the importance of broadband support, the parties have stated that, “consensus has not yet been reached regarding such a broadband-only support mechanism.”

I share your concern about rural broadband and I recognize that different rate-of-return carriers have different equities. Since this is a program designed to help rate-of-return carriers bring service to rural consumers, and we all agree on the need to reform the program to support the deployment of broadband, it is a matter of significant concern that the rate-of-return parties in interest have not reached agreement on an approach that will allocate funding in a way that results in additional rural deployment of broadband in the future.

I recognize the substantial time, effort, and resources that have been invested in this effort to date by stakeholders in the rate-of-return community. And I am committed to finding a path forward by the end of the year. But it is important to have a solution – or set of solutions – that creates the right incentives to deploy modern networks throughout rural America, meets the Commission’s overarching policy objectives, and has the widespread support of the rate-of-return carrier community. Stakeholders have not presented us with that solution yet, but I remain hopeful that the parties will use the extra time they have to address the outstanding issues. Without the support of the nation’s rate-of-return providers of rural service, it is difficult to see how any reform of these universal service programs could successfully deliver on our shared goal of more robust broadband throughout rural America.

I look forward to working with you to make continued progress on the deployment of broadband to consumers throughout rural areas a reality.

Sincerely,

Tom Wheeler

cc: The Honorable Lamar Alexander
The Honorable Kelly Ayotte
The Honorable Tammy Baldwin
The Honorable John Barrasso
The Honorable Michael Bennet
The Honorable Roy Blunt
The Honorable John Boozman
The Honorable Richard M. Burr
The Honorable Maria Cantwell
The Honorable Shelley Moore Capito
The Honorable Bill Cassidy
The Honorable Dan Coats
The Honorable Susan Collins
The Honorable Bob Corker
The Honorable John Cornyn
The Honorable Tom Cotton
The Honorable Michael D. Crapo
The Honorable Steve Daines
The Honorable Joe Donnelly
The Honorable Richard J. Durbin
The Honorable Michael B. Enzi
The Honorable Joni Ernst
The Honorable Deb Fischer
The Honorable Al Franken
The Honorable Cory Gardner
The Honorable Kirsten Gillibrand
The Honorable Lindsey Graham
The Honorable Charles E. Grassley
The Honorable Orrin G. Hatch
The Honorable Heidi Heitkamp
The Honorable Dean Heller
The Honorable John Hoeven
The Honorable James M. Inhofe
The Honorable Johnny Isakson
The Honorable Ron Johnson
The Honorable Tim Kaine
The Honorable Angus King
The Honorable Amy Klobuchar
The Honorable Joe Manchin
The Honorable Claire McCaskill
The Honorable Mitch McConnell
The Honorable Jeff Merkley
The Honorable Jerry Moran
The Honorable Lisa Murkowski
The Honorable Patty Murray

The Honorable Gary Peters
The Honorable Rob Portman
The Honorable Jim Risch
The Honorable Pat Roberts
The Honorable Michael Rounds
The Honorable Brian Schatz
The Honorable Tim Scott
The Honorable Jeanne Shaheen
The Honorable Debbie Stabenow
The Honorable Dan Sullivan
The Honorable Jon Tester
The Honorable Thom Tillis
The Honorable David Vitter
The Honorable Roger Wicker
The Honorable Ron Wyden

OFFICE OF
THE CHAIRMAN

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION
WASHINGTON

May 29, 2015

The Honorable Lamar Alexander
United States Senate
455 Dirksen Senate Office Building
Washington, D.C. 20510

Dear Senator Alexander:

Thank you for your letter urging the Commission to reform our Universal Service Fund (“USF”) mechanisms to support broadband deployment in rural America. The universal service program is one of the most important tools at our disposal to ensure that consumers and businesses in rural America have the same opportunities as their urban and suburban counterparts to be active participants in the 21st century economy. I share your goal of ensuring that the universal service program better reflects today’s marketplace and technology in areas served by rate-of-return carriers.

As I explained at the Senate Commerce Committee’s FCC Oversight Hearing earlier this year, resolving this issue will require all the stakeholders to work together and make hard decisions to reach consensus on the best path forward. Everybody agrees that the goal of any changes should be supporting broadband in rural areas, but so long as the recipients of USF funding remain divided, achieving those goals remains problematic. Those rate-of-return carriers who provide rural service must coalesce around changes that create the proper incentives to deploy and maintain robust broadband networks. The lack of such a plan will prevent policy makers from making informed decisions about the best way to serve both the rural Americans who use those networks and the ratepayers who contribute that support.

With that in mind, I directed my staff and staff members from the Commission’s Wireline Bureau to meet with stakeholders in the rate-of-return community. In that meeting, which was joined by Commissioner O’Rielly, his staff, and Commissioner Clyburn’s staff, we gave stakeholders thirty days to work together to develop an approach that both has the widespread support of the rate-of-return community and meets the principles unanimously outlined by the Commission in our April 2014 Further Notice of Proposed Rulemaking.

On May 20, at a meeting with Wireline Bureau staff, the stakeholders asked for additional time to continue to work on a solution. We agreed to an additional two weeks, but if we are going to get this done this year, there is not only a need for consensus, but also time for public comment on any new proposals and for the Commission to evaluate the proposals in light of the comments received. The search for consensus cannot drag on.

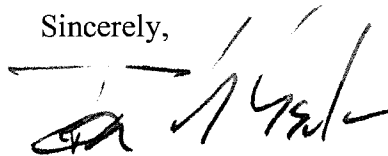

While it is encouraging the stakeholders appear to have come to consensus on the notion of a “two-path” approach to reforming the program that is comprised of both a model-based path and updates to the existing mechanisms, agreement as to structure is a long way from agreement as to substance. Specifically, while the parties agree on the importance of broadband support, the parties have stated that, “consensus has not yet been reached regarding such a broadband-only support mechanism.”

I share your concern about rural broadband and I recognize that different rate-of-return carriers have different equities. Since this is a program designed to help rate-of-return carriers bring service to rural consumers, and we all agree on the need to reform the program to support the deployment of broadband, it is a matter of significant concern that the rate-of-return parties in interest have not reached agreement on an approach that will allocate funding in a way that results in additional rural deployment of broadband in the future.

I recognize the substantial time, effort, and resources that have been invested in this effort to date by stakeholders in the rate-of-return community. And I am committed to finding a path forward by the end of the year. But it is important to have a solution – or set of solutions – that creates the right incentives to deploy modern networks throughout rural America, meets the Commission’s overarching policy objectives, and has the widespread support of the rate-of-return carrier community. Stakeholders have not presented us with that solution yet, but I remain hopeful that the parties will use the extra time they have to address the outstanding issues. Without the support of the nation’s rate-of-return providers of rural service, it is difficult to see how any reform of these universal service programs could successfully deliver on our shared goal of more robust broadband throughout rural America.

I look forward to working with you to make continued progress on the deployment of broadband to consumers throughout rural areas a reality.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read "Tom Wheeler", with a horizontal line above it.

Tom Wheeler

cc: The Honorable Kelly Ayotte
The Honorable Tammy Baldwin
The Honorable John Barrasso
The Honorable Michael Bennet
The Honorable Roy Blunt
The Honorable John Boozman
The Honorable Richard M. Burr
The Honorable Maria Cantwell
The Honorable Shelley Moore Capito
The Honorable Bill Cassidy
The Honorable Dan Coats
The Honorable Susan Collins
The Honorable Bob Corker
The Honorable John Cornyn
The Honorable Tom Cotton
The Honorable Michael D. Crapo
The Honorable Steve Daines
The Honorable Joe Donnelly
The Honorable Richard J. Durbin
The Honorable Michael B. Enzi
The Honorable Joni Ernst
The Honorable Deb Fischer
The Honorable Al Franken
The Honorable Cory Gardner
The Honorable Kirsten Gillibrand
The Honorable Lindsey Graham
The Honorable Charles E. Grassley
The Honorable Orrin G. Hatch
The Honorable Heidi Heitkamp
The Honorable Dean Heller
The Honorable John Hoeven
The Honorable James M. Inhofe
The Honorable Johnny Isakson
The Honorable Ron Johnson
The Honorable Tim Kaine
The Honorable Angus King
The Honorable Amy Klobuchar
The Honorable Joe Manchin
The Honorable Claire McCaskill
The Honorable Mitch McConnell
The Honorable Jeff Merkley
The Honorable Jerry Moran
The Honorable Lisa Murkowski
The Honorable Patty Murray

The Honorable Gary Peters
The Honorable Rob Portman
The Honorable Jim Risch
The Honorable Pat Roberts
The Honorable Michael Rounds
The Honorable Brian Schatz
The Honorable Tim Scott
The Honorable Jeanne Shaheen
The Honorable Debbie Stabenow
The Honorable Dan Sullivan
The Honorable Jon Tester
The Honorable John Thune
The Honorable Thom Tillis
The Honorable David Vitter
The Honorable Roger Wicker
The Honorable Ron Wyden

OFFICE OF
THE CHAIRMAN

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION
WASHINGTON

May 29, 2015

The Honorable Kelly Ayotte
United States Senate
144 Russell Senate Office Building
Washington, D.C. 20510

Dear Senator Ayotte:

Thank you for your letter urging the Commission to reform our Universal Service Fund (“USF”) mechanisms to support broadband deployment in rural America. The universal service program is one of the most important tools at our disposal to ensure that consumers and businesses in rural America have the same opportunities as their urban and suburban counterparts to be active participants in the 21st century economy. I share your goal of ensuring that the universal service program better reflects today’s marketplace and technology in areas served by rate-of-return carriers.

As I explained at the Senate Commerce Committee’s FCC Oversight Hearing earlier this year, resolving this issue will require all the stakeholders to work together and make hard decisions to reach consensus on the best path forward. Everybody agrees that the goal of any changes should be supporting broadband in rural areas, but so long as the recipients of USF funding remain divided, achieving those goals remains problematic. Those rate-of-return carriers who provide rural service must coalesce around changes that create the proper incentives to deploy and maintain robust broadband networks. The lack of such a plan will prevent policy makers from making informed decisions about the best way to serve both the rural Americans who use those networks and the ratepayers who contribute that support.

With that in mind, I directed my staff and staff members from the Commission’s Wireline Bureau to meet with stakeholders in the rate-of-return community. In that meeting, which was joined by Commissioner O’Rielly, his staff, and Commissioner Clyburn’s staff, we gave stakeholders thirty days to work together to develop an approach that both has the widespread support of the rate-of-return community and meets the principles unanimously outlined by the Commission in our April 2014 Further Notice of Proposed Rulemaking.

On May 20, at a meeting with Wireline Bureau staff, the stakeholders asked for additional time to continue to work on a solution. We agreed to an additional two weeks, but if we are going to get this done this year, there is not only a need for consensus, but also time for public comment on any new proposals and for the Commission to evaluate the proposals in light of the comments received. The search for consensus cannot drag on.

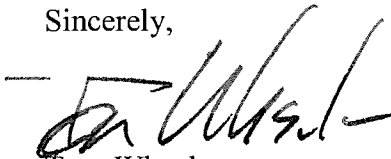

While it is encouraging the stakeholders appear to have come to consensus on the notion of a “two-path” approach to reforming the program that is comprised of both a model-based path and updates to the existing mechanisms, agreement as to structure is a long way from agreement as to substance. Specifically, while the parties agree on the importance of broadband support, the parties have stated that, “consensus has not yet been reached regarding such a broadband-only support mechanism.”

I share your concern about rural broadband and I recognize that different rate-of-return carriers have different equities. Since this is a program designed to help rate-of-return carriers bring service to rural consumers, and we all agree on the need to reform the program to support the deployment of broadband, it is a matter of significant concern that the rate-of-return parties in interest have not reached agreement on an approach that will allocate funding in a way that results in additional rural deployment of broadband in the future.

I recognize the substantial time, effort, and resources that have been invested in this effort to date by stakeholders in the rate-of-return community. And I am committed to finding a path forward by the end of the year. But it is important to have a solution – or set of solutions – that creates the right incentives to deploy modern networks throughout rural America, meets the Commission’s overarching policy objectives, and has the widespread support of the rate-of-return carrier community. Stakeholders have not presented us with that solution yet, but I remain hopeful that the parties will use the extra time they have to address the outstanding issues. Without the support of the nation’s rate-of-return providers of rural service, it is difficult to see how any reform of these universal service programs could successfully deliver on our shared goal of more robust broadband throughout rural America.

I look forward to working with you to make continued progress on the deployment of broadband to consumers throughout rural areas a reality.

Sincerely,

Tom Wheeler

cc: The Honorable Lamar Alexander
The Honorable Tammy Baldwin
The Honorable John Barrasso
The Honorable Michael Bennet
The Honorable Roy Blunt
The Honorable John Boozman
The Honorable Richard M. Burr
The Honorable Maria Cantwell
The Honorable Shelley Moore Capito
The Honorable Bill Cassidy
The Honorable Dan Coats
The Honorable Susan Collins
The Honorable Bob Corker
The Honorable John Cornyn
The Honorable Tom Cotton
The Honorable Michael D. Crapo
The Honorable Steve Daines
The Honorable Joe Donnelly
The Honorable Richard J. Durbin
The Honorable Michael B. Enzi
The Honorable Joni Ernst
The Honorable Deb Fischer
The Honorable Al Franken
The Honorable Cory Gardner
The Honorable Kirsten Gillibrand
The Honorable Lindsey Graham
The Honorable Charles E. Grassley
The Honorable Orrin G. Hatch
The Honorable Heidi Heitkamp
The Honorable Dean Heller
The Honorable John Hoeven
The Honorable James M. Inhofe
The Honorable Johnny Isakson
The Honorable Ron Johnson
The Honorable Tim Kaine
The Honorable Angus King
The Honorable Amy Klobuchar
The Honorable Joe Manchin
The Honorable Claire McCaskill
The Honorable Mitch McConnell
The Honorable Jeff Merkley
The Honorable Jerry Moran
The Honorable Lisa Murkowski

The Honorable Patty Murray
The Honorable Gary Peters
The Honorable Rob Portman
The Honorable Jim Risch
The Honorable Pat Roberts
The Honorable Michael Rounds
The Honorable Brian Schatz
The Honorable Tim Scott
The Honorable Jeanne Shaheen
The Honorable Debbie Stabenow
The Honorable Dan Sullivan
The Honorable Jon Tester
The Honorable John Thune
The Honorable Thom Tillis
The Honorable David Vitter
The Honorable Roger Wicker
The Honorable Ron Wyden

OFFICE OF
THE CHAIRMAN

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION
WASHINGTON

May 29, 2015

The Honorable Tammy Baldwin
United States Senate
717 Hart Senate Office Building
Washington, D.C. 20510

Dear Senator Baldwin:

Thank you for your letter urging the Commission to reform our Universal Service Fund (“USF”) mechanisms to support broadband deployment in rural America. The universal service program is one of the most important tools at our disposal to ensure that consumers and businesses in rural America have the same opportunities as their urban and suburban counterparts to be active participants in the 21st century economy. I share your goal of ensuring that the universal service program better reflects today’s marketplace and technology in areas served by rate-of-return carriers.

As I explained at the Senate Commerce Committee’s FCC Oversight Hearing earlier this year, resolving this issue will require all the stakeholders to work together and make hard decisions to reach consensus on the best path forward. Everybody agrees that the goal of any changes should be supporting broadband in rural areas, but so long as the recipients of USF funding remain divided, achieving those goals remains problematic. Those rate-of-return carriers who provide rural service must coalesce around changes that create the proper incentives to deploy and maintain robust broadband networks. The lack of such a plan will prevent policy makers from making informed decisions about the best way to serve both the rural Americans who use those networks and the ratepayers who contribute that support.

With that in mind, I directed my staff and staff members from the Commission’s Wireline Bureau to meet with stakeholders in the rate-of-return community. In that meeting, which was joined by Commissioner O’Rielly, his staff, and Commissioner Clyburn’s staff, we gave stakeholders thirty days to work together to develop an approach that both has the widespread support of the rate-of-return community and meets the principles unanimously outlined by the Commission in our April 2014 Further Notice of Proposed Rulemaking.

On May 20, at a meeting with Wireline Bureau staff, the stakeholders asked for additional time to continue to work on a solution. We agreed to an additional two weeks, but if we are going to get this done this year, there is not only a need for consensus, but also time for public comment on any new proposals and for the Commission to evaluate the proposals in light of the comments received. The search for consensus cannot drag on.

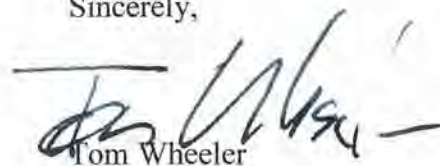

While it is encouraging the stakeholders appear to have come to consensus on the notion of a “two-path” approach to reforming the program that is comprised of both a model-based path and updates to the existing mechanisms, agreement as to structure is a long way from agreement as to substance. Specifically, while the parties agree on the importance of broadband support, the parties have stated that, “consensus has not yet been reached regarding such a broadband-only support mechanism.”

I share your concern about rural broadband and I recognize that different rate-of-return carriers have different equities. Since this is a program designed to help rate-of-return carriers bring service to rural consumers, and we all agree on the need to reform the program to support the deployment of broadband, it is a matter of significant concern that the rate-of-return parties in interest have not reached agreement on an approach that will allocate funding in a way that results in additional rural deployment of broadband in the future.

I recognize the substantial time, effort, and resources that have been invested in this effort to date by stakeholders in the rate-of-return community. And I am committed to finding a path forward by the end of the year. But it is important to have a solution – or set of solutions – that creates the right incentives to deploy modern networks throughout rural America, meets the Commission’s overarching policy objectives, and has the widespread support of the rate-of-return carrier community. Stakeholders have not presented us with that solution yet, but I remain hopeful that the parties will use the extra time they have to address the outstanding issues. Without the support of the nation’s rate-of-return providers of rural service, it is difficult to see how any reform of these universal service programs could successfully deliver on our shared goal of more robust broadband throughout rural America.

I look forward to working with you to make continued progress on the deployment of broadband to consumers throughout rural areas a reality.

Sincerely,

Tom Wheeler

cc: The Honorable Lamar Alexander
The Honorable Kelly Ayotte
The Honorable John Barrasso
The Honorable Michael Bennet
The Honorable Roy Blunt
The Honorable John Boozman
The Honorable Richard M. Burr
The Honorable Maria Cantwell
The Honorable Shelley Moore Capito
The Honorable Bill Cassidy
The Honorable Dan Coats
The Honorable Susan Collins
The Honorable Bob Corker
The Honorable John Cornyn
The Honorable Tom Cotton
The Honorable Michael D. Crapo
The Honorable Steve Daines
The Honorable Joe Donnelly
The Honorable Richard J. Durbin
The Honorable Michael B. Enzi
The Honorable Joni Ernst
The Honorable Deb Fischer
The Honorable Al Franken
The Honorable Cory Gardner
The Honorable Kirsten Gillibrand
The Honorable Lindsey Graham
The Honorable Charles E. Grassley
The Honorable Orrin G. Hatch
The Honorable Heidi Heitkamp
The Honorable Dean Heller
The Honorable John Hoeven
The Honorable James M. Inhofe
The Honorable Johnny Isakson
The Honorable Ron Johnson
The Honorable Tim Kaine
The Honorable Angus King
The Honorable Amy Klobuchar
The Honorable Joe Manchin
The Honorable Claire McCaskill
The Honorable Mitch McConnell
The Honorable Jeff Merkley
The Honorable Jerry Moran

The Honorable Lisa Murkowski
The Honorable Patty Murray
The Honorable Gary Peters
The Honorable Rob Portman
The Honorable Jim Risch
The Honorable Pat Roberts
The Honorable Michael Rounds
The Honorable Brian Schatz
The Honorable Tim Scott
The Honorable Jeanne Shaheen
The Honorable Debbie Stabenow
The Honorable Dan Sullivan
The Honorable Jon Tester
The Honorable John Thune
The Honorable Thom Tillis
The Honorable David Vitter
The Honorable Roger Wicker
The Honorable Ron Wyden

OFFICE OF
THE CHAIRMAN

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION
WASHINGTON

May 29, 2015

The Honorable John Barrasso
United States Senate
307 Dirksen Senate Office Building
Washington, D.C. 20510

Dear Senator Barrasso:

Thank you for your letter urging the Commission to reform our Universal Service Fund (“USF”) mechanisms to support broadband deployment in rural America. The universal service program is one of the most important tools at our disposal to ensure that consumers and businesses in rural America have the same opportunities as their urban and suburban counterparts to be active participants in the 21st century economy. I share your goal of ensuring that the universal service program better reflects today’s marketplace and technology in areas served by rate-of-return carriers.

As I explained at the Senate Commerce Committee’s FCC Oversight Hearing earlier this year, resolving this issue will require all the stakeholders to work together and make hard decisions to reach consensus on the best path forward. Everybody agrees that the goal of any changes should be supporting broadband in rural areas, but so long as the recipients of USF funding remain divided, achieving those goals remains problematic. Those rate-of-return carriers who provide rural service must coalesce around changes that create the proper incentives to deploy and maintain robust broadband networks. The lack of such a plan will prevent policy makers from making informed decisions about the best way to serve both the rural Americans who use those networks and the ratepayers who contribute that support.

With that in mind, I directed my staff and staff members from the Commission’s Wireline Bureau to meet with stakeholders in the rate-of-return community. In that meeting, which was joined by Commissioner O’Rielly, his staff, and Commissioner Clyburn’s staff, we gave stakeholders thirty days to work together to develop an approach that both has the widespread support of the rate-of-return community and meets the principles unanimously outlined by the Commission in our April 2014 Further Notice of Proposed Rulemaking.

On May 20, at a meeting with Wireline Bureau staff, the stakeholders asked for additional time to continue to work on a solution. We agreed to an additional two weeks, but if we are going to get this done this year, there is not only a need for consensus, but also time for public comment on any new proposals and for the Commission to evaluate the proposals in light of the comments received. The search for consensus cannot drag on.

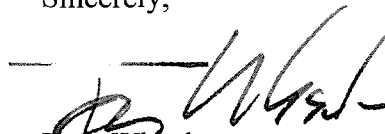

While it is encouraging the stakeholders appear to have come to consensus on the notion of a “two-path” approach to reforming the program that is comprised of both a model-based path and updates to the existing mechanisms, agreement as to structure is a long way from agreement as to substance. Specifically, while the parties agree on the importance of broadband support, the parties have stated that, “consensus has not yet been reached regarding such a broadband-only support mechanism.”

I share your concern about rural broadband and I recognize that different rate-of-return carriers have different equities. Since this is a program designed to help rate-of-return carriers bring service to rural consumers, and we all agree on the need to reform the program to support the deployment of broadband, it is a matter of significant concern that the rate-of-return parties in interest have not reached agreement on an approach that will allocate funding in a way that results in additional rural deployment of broadband in the future.

I recognize the substantial time, effort, and resources that have been invested in this effort to date by stakeholders in the rate-of-return community. And I am committed to finding a path forward by the end of the year. But it is important to have a solution – or set of solutions – that creates the right incentives to deploy modern networks throughout rural America, meets the Commission’s overarching policy objectives, and has the widespread support of the rate-of-return carrier community. Stakeholders have not presented us with that solution yet, but I remain hopeful that the parties will use the extra time they have to address the outstanding issues. Without the support of the nation’s rate-of-return providers of rural service, it is difficult to see how any reform of these universal service programs could successfully deliver on our shared goal of more robust broadband throughout rural America.

I look forward to working with you to make continued progress on the deployment of broadband to consumers throughout rural areas a reality.

Sincerely,

Tom Wheeler

cc: The Honorable Lamar Alexander
The Honorable Kelly Ayotte
The Honorable Tammy Baldwin
The Honorable Michael Bennet
The Honorable Roy Blunt
The Honorable John Boozman
The Honorable Richard M. Burr
The Honorable Maria Cantwell
The Honorable Shelley Moore Capito
The Honorable Bill Cassidy
The Honorable Dan Coats
The Honorable Susan Collins
The Honorable Bob Corker
The Honorable John Cornyn
The Honorable Tom Cotton
The Honorable Michael D. Crapo
The Honorable Steve Daines
The Honorable Joe Donnelly
The Honorable Richard J. Durbin
The Honorable Michael B. Enzi
The Honorable Joni Ernst
The Honorable Deb Fischer
The Honorable Al Franken
The Honorable Cory Gardner
The Honorable Kirsten Gillibrand
The Honorable Lindsey Graham
The Honorable Charles E. Grassley
The Honorable Orrin G. Hatch
The Honorable Heidi Heitkamp
The Honorable Dean Heller
The Honorable John Hoeven
The Honorable James M. Inhofe
The Honorable Johnny Isakson
The Honorable Ron Johnson
The Honorable Tim Kaine
The Honorable Angus King
The Honorable Amy Klobuchar
The Honorable Joe Manchin
The Honorable Claire McCaskill
The Honorable Mitch McConnell
The Honorable Jeff Merkley

The Honorable Jerry Moran
The Honorable Lisa Murkowski
The Honorable Patty Murray
The Honorable Gary Peters
The Honorable Rob Portman
The Honorable Jim Risch
The Honorable Pat Roberts
The Honorable Michael Rounds
The Honorable Brian Schatz
The Honorable Tim Scott
The Honorable Jeanne Shaheen
The Honorable Debbie Stabenow
The Honorable Dan Sullivan
The Honorable Jon Tester
The Honorable John Thune
The Honorable Thom Tillis
The Honorable David Vitter
The Honorable Roger Wicker
The Honorable Ron Wyden

OFFICE OF
THE CHAIRMAN

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION
WASHINGTON

May 29, 2015

The Honorable Michael Bennet
United States Senate
458 Russell Senate Office Building
Washington, D.C. 20510

Dear Senator Bennet:

Thank you for your letter urging the Commission to reform our Universal Service Fund ("USF") mechanisms to support broadband deployment in rural America. The universal service program is one of the most important tools at our disposal to ensure that consumers and businesses in rural America have the same opportunities as their urban and suburban counterparts to be active participants in the 21st century economy. I share your goal of ensuring that the universal service program better reflects today's marketplace and technology in areas served by rate-of-return carriers.

As I explained at the Senate Commerce Committee's FCC Oversight Hearing earlier this year, resolving this issue will require all the stakeholders to work together and make hard decisions to reach consensus on the best path forward. Everybody agrees that the goal of any changes should be supporting broadband in rural areas, but so long as the recipients of USF funding remain divided, achieving those goals remains problematic. Those rate-of-return carriers who provide rural service must coalesce around changes that create the proper incentives to deploy and maintain robust broadband networks. The lack of such a plan will prevent policy makers from making informed decisions about the best way to serve both the rural Americans who use those networks and the ratepayers who contribute that support.

With that in mind, I directed my staff and staff members from the Commission's Wireline Bureau to meet with stakeholders in the rate-of-return community. In that meeting, which was joined by Commissioner O'Rielly, his staff, and Commissioner Clyburn's staff, we gave stakeholders thirty days to work together to develop an approach that both has the widespread support of the rate-of-return community and meets the principles unanimously outlined by the Commission in our April 2014 Further Notice of Proposed Rulemaking.

On May 20, at a meeting with Wireline Bureau staff, the stakeholders asked for additional time to continue to work on a solution. We agreed to an additional two weeks, but if we are going to get this done this year, there is not only a need for consensus, but also time for public comment on any new proposals and for the Commission to evaluate the proposals in light of the comments received. The search for consensus cannot drag on.

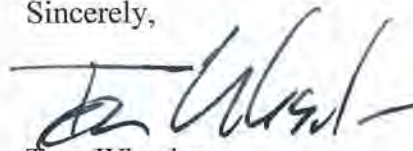

While it is encouraging the stakeholders appear to have come to consensus on the notion of a “two-path” approach to reforming the program that is comprised of both a model-based path and updates to the existing mechanisms, agreement as to structure is a long way from agreement as to substance. Specifically, while the parties agree on the importance of broadband support, the parties have stated that, “consensus has not yet been reached regarding such a broadband-only support mechanism.”

I share your concern about rural broadband and I recognize that different rate-of-return carriers have different equities. Since this is a program designed to help rate-of-return carriers bring service to rural consumers, and we all agree on the need to reform the program to support the deployment of broadband, it is a matter of significant concern that the rate-of-return parties in interest have not reached agreement on an approach that will allocate funding in a way that results in additional rural deployment of broadband in the future.

I recognize the substantial time, effort, and resources that have been invested in this effort to date by stakeholders in the rate-of-return community. And I am committed to finding a path forward by the end of the year. But it is important to have a solution – or set of solutions – that creates the right incentives to deploy modern networks throughout rural America, meets the Commission’s overarching policy objectives, and has the widespread support of the rate-of-return carrier community. Stakeholders have not presented us with that solution yet, but I remain hopeful that the parties will use the extra time they have to address the outstanding issues. Without the support of the nation’s rate-of-return providers of rural service, it is difficult to see how any reform of these universal service programs could successfully deliver on our shared goal of more robust broadband throughout rural America.

I look forward to working with you to make continued progress on the deployment of broadband to consumers throughout rural areas a reality.

Sincerely,

Tom Wheeler

cc: The Honorable Lamar Alexander
The Honorable Kelly Ayotte
The Honorable Tammy Baldwin
The Honorable John Barrasso
The Honorable Roy Blunt
The Honorable John Boozman
The Honorable Richard M. Burr
The Honorable Maria Cantwell
The Honorable Shelley Moore Capito
The Honorable Bill Cassidy
The Honorable Dan Coats
The Honorable Susan Collins
The Honorable Bob Corker
The Honorable John Cornyn
The Honorable Tom Cotton
The Honorable Michael D. Crapo
The Honorable Steve Daines
The Honorable Joe Donnelly
The Honorable Richard J. Durbin
The Honorable Michael B. Enzi
The Honorable Joni Ernst
The Honorable Deb Fischer
The Honorable Al Franken
The Honorable Cory Gardner
The Honorable Kirsten Gillibrand
The Honorable Lindsey Graham
The Honorable Charles E. Grassley
The Honorable Orrin G. Hatch
The Honorable Heidi Heitkamp
The Honorable Dean Heller
The Honorable John Hoeven
The Honorable James M. Inhofe
The Honorable Johnny Isakson
The Honorable Ron Johnson
The Honorable Tim Kaine
The Honorable Angus King
The Honorable Amy Klobuchar
The Honorable Joe Manchin
The Honorable Claire McCaskill
The Honorable Mitch McConnell
The Honorable Jeff Merkley
The Honorable Jerry Moran
The Honorable Lisa Murkowski
The Honorable Patty Murray
The Honorable Gary Peters

The Honorable Rob Portman
The Honorable Jim Risch
The Honorable Pat Roberts
The Honorable Michael Rounds
The Honorable Brian Schatz
The Honorable Tim Scott
The Honorable Jeanne Shaheen
The Honorable Debbie Stabenow
The Honorable Dan Sullivan
The Honorable Jon Tester
The Honorable John Thune
The Honorable Thom Tillis
The Honorable David Vitter
The Honorable Roger Wicker
The Honorable Ron Wyden

OFFICE OF
THE CHAIRMAN

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION
WASHINGTON

May 29, 2015

The Honorable Roy Blunt
United States Senate
260 Russell Senate Office Building
Washington, D.C. 20510

Dear Senator Blunt:

Thank you for your letter urging the Commission to reform our Universal Service Fund ("USF") mechanisms to support broadband deployment in rural America. The universal service program is one of the most important tools at our disposal to ensure that consumers and businesses in rural America have the same opportunities as their urban and suburban counterparts to be active participants in the 21st century economy. I share your goal of ensuring that the universal service program better reflects today's marketplace and technology in areas served by rate-of-return carriers.

As I explained at the Senate Commerce Committee's FCC Oversight Hearing earlier this year, resolving this issue will require all the stakeholders to work together and make hard decisions to reach consensus on the best path forward. Everybody agrees that the goal of any changes should be supporting broadband in rural areas, but so long as the recipients of USF funding remain divided, achieving those goals remains problematic. Those rate-of-return carriers who provide rural service must coalesce around changes that create the proper incentives to deploy and maintain robust broadband networks. The lack of such a plan will prevent policy makers from making informed decisions about the best way to serve both the rural Americans who use those networks and the ratepayers who contribute that support.

With that in mind, I directed my staff and staff members from the Commission's Wireline Bureau to meet with stakeholders in the rate-of-return community. In that meeting, which was joined by Commissioner O'Rielly, his staff, and Commissioner Clyburn's staff, we gave stakeholders thirty days to work together to develop an approach that both has the widespread support of the rate-of-return community and meets the principles unanimously outlined by the Commission in our April 2014 Further Notice of Proposed Rulemaking.

On May 20, at a meeting with Wireline Bureau staff, the stakeholders asked for additional time to continue to work on a solution. We agreed to an additional two weeks, but if we are going to get this done this year, there is not only a need for consensus, but also time for public comment on any new proposals and for the Commission to evaluate the proposals in light of the comments received. The search for consensus cannot drag on.

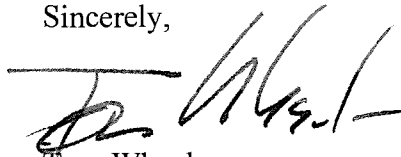

While it is encouraging the stakeholders appear to have come to consensus on the notion of a “two-path” approach to reforming the program that is comprised of both a model-based path and updates to the existing mechanisms, agreement as to structure is a long way from agreement as to substance. Specifically, while the parties agree on the importance of broadband support, the parties have stated that, “consensus has not yet been reached regarding such a broadband-only support mechanism.”

I share your concern about rural broadband and I recognize that different rate-of-return carriers have different equities. Since this is a program designed to help rate-of-return carriers bring service to rural consumers, and we all agree on the need to reform the program to support the deployment of broadband, it is a matter of significant concern that the rate-of-return parties in interest have not reached agreement on an approach that will allocate funding in a way that results in additional rural deployment of broadband in the future.

I recognize the substantial time, effort, and resources that have been invested in this effort to date by stakeholders in the rate-of-return community. And I am committed to finding a path forward by the end of the year. But it is important to have a solution – or set of solutions – that creates the right incentives to deploy modern networks throughout rural America, meets the Commission’s overarching policy objectives, and has the widespread support of the rate-of-return carrier community. Stakeholders have not presented us with that solution yet, but I remain hopeful that the parties will use the extra time they have to address the outstanding issues. Without the support of the nation’s rate-of-return providers of rural service, it is difficult to see how any reform of these universal service programs could successfully deliver on our shared goal of more robust broadband throughout rural America.

I look forward to working with you to make continued progress on the deployment of broadband to consumers throughout rural areas a reality.

Sincerely,

Tom Wheeler

cc: The Honorable Lamar Alexander
The Honorable Kelly Ayotte
The Honorable Tammy Baldwin
The Honorable John Barrasso
The Honorable John Boozman
The Honorable Richard M. Burr
The Honorable Maria Cantwell
The Honorable Shelley Moore Capito
The Honorable Bill Cassidy
The Honorable Dan Coats
The Honorable Susan Collins
The Honorable Bob Corker
The Honorable John Cornyn
The Honorable Tom Cotton
The Honorable Michael D. Crapo
The Honorable Steve Daines
The Honorable Joe Donnelly
The Honorable Richard J. Durbin
The Honorable Michael B. Enzi
The Honorable Joni Ernst
The Honorable Deb Fischer
The Honorable Al Franken
The Honorable Cory Gardner
The Honorable Kirsten Gillibrand
The Honorable Lindsey Graham
The Honorable Charles E. Grassley
The Honorable Orrin G. Hatch
The Honorable Heidi Heitkamp
The Honorable Dean Heller
The Honorable John Hoeven
The Honorable James M. Inhofe
The Honorable Johnny Isakson
The Honorable Ron Johnson
The Honorable Tim Kaine
The Honorable Angus King
The Honorable Amy Klobuchar
The Honorable Joe Manchin
The Honorable Claire McCaskill
The Honorable Mitch McConnell
The Honorable Jeff Merkley
The Honorable Jerry Moran
The Honorable Lisa Murkowski
The Honorable Patty Murray
The Honorable Gary Peters
The Honorable Rob Portman

The Honorable Jim Risch
The Honorable Pat Roberts
The Honorable Michael Rounds
The Honorable Brian Schatz
The Honorable Tim Scott
The Honorable Jeanne Shaheen
The Honorable Debbie Stabenow
The Honorable Dan Sullivan
The Honorable Jon Tester
The Honorable John Thune
The Honorable Thom Tillis
The Honorable David Vitter
The Honorable Roger Wicker
The Honorable Ron Wyden

OFFICE OF
THE CHAIRMAN

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION
WASHINGTON

May 29, 2015

The Honorable John Boozman
United States Senate
320 Hart Senate Office Building
Washington, D.C. 20510

Dear Senator Boozman:

Thank you for your letter urging the Commission to reform our Universal Service Fund ("USF") mechanisms to support broadband deployment in rural America. The universal service program is one of the most important tools at our disposal to ensure that consumers and businesses in rural America have the same opportunities as their urban and suburban counterparts to be active participants in the 21st century economy. I share your goal of ensuring that the universal service program better reflects today's marketplace and technology in areas served by rate-of-return carriers.

As I explained at the Senate Commerce Committee's FCC Oversight Hearing earlier this year, resolving this issue will require all the stakeholders to work together and make hard decisions to reach consensus on the best path forward. Everybody agrees that the goal of any changes should be supporting broadband in rural areas, but so long as the recipients of USF funding remain divided, achieving those goals remains problematic. Those rate-of-return carriers who provide rural service must coalesce around changes that create the proper incentives to deploy and maintain robust broadband networks. The lack of such a plan will prevent policy makers from making informed decisions about the best way to serve both the rural Americans who use those networks and the ratepayers who contribute that support.

With that in mind, I directed my staff and staff members from the Commission's Wireline Bureau to meet with stakeholders in the rate-of-return community. In that meeting, which was joined by Commissioner O'Rielly, his staff, and Commissioner Clyburn's staff, we gave stakeholders thirty days to work together to develop an approach that both has the widespread support of the rate-of-return community and meets the principles unanimously outlined by the Commission in our April 2014 Further Notice of Proposed Rulemaking.

On May 20, at a meeting with Wireline Bureau staff, the stakeholders asked for additional time to continue to work on a solution. We agreed to an additional two weeks, but if we are going to get this done this year, there is not only a need for consensus, but also time for public comment on any new proposals and for the Commission to evaluate the proposals in light of the comments received. The search for consensus cannot drag on.

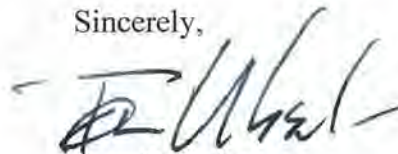

While it is encouraging the stakeholders appear to have come to consensus on the notion of a “two-path” approach to reforming the program that is comprised of both a model-based path and updates to the existing mechanisms, agreement as to structure is a long way from agreement as to substance. Specifically, while the parties agree on the importance of broadband support, the parties have stated that, “consensus has not yet been reached regarding such a broadband-only support mechanism.”

I share your concern about rural broadband and I recognize that different rate-of-return carriers have different equities. Since this is a program designed to help rate-of-return carriers bring service to rural consumers, and we all agree on the need to reform the program to support the deployment of broadband, it is a matter of significant concern that the rate-of-return parties in interest have not reached agreement on an approach that will allocate funding in a way that results in additional rural deployment of broadband in the future.

I recognize the substantial time, effort, and resources that have been invested in this effort to date by stakeholders in the rate-of-return community. And I am committed to finding a path forward by the end of the year. But it is important to have a solution – or set of solutions – that creates the right incentives to deploy modern networks throughout rural America, meets the Commission’s overarching policy objectives, and has the widespread support of the rate-of-return carrier community. Stakeholders have not presented us with that solution yet, but I remain hopeful that the parties will use the extra time they have to address the outstanding issues. Without the support of the nation’s rate-of-return providers of rural service, it is difficult to see how any reform of these universal service programs could successfully deliver on our shared goal of more robust broadband throughout rural America.

I look forward to working with you to make continued progress on the deployment of broadband to consumers throughout rural areas a reality.

Sincerely,

Tom Wheeler

cc: The Honorable Lamar Alexander
The Honorable Kelly Ayotte
The Honorable Tammy Baldwin
The Honorable John Barrasso
The Honorable Roy Blunt
The Honorable Richard M. Burr
The Honorable Maria Cantwell
The Honorable Shelley Moore Capito
The Honorable Bill Cassidy
The Honorable Dan Coats
The Honorable Susan Collins
The Honorable Bob Corker
The Honorable John Cornyn
The Honorable Tom Cotton
The Honorable Michael D. Crapo
The Honorable Steve Daines
The Honorable Joe Donnelly
The Honorable Richard J. Durbin
The Honorable Michael B. Enzi
The Honorable Joni Ernst
The Honorable Deb Fischer
The Honorable Al Franken
The Honorable Cory Gardner
The Honorable Kirsten Gillibrand
The Honorable Lindsey Graham
The Honorable Charles E. Grassley
The Honorable Orrin G. Hatch
The Honorable Heidi Heitkamp
The Honorable Dean Heller
The Honorable John Hoeven
The Honorable James M. Inhofe
The Honorable Johnny Isakson
The Honorable Ron Johnson
The Honorable Tim Kaine
The Honorable Angus King
The Honorable Amy Klobuchar
The Honorable Joe Manchin
The Honorable Claire McCaskill
The Honorable Mitch McConnell
The Honorable Jeff Merkley
The Honorable Jerry Moran
The Honorable Lisa Murkowski
The Honorable Patty Murray
The Honorable Gary Peters
The Honorable Rob Portman

The Honorable Jim Risch
The Honorable Pat Roberts
The Honorable Michael Rounds
The Honorable Brian Schatz
The Honorable Tim Scott
The Honorable Jeanne Shaheen
The Honorable Debbie Stabenow
The Honorable Dan Sullivan
The Honorable Jon Tester
The Honorable John Thune
The Honorable Thom Tillis
The Honorable David Vitter
The Honorable Roger Wicker
The Honorable Ron Wyden

OFFICE OF
THE CHAIRMAN

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION
WASHINGTON

May 29, 2015

The Honorable Richard M. Burr
United States Senate
217 Russell Senate Office Building
Washington, D.C. 20510

Dear Senator Burr:

Thank you for your letter urging the Commission to reform our Universal Service Fund (“USF”) mechanisms to support broadband deployment in rural America. The universal service program is one of the most important tools at our disposal to ensure that consumers and businesses in rural America have the same opportunities as their urban and suburban counterparts to be active participants in the 21st century economy. I share your goal of ensuring that the universal service program better reflects today’s marketplace and technology in areas served by rate-of-return carriers.

As I explained at the Senate Commerce Committee’s FCC Oversight Hearing earlier this year, resolving this issue will require all the stakeholders to work together and make hard decisions to reach consensus on the best path forward. Everybody agrees that the goal of any changes should be supporting broadband in rural areas, but so long as the recipients of USF funding remain divided, achieving those goals remains problematic. Those rate-of-return carriers who provide rural service must coalesce around changes that create the proper incentives to deploy and maintain robust broadband networks. The lack of such a plan will prevent policy makers from making informed decisions about the best way to serve both the rural Americans who use those networks and the ratepayers who contribute that support.

With that in mind, I directed my staff and staff members from the Commission’s Wireline Bureau to meet with stakeholders in the rate-of-return community. In that meeting, which was joined by Commissioner O’Rielly, his staff, and Commissioner Clyburn’s staff, we gave stakeholders thirty days to work together to develop an approach that both has the widespread support of the rate-of-return community and meets the principles unanimously outlined by the Commission in our April 2014 Further Notice of Proposed Rulemaking.

On May 20, at a meeting with Wireline Bureau staff, the stakeholders asked for additional time to continue to work on a solution. We agreed to an additional two weeks, but if we are going to get this done this year, there is not only a need for consensus, but also time for public comment on any new proposals and for the Commission to evaluate the proposals in light of the comments received. The search for consensus cannot drag on.

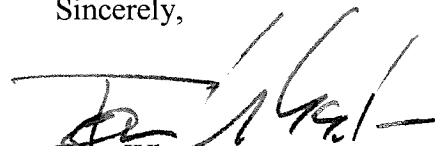

While it is encouraging the stakeholders appear to have come to consensus on the notion of a “two-path” approach to reforming the program that is comprised of both a model-based path and updates to the existing mechanisms, agreement as to structure is a long way from agreement as to substance. Specifically, while the parties agree on the importance of broadband support, the parties have stated that, “consensus has not yet been reached regarding such a broadband-only support mechanism.”

I share your concern about rural broadband and I recognize that different rate-of-return carriers have different equities. Since this is a program designed to help rate-of-return carriers bring service to rural consumers, and we all agree on the need to reform the program to support the deployment of broadband, it is a matter of significant concern that the rate-of-return parties in interest have not reached agreement on an approach that will allocate funding in a way that results in additional rural deployment of broadband in the future.

I recognize the substantial time, effort, and resources that have been invested in this effort to date by stakeholders in the rate-of-return community. And I am committed to finding a path forward by the end of the year. But it is important to have a solution – or set of solutions – that creates the right incentives to deploy modern networks throughout rural America, meets the Commission’s overarching policy objectives, and has the widespread support of the rate-of-return carrier community. Stakeholders have not presented us with that solution yet, but I remain hopeful that the parties will use the extra time they have to address the outstanding issues. Without the support of the nation’s rate-of-return providers of rural service, it is difficult to see how any reform of these universal service programs could successfully deliver on our shared goal of more robust broadband throughout rural America.

I look forward to working with you to make continued progress on the deployment of broadband to consumers throughout rural areas a reality.

Sincerely,

Tom Wheeler

cc: The Honorable Lamar Alexander
The Honorable Kelly Ayotte
The Honorable Tammy Baldwin
The Honorable John Barrasso
The Honorable Michael Bennet
The Honorable Roy Blunt
The Honorable John Boozman
The Honorable Maria Cantwell
The Honorable Shelley Moore Capito
The Honorable Bill Cassidy
The Honorable Dan Coats
The Honorable Susan Collins
The Honorable Bob Corker
The Honorable John Cornyn
The Honorable Tom Cotton
The Honorable Michael D. Crapo
The Honorable Steve Daines
The Honorable Joe Donnelly
The Honorable Richard J. Durbin
The Honorable Michael B. Enzi
The Honorable Joni Ernst
The Honorable Deb Fischer
The Honorable Al Franken
The Honorable Cory Gardner
The Honorable Kirsten Gillibrand
The Honorable Lindsey Graham
The Honorable Charles E. Grassley
The Honorable Orrin G. Hatch
The Honorable Heidi Heitkamp
The Honorable Dean Heller
The Honorable John Hoeven
The Honorable James M. Inhofe
The Honorable Johnny Isakson
The Honorable Ron Johnson
The Honorable Tim Kaine
The Honorable Angus King
The Honorable Amy Klobuchar
The Honorable Joe Manchin
The Honorable Claire McCaskill
The Honorable Mitch McConnell
The Honorable Jeff Merkley
The Honorable Jerry Moran
The Honorable Lisa Murkowski
The Honorable Patty Murray

The Honorable Gary Peters
The Honorable Rob Portman
The Honorable Jim Risch
The Honorable Pat Roberts
The Honorable Michael Rounds
The Honorable Brian Schatz
The Honorable Tim Scott
The Honorable Jeanne Shaheen
The Honorable Debbie Stabenow
The Honorable Dan Sullivan
The Honorable Jon Tester
The Honorable John Thune
The Honorable Thom Tillis
The Honorable David Vitter
The Honorable Roger Wicker
The Honorable Ron Wyden

OFFICE OF
THE CHAIRMAN

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION
WASHINGTON

May 29, 2015

The Honorable Maria Cantwell
United States Senate
311 Hart Senate Office Building
Washington, D.C. 20510

Dear Senator Cantwell:

Thank you for your letter urging the Commission to reform our Universal Service Fund (“USF”) mechanisms to support broadband deployment in rural America. The universal service program is one of the most important tools at our disposal to ensure that consumers and businesses in rural America have the same opportunities as their urban and suburban counterparts to be active participants in the 21st century economy. I share your goal of ensuring that the universal service program better reflects today’s marketplace and technology in areas served by rate-of-return carriers.

As I explained at the Senate Commerce Committee’s FCC Oversight Hearing earlier this year, resolving this issue will require all the stakeholders to work together and make hard decisions to reach consensus on the best path forward. Everybody agrees that the goal of any changes should be supporting broadband in rural areas, but so long as the recipients of USF funding remain divided, achieving those goals remains problematic. Those rate-of-return carriers who provide rural service must coalesce around changes that create the proper incentives to deploy and maintain robust broadband networks. The lack of such a plan will prevent policy makers from making informed decisions about the best way to serve both the rural Americans who use those networks and the ratepayers who contribute that support.

With that in mind, I directed my staff and staff members from the Commission’s Wireline Bureau to meet with stakeholders in the rate-of-return community. In that meeting, which was joined by Commissioner O’Rielly, his staff, and Commissioner Clyburn’s staff, we gave stakeholders thirty days to work together to develop an approach that both has the widespread support of the rate-of-return community and meets the principles unanimously outlined by the Commission in our April 2014 Further Notice of Proposed Rulemaking.

On May 20, at a meeting with Wireline Bureau staff, the stakeholders asked for additional time to continue to work on a solution. We agreed to an additional two weeks, but if we are going to get this done this year, there is not only a need for consensus, but also time for public comment on any new proposals and for the Commission to evaluate the proposals in light of the comments received. The search for consensus cannot drag on.

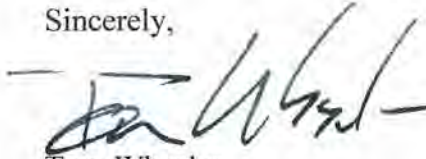

While it is encouraging the stakeholders appear to have come to consensus on the notion of a “two-path” approach to reforming the program that is comprised of both a model-based path and updates to the existing mechanisms, agreement as to structure is a long way from agreement as to substance. Specifically, while the parties agree on the importance of broadband support, the parties have stated that, “consensus has not yet been reached regarding such a broadband-only support mechanism.”

I share your concern about rural broadband and I recognize that different rate-of-return carriers have different equities. Since this is a program designed to help rate-of-return carriers bring service to rural consumers, and we all agree on the need to reform the program to support the deployment of broadband, it is a matter of significant concern that the rate-of-return parties in interest have not reached agreement on an approach that will allocate funding in a way that results in additional rural deployment of broadband in the future.

I recognize the substantial time, effort, and resources that have been invested in this effort to date by stakeholders in the rate-of-return community. And I am committed to finding a path forward by the end of the year. But it is important to have a solution – or set of solutions – that creates the right incentives to deploy modern networks throughout rural America, meets the Commission’s overarching policy objectives, and has the widespread support of the rate-of-return carrier community. Stakeholders have not presented us with that solution yet, but I remain hopeful that the parties will use the extra time they have to address the outstanding issues. Without the support of the nation’s rate-of-return providers of rural service, it is difficult to see how any reform of these universal service programs could successfully deliver on our shared goal of more robust broadband throughout rural America.

I look forward to working with you to make continued progress on the deployment of broadband to consumers throughout rural areas a reality.

Sincerely,

Tom Wheeler

cc: The Honorable Lamar Alexander
The Honorable Kelly Ayotte
The Honorable Tammy Baldwin
The Honorable John Barrasso
The Honorable Michael Bennet
The Honorable Roy Blunt
The Honorable John Boozman
The Honorable Richard M. Burr
The Honorable Shelley Moore Capito
The Honorable Bill Cassidy
The Honorable Dan Coats
The Honorable Susan Collins
The Honorable Bob Corker
The Honorable John Cornyn
The Honorable Tom Cotton
The Honorable Michael D. Crapo
The Honorable Steve Daines
The Honorable Joe Donnelly
The Honorable Richard J. Durbin
The Honorable Michael B. Enzi
The Honorable Joni Ernst
The Honorable Deb Fischer
The Honorable Al Franken
The Honorable Cory Gardner
The Honorable Kirsten Gillibrand
The Honorable Lindsey Graham
The Honorable Charles E. Grassley
The Honorable Orrin G. Hatch
The Honorable Heidi Heitkamp
The Honorable Dean Heller
The Honorable John Hoeven
The Honorable James M. Inhofe
The Honorable Johnny Isakson
The Honorable Ron Johnson
The Honorable Tim Kaine
The Honorable Angus King
The Honorable Amy Klobuchar
The Honorable Joe Manchin
The Honorable Claire McCaskill
The Honorable Mitch McConnell
The Honorable Jeff Merkley
The Honorable Jerry Moran
The Honorable Lisa Murkowski
The Honorable Patty Murray

The Honorable Gary Peters
The Honorable Rob Portman
The Honorable Jim Risch
The Honorable Pat Roberts
The Honorable Michael Rounds
The Honorable Brian Schatz
The Honorable Tim Scott
The Honorable Jeanne Shaheen
The Honorable Debbie Stabenow
The Honorable Dan Sullivan
The Honorable Jon Tester
The Honorable John Thune
The Honorable Thom Tillis
The Honorable David Vitter
The Honorable Roger Wicker
The Honorable Ron Wyden

OFFICE OF
THE CHAIRMAN

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION
WASHINGTON

May 29, 2015

The Honorable Shelley Moore Capito
United States Senate
2366 Rayburn House Office Building
Washington, D.C. 20510

Dear Senator Capito:

Thank you for your letter urging the Commission to reform our Universal Service Fund (“USF”) mechanisms to support broadband deployment in rural America. The universal service program is one of the most important tools at our disposal to ensure that consumers and businesses in rural America have the same opportunities as their urban and suburban counterparts to be active participants in the 21st century economy. I share your goal of ensuring that the universal service program better reflects today’s marketplace and technology in areas served by rate-of-return carriers.

As I explained at the Senate Commerce Committee’s FCC Oversight Hearing earlier this year, resolving this issue will require all the stakeholders to work together and make hard decisions to reach consensus on the best path forward. Everybody agrees that the goal of any changes should be supporting broadband in rural areas, but so long as the recipients of USF funding remain divided, achieving those goals remains problematic. Those rate-of-return carriers who provide rural service must coalesce around changes that create the proper incentives to deploy and maintain robust broadband networks. The lack of such a plan will prevent policy makers from making informed decisions about the best way to serve both the rural Americans who use those networks and the ratepayers who contribute that support.

With that in mind, I directed my staff and staff members from the Commission’s Wireline Bureau to meet with stakeholders in the rate-of-return community. In that meeting, which was joined by Commissioner O’Rielly, his staff, and Commissioner Clyburn’s staff, we gave stakeholders thirty days to work together to develop an approach that both has the widespread support of the rate-of-return community and meets the principles unanimously outlined by the Commission in our April 2014 Further Notice of Proposed Rulemaking.

On May 20, at a meeting with Wireline Bureau staff, the stakeholders asked for additional time to continue to work on a solution. We agreed to an additional two weeks, but if we are going to get this done this year, there is not only a need for consensus, but also time for public comment on any new proposals and for the Commission to evaluate the proposals in light of the comments received. The search for consensus cannot drag on.

While it is encouraging the stakeholders appear to have come to consensus on the notion of a “two-path” approach to reforming the program that is comprised of both a model-based path and updates to the existing mechanisms, agreement as to structure is a long way from agreement as to substance. Specifically, while the parties agree on the importance of broadband support, the parties have stated that, “consensus has not yet been reached regarding such a broadband-only support mechanism.”

I share your concern about rural broadband and I recognize that different rate-of-return carriers have different equities. Since this is a program designed to help rate-of-return carriers bring service to rural consumers, and we all agree on the need to reform the program to support the deployment of broadband, it is a matter of significant concern that the rate-of-return parties in interest have not reached agreement on an approach that will allocate funding in a way that results in additional rural deployment of broadband in the future.

I recognize the substantial time, effort, and resources that have been invested in this effort to date by stakeholders in the rate-of-return community. And I am committed to finding a path forward by the end of the year. But it is important to have a solution – or set of solutions – that creates the right incentives to deploy modern networks throughout rural America, meets the Commission’s overarching policy objectives, and has the widespread support of the rate-of-return carrier community. Stakeholders have not presented us with that solution yet, but I remain hopeful that the parties will use the extra time they have to address the outstanding issues. Without the support of the nation’s rate-of-return providers of rural service, it is difficult to see how any reform of these universal service programs could successfully deliver on our shared goal of more robust broadband throughout rural America.

I look forward to working with you to make continued progress on the deployment of broadband to consumers throughout rural areas a reality.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read "Tom Wheeler", with a horizontal line above it.

Tom Wheeler

cc: The Honorable Lamar Alexander
The Honorable Kelly Ayotte
The Honorable Tammy Baldwin
The Honorable John Barrasso
The Honorable Michael Bennet
The Honorable Roy Blunt
The Honorable John Boozman
The Honorable Richard M. Burr
The Honorable Maria Cantwell
The Honorable Bill Cassidy
The Honorable Dan Coats
The Honorable Susan Collins
The Honorable Bob Corker
The Honorable John Cornyn
The Honorable Tom Cotton
The Honorable Michael D. Crapo
The Honorable Steve Daines
The Honorable Joe Donnelly
The Honorable Richard J. Durbin
The Honorable Michael B. Enzi
The Honorable Joni Ernst
The Honorable Deb Fischer
The Honorable Al Franken
The Honorable Cory Gardner
The Honorable Kirsten Gillibrand
The Honorable Lindsey Graham
The Honorable Charles E. Grassley
The Honorable Orrin G. Hatch
The Honorable Heidi Heitkamp
The Honorable Dean Heller
The Honorable John Hoeven
The Honorable James M. Inhofe
The Honorable Johnny Isakson
The Honorable Ron Johnson
The Honorable Tim Kaine
The Honorable Angus King
The Honorable Amy Klobuchar
The Honorable Joe Manchin
The Honorable Claire McCaskill
The Honorable Mitch McConnell
The Honorable Jeff Merkley
The Honorable Jerry Moran
The Honorable Lisa Murkowski
The Honorable Patty Murray

The Honorable Gary Peters
The Honorable Rob Portman
The Honorable Jim Risch
The Honorable Pat Roberts
The Honorable Michael Rounds
The Honorable Brian Schatz
The Honorable Tim Scott
The Honorable Jeanne Shaheen
The Honorable Debbie Stabenow
The Honorable Dan Sullivan
The Honorable Jon Tester
The Honorable John Thune
The Honorable Thom Tillis
The Honorable David Vitter
The Honorable Roger Wicker
The Honorable Ron Wyden

OFFICE OF
THE CHAIRMAN

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION
WASHINGTON

May 29, 2015

The Honorable Bill Cassidy
United States Senate
703 Hart Senate Office Building
Washington, D.C. 20510

Dear Senator Cassidy:

Thank you for your letter urging the Commission to reform our Universal Service Fund (“USF”) mechanisms to support broadband deployment in rural America. The universal service program is one of the most important tools at our disposal to ensure that consumers and businesses in rural America have the same opportunities as their urban and suburban counterparts to be active participants in the 21st century economy. I share your goal of ensuring that the universal service program better reflects today’s marketplace and technology in areas served by rate-of-return carriers.

As I explained at the Senate Commerce Committee’s FCC Oversight Hearing earlier this year, resolving this issue will require all the stakeholders to work together and make hard decisions to reach consensus on the best path forward. Everybody agrees that the goal of any changes should be supporting broadband in rural areas, but so long as the recipients of USF funding remain divided, achieving those goals remains problematic. Those rate-of-return carriers who provide rural service must coalesce around changes that create the proper incentives to deploy and maintain robust broadband networks. The lack of such a plan will prevent policy makers from making informed decisions about the best way to serve both the rural Americans who use those networks and the ratepayers who contribute that support.

With that in mind, I directed my staff and staff members from the Commission’s Wireline Bureau to meet with stakeholders in the rate-of-return community. In that meeting, which was joined by Commissioner O’Rielly, his staff, and Commissioner Clyburn’s staff, we gave stakeholders thirty days to work together to develop an approach that both has the widespread support of the rate-of-return community and meets the principles unanimously outlined by the Commission in our April 2014 Further Notice of Proposed Rulemaking.

On May 20, at a meeting with Wireline Bureau staff, the stakeholders asked for additional time to continue to work on a solution. We agreed to an additional two weeks, but if we are going to get this done this year, there is not only a need for consensus, but also time for public comment on any new proposals and for the Commission to evaluate the proposals in light of the comments received. The search for consensus cannot drag on.

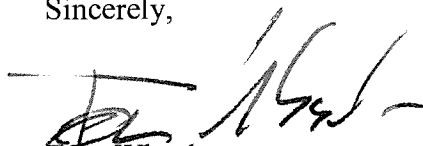

While it is encouraging the stakeholders appear to have come to consensus on the notion of a “two-path” approach to reforming the program that is comprised of both a model-based path and updates to the existing mechanisms, agreement as to structure is a long way from agreement as to substance. Specifically, while the parties agree on the importance of broadband support, the parties have stated that, “consensus has not yet been reached regarding such a broadband-only support mechanism.”

I share your concern about rural broadband and I recognize that different rate-of-return carriers have different equities. Since this is a program designed to help rate-of-return carriers bring service to rural consumers, and we all agree on the need to reform the program to support the deployment of broadband, it is a matter of significant concern that the rate-of-return parties in interest have not reached agreement on an approach that will allocate funding in a way that results in additional rural deployment of broadband in the future.

I recognize the substantial time, effort, and resources that have been invested in this effort to date by stakeholders in the rate-of-return community. And I am committed to finding a path forward by the end of the year. But it is important to have a solution – or set of solutions – that creates the right incentives to deploy modern networks throughout rural America, meets the Commission’s overarching policy objectives, and has the widespread support of the rate-of-return carrier community. Stakeholders have not presented us with that solution yet, but I remain hopeful that the parties will use the extra time they have to address the outstanding issues. Without the support of the nation’s rate-of-return providers of rural service, it is difficult to see how any reform of these universal service programs could successfully deliver on our shared goal of more robust broadband throughout rural America.

I look forward to working with you to make continued progress on the deployment of broadband to consumers throughout rural areas a reality.

Sincerely,

Tom Wheeler

cc: The Honorable Lamar Alexander
The Honorable Kelly Ayotte
The Honorable Tammy Baldwin
The Honorable John Barrasso
The Honorable Michael Bennet
The Honorable Roy Blunt
The Honorable John Boozman
The Honorable Richard M. Burr
The Honorable Maria Cantwell
The Honorable Shelley Moore Capito
The Honorable Dan Coats
The Honorable Susan Collins
The Honorable Bob Corker
The Honorable John Cornyn
The Honorable Tom Cotton
The Honorable Michael D. Crapo
The Honorable Steve Daines
The Honorable Joe Donnelly
The Honorable Richard J. Durbin
The Honorable Michael B. Enzi
The Honorable Joni Ernst
The Honorable Deb Fischer
The Honorable Al Franken
The Honorable Cory Gardner
The Honorable Kirsten Gillibrand
The Honorable Lindsey Graham
The Honorable Charles E. Grassley
The Honorable Orrin G. Hatch
The Honorable Heidi Heitkamp
The Honorable Dean Heller
The Honorable John Hoeven
The Honorable James M. Inhofe
The Honorable Johnny Isakson
The Honorable Ron Johnson
The Honorable Tim Kaine
The Honorable Angus King
The Honorable Amy Klobuchar
The Honorable Joe Manchin
The Honorable Claire McCaskill
The Honorable Mitch McConnell
The Honorable Jeff Merkley
The Honorable Jerry Moran
The Honorable Lisa Murkowski
The Honorable Patty Murray

The Honorable Gary Peters
The Honorable Rob Portman
The Honorable Jim Risch
The Honorable Pat Roberts
The Honorable Michael Rounds
The Honorable Brian Schatz
The Honorable Tim Scott
The Honorable Jeanne Shaheen
The Honorable Debbie Stabenow
The Honorable Dan Sullivan
The Honorable Jon Tester
The Honorable John Thune
The Honorable Thom Tillis
The Honorable David Vitter
The Honorable Roger Wicker
The Honorable Ron Wyden

OFFICE OF
THE CHAIRMAN

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION
WASHINGTON

May 29, 2015

The Honorable Dan Coats
United States Senate
493 Russell Senate Office Building
Washington, D.C. 20510

Dear Senator Coats:

Thank you for your letter urging the Commission to reform our Universal Service Fund (“USF”) mechanisms to support broadband deployment in rural America. The universal service program is one of the most important tools at our disposal to ensure that consumers and businesses in rural America have the same opportunities as their urban and suburban counterparts to be active participants in the 21st century economy. I share your goal of ensuring that the universal service program better reflects today’s marketplace and technology in areas served by rate-of-return carriers.

As I explained at the Senate Commerce Committee’s FCC Oversight Hearing earlier this year, resolving this issue will require all the stakeholders to work together and make hard decisions to reach consensus on the best path forward. Everybody agrees that the goal of any changes should be supporting broadband in rural areas, but so long as the recipients of USF funding remain divided, achieving those goals remains problematic. Those rate-of-return carriers who provide rural service must coalesce around changes that create the proper incentives to deploy and maintain robust broadband networks. The lack of such a plan will prevent policy makers from making informed decisions about the best way to serve both the rural Americans who use those networks and the ratepayers who contribute that support.

With that in mind, I directed my staff and staff members from the Commission’s Wireline Bureau to meet with stakeholders in the rate-of-return community. In that meeting, which was joined by Commissioner O’Rielly, his staff, and Commissioner Clyburn’s staff, we gave stakeholders thirty days to work together to develop an approach that both has the widespread support of the rate-of-return community and meets the principles unanimously outlined by the Commission in our April 2014 Further Notice of Proposed Rulemaking.

On May 20, at a meeting with Wireline Bureau staff, the stakeholders asked for additional time to continue to work on a solution. We agreed to an additional two weeks, but if we are going to get this done this year, there is not only a need for consensus, but also time for public comment on any new proposals and for the Commission to evaluate the proposals in light of the comments received. The search for consensus cannot drag on.

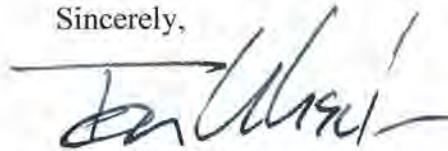

While it is encouraging the stakeholders appear to have come to consensus on the notion of a “two-path” approach to reforming the program that is comprised of both a model-based path and updates to the existing mechanisms, agreement as to structure is a long way from agreement as to substance. Specifically, while the parties agree on the importance of broadband support, the parties have stated that, “consensus has not yet been reached regarding such a broadband-only support mechanism.”

I share your concern about rural broadband and I recognize that different rate-of-return carriers have different equities. Since this is a program designed to help rate-of-return carriers bring service to rural consumers, and we all agree on the need to reform the program to support the deployment of broadband, it is a matter of significant concern that the rate-of-return parties in interest have not reached agreement on an approach that will allocate funding in a way that results in additional rural deployment of broadband in the future.

I recognize the substantial time, effort, and resources that have been invested in this effort to date by stakeholders in the rate-of-return community. And I am committed to finding a path forward by the end of the year. But it is important to have a solution – or set of solutions – that creates the right incentives to deploy modern networks throughout rural America, meets the Commission’s overarching policy objectives, and has the widespread support of the rate-of-return carrier community. Stakeholders have not presented us with that solution yet, but I remain hopeful that the parties will use the extra time they have to address the outstanding issues. Without the support of the nation’s rate-of-return providers of rural service, it is difficult to see how any reform of these universal service programs could successfully deliver on our shared goal of more robust broadband throughout rural America.

I look forward to working with you to make continued progress on the deployment of broadband to consumers throughout rural areas a reality.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read "Tom Wheeler", with a stylized flourish at the end.

Tom Wheeler

cc: The Honorable Lamar Alexander
The Honorable Kelly Ayotte
The Honorable Tammy Baldwin
The Honorable John Barrasso
The Honorable Michael Bennet
The Honorable Roy Blunt
The Honorable John Boozman
The Honorable Richard M. Burr
The Honorable Maria Cantwell
The Honorable Shelley Moore Capito
The Honorable Bill Cassidy
The Honorable Susan Collins
The Honorable Bob Corker
The Honorable John Cornyn
The Honorable Tom Cotton
The Honorable Michael D. Crapo
The Honorable Steve Daines
The Honorable Joe Donnelly
The Honorable Richard J. Durbin
The Honorable Michael B. Enzi
The Honorable Joni Ernst
The Honorable Deb Fischer
The Honorable Al Franken
The Honorable Cory Gardner
The Honorable Kirsten Gillibrand
The Honorable Lindsey Graham
The Honorable Charles E. Grassley
The Honorable Orrin G. Hatch
The Honorable Heidi Heitkamp
The Honorable Dean Heller
The Honorable John Hoeven
The Honorable James M. Inhofe
The Honorable Johnny Isakson
The Honorable Ron Johnson
The Honorable Tim Kaine
The Honorable Angus King
The Honorable Amy Klobuchar
The Honorable Joe Manchin
The Honorable Claire McCaskill
The Honorable Mitch McConnell
The Honorable Jeff Merkley
The Honorable Jerry Moran
The Honorable Lisa Murkowski
The Honorable Patty Murray

The Honorable Gary Peters
The Honorable Rob Portman
The Honorable Jim Risch
The Honorable Pat Roberts
The Honorable Michael Rounds
The Honorable Brian Schatz
The Honorable Tim Scott
The Honorable Jeanne Shaheen
The Honorable Debbie Stabenow
The Honorable Dan Sullivan
The Honorable Jon Tester
The Honorable John Thune
The Honorable Thom Tillis
The Honorable David Vitter
The Honorable Roger Wicker
The Honorable Ron Wyden

OFFICE OF
THE CHAIRMAN

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION
WASHINGTON

May 29, 2015

The Honorable Susan Collins
United States Senate
413 Dirksen Senate Office Building
Washington, D.C. 20510

Dear Senator Collins:

Thank you for your letter urging the Commission to reform our Universal Service Fund ("USF") mechanisms to support broadband deployment in rural America. The universal service program is one of the most important tools at our disposal to ensure that consumers and businesses in rural America have the same opportunities as their urban and suburban counterparts to be active participants in the 21st century economy. I share your goal of ensuring that the universal service program better reflects today's marketplace and technology in areas served by rate-of-return carriers.

As I explained at the Senate Commerce Committee's FCC Oversight Hearing earlier this year, resolving this issue will require all the stakeholders to work together and make hard decisions to reach consensus on the best path forward. Everybody agrees that the goal of any changes should be supporting broadband in rural areas, but so long as the recipients of USF funding remain divided, achieving those goals remains problematic. Those rate-of-return carriers who provide rural service must coalesce around changes that create the proper incentives to deploy and maintain robust broadband networks. The lack of such a plan will prevent policy makers from making informed decisions about the best way to serve both the rural Americans who use those networks and the ratepayers who contribute that support.

With that in mind, I directed my staff and staff members from the Commission's Wireline Bureau to meet with stakeholders in the rate-of-return community. In that meeting, which was joined by Commissioner O'Rielly, his staff, and Commissioner Clyburn's staff, we gave stakeholders thirty days to work together to develop an approach that both has the widespread support of the rate-of-return community and meets the principles unanimously outlined by the Commission in our April 2014 Further Notice of Proposed Rulemaking.

On May 20, at a meeting with Wireline Bureau staff, the stakeholders asked for additional time to continue to work on a solution. We agreed to an additional two weeks, but if we are going to get this done this year, there is not only a need for consensus, but also time for public comment on any new proposals and for the Commission to evaluate the proposals in light of the comments received. The search for consensus cannot drag on.

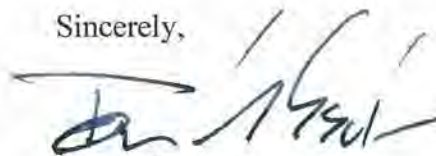

While it is encouraging the stakeholders appear to have come to consensus on the notion of a “two-path” approach to reforming the program that is comprised of both a model-based path and updates to the existing mechanisms, agreement as to structure is a long way from agreement as to substance. Specifically, while the parties agree on the importance of broadband support, the parties have stated that, “consensus has not yet been reached regarding such a broadband-only support mechanism.”

I share your concern about rural broadband and I recognize that different rate-of-return carriers have different equities. Since this is a program designed to help rate-of-return carriers bring service to rural consumers, and we all agree on the need to reform the program to support the deployment of broadband, it is a matter of significant concern that the rate-of-return parties in interest have not reached agreement on an approach that will allocate funding in a way that results in additional rural deployment of broadband in the future.

I recognize the substantial time, effort, and resources that have been invested in this effort to date by stakeholders in the rate-of-return community. And I am committed to finding a path forward by the end of the year. But it is important to have a solution – or set of solutions – that creates the right incentives to deploy modern networks throughout rural America, meets the Commission’s overarching policy objectives, and has the widespread support of the rate-of-return carrier community. Stakeholders have not presented us with that solution yet, but I remain hopeful that the parties will use the extra time they have to address the outstanding issues. Without the support of the nation’s rate-of-return providers of rural service, it is difficult to see how any reform of these universal service programs could successfully deliver on our shared goal of more robust broadband throughout rural America.

I look forward to working with you to make continued progress on the deployment of broadband to consumers throughout rural areas a reality.

Sincerely,

Tom Wheeler

cc: The Honorable Lamar Alexander
The Honorable Kelly Ayotte
The Honorable Tammy Baldwin
The Honorable John Barrasso
The Honorable Michael Bennet
The Honorable Roy Blunt
The Honorable John Boozman
The Honorable Richard M. Burr
The Honorable Maria Cantwell
The Honorable Shelley Moore Capito
The Honorable Bill Cassidy
The Honorable Dan Coats
The Honorable Bob Corker
The Honorable John Cornyn
The Honorable Tom Cotton
The Honorable Michael D. Crapo
The Honorable Steve Daines
The Honorable Joe Donnelly
The Honorable Richard J. Durbin
The Honorable Michael B. Enzi
The Honorable Joni Ernst
The Honorable Deb Fischer
The Honorable Al Franken
The Honorable Cory Gardner
The Honorable Kirsten Gillibrand
The Honorable Lindsey Graham
The Honorable Charles E. Grassley
The Honorable Orrin G. Hatch
The Honorable Heidi Heitkamp
The Honorable Dean Heller
The Honorable John Hoeven
The Honorable James M. Inhofe
The Honorable Johnny Isakson
The Honorable Ron Johnson
The Honorable Tim Kaine
The Honorable Angus King
The Honorable Amy Klobuchar
The Honorable Joe Manchin
The Honorable Claire McCaskill
The Honorable Mitch McConnell
The Honorable Jeff Merkley
The Honorable Jerry Moran
The Honorable Lisa Murkowski
The Honorable Patty Murray

The Honorable Gary Peters
The Honorable Rob Portman
The Honorable Jim Risch
The Honorable Pat Roberts
The Honorable Michael Rounds
The Honorable Brian Schatz
The Honorable Tim Scott
The Honorable Jeanne Shaheen
The Honorable Debbie Stabenow
The Honorable Dan Sullivan
The Honorable Jon Tester
The Honorable John Thune
The Honorable Thom Tillis
The Honorable David Vitter
The Honorable Roger Wicker
The Honorable Ron Wyden

OFFICE OF
THE CHAIRMAN

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION
WASHINGTON

May 29, 2015

The Honorable Bob Corker
United States Senate
185 Dirksen Senate Office Building
Washington, D.C. 20510

Dear Senator Corker:

Thank you for your letter urging the Commission to reform our Universal Service Fund (“USF”) mechanisms to support broadband deployment in rural America. The universal service program is one of the most important tools at our disposal to ensure that consumers and businesses in rural America have the same opportunities as their urban and suburban counterparts to be active participants in the 21st century economy. I share your goal of ensuring that the universal service program better reflects today’s marketplace and technology in areas served by rate-of-return carriers.

As I explained at the Senate Commerce Committee’s FCC Oversight Hearing earlier this year, resolving this issue will require all the stakeholders to work together and make hard decisions to reach consensus on the best path forward. Everybody agrees that the goal of any changes should be supporting broadband in rural areas, but so long as the recipients of USF funding remain divided, achieving those goals remains problematic. Those rate-of-return carriers who provide rural service must coalesce around changes that create the proper incentives to deploy and maintain robust broadband networks. The lack of such a plan will prevent policy makers from making informed decisions about the best way to serve both the rural Americans who use those networks and the ratepayers who contribute that support.

With that in mind, I directed my staff and staff members from the Commission’s Wireline Bureau to meet with stakeholders in the rate-of-return community. In that meeting, which was joined by Commissioner O’Rielly, his staff, and Commissioner Clyburn’s staff, we gave stakeholders thirty days to work together to develop an approach that both has the widespread support of the rate-of-return community and meets the principles unanimously outlined by the Commission in our April 2014 Further Notice of Proposed Rulemaking.

On May 20, at a meeting with Wireline Bureau staff, the stakeholders asked for additional time to continue to work on a solution. We agreed to an additional two weeks, but if we are going to get this done this year, there is not only a need for consensus, but also time for public comment on any new proposals and for the Commission to evaluate the proposals in light of the comments received. The search for consensus cannot drag on.

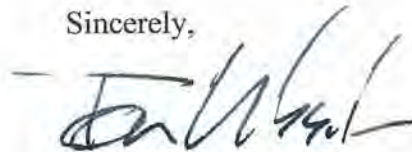

While it is encouraging the stakeholders appear to have come to consensus on the notion of a “two-path” approach to reforming the program that is comprised of both a model-based path and updates to the existing mechanisms, agreement as to structure is a long way from agreement as to substance. Specifically, while the parties agree on the importance of broadband support, the parties have stated that, “consensus has not yet been reached regarding such a broadband-only support mechanism.”

I share your concern about rural broadband and I recognize that different rate-of-return carriers have different equities. Since this is a program designed to help rate-of-return carriers bring service to rural consumers, and we all agree on the need to reform the program to support the deployment of broadband, it is a matter of significant concern that the rate-of-return parties in interest have not reached agreement on an approach that will allocate funding in a way that results in additional rural deployment of broadband in the future.

I recognize the substantial time, effort, and resources that have been invested in this effort to date by stakeholders in the rate-of-return community. And I am committed to finding a path forward by the end of the year. But it is important to have a solution – or set of solutions – that creates the right incentives to deploy modern networks throughout rural America, meets the Commission’s overarching policy objectives, and has the widespread support of the rate-of-return carrier community. Stakeholders have not presented us with that solution yet, but I remain hopeful that the parties will use the extra time they have to address the outstanding issues. Without the support of the nation’s rate-of-return providers of rural service, it is difficult to see how any reform of these universal service programs could successfully deliver on our shared goal of more robust broadband throughout rural America.

I look forward to working with you to make continued progress on the deployment of broadband to consumers throughout rural areas a reality.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read "Tom Wheeler", with a horizontal line extending to the left of the first few letters.

Tom Wheeler

cc: The Honorable Lamar Alexander
The Honorable Kelly Ayotte
The Honorable Tammy Baldwin
The Honorable John Barrasso
The Honorable Michael Bennet
The Honorable Roy Blunt
The Honorable John Boozman
The Honorable Richard M. Burr
The Honorable Maria Cantwell
The Honorable Shelley Moore Capito
The Honorable Bill Cassidy
The Honorable Dan Coats
The Honorable Susan Collins
The Honorable John Cornyn
The Honorable Tom Cotton
The Honorable Michael D. Crapo
The Honorable Steve Daines
The Honorable Joe Donnelly
The Honorable Richard J. Durbin
The Honorable Michael B. Enzi
The Honorable Joni Ernst
The Honorable Deb Fischer
The Honorable Al Franken
The Honorable Cory Gardner
The Honorable Kirsten Gillibrand
The Honorable Lindsey Graham
The Honorable Charles E. Grassley
The Honorable Orrin G. Hatch
The Honorable Heidi Heitkamp
The Honorable Dean Heller
The Honorable John Hoeven
The Honorable James M. Inhofe
The Honorable Johnny Isakson
The Honorable Ron Johnson
The Honorable Tim Kaine
The Honorable Angus King
The Honorable Amy Klobuchar
The Honorable Joe Manchin
The Honorable Claire McCaskill
The Honorable Mitch McConnell
The Honorable Jeff Merkley
The Honorable Jerry Moran
The Honorable Lisa Murkowski
The Honorable Patty Murray

The Honorable Gary Peters
The Honorable Rob Portman
The Honorable Jim Risch
The Honorable Pat Roberts
The Honorable Michael Rounds
The Honorable Brian Schatz
The Honorable Tim Scott
The Honorable Jeanne Shaheen
The Honorable Debbie Stabenow
The Honorable Dan Sullivan
The Honorable Jon Tester
The Honorable John Thune
The Honorable Thom Tillis
The Honorable David Vitter
The Honorable Roger Wicker
The Honorable Ron Wyden

OFFICE OF
THE CHAIRMAN

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION
WASHINGTON

May 29, 2015

The Honorable John Cornyn
United States Senate
517 Hart Senate Office Building
Washington, D.C. 20510

Dear Senator Cornyn:

Thank you for your letter urging the Commission to reform our Universal Service Fund (“USF”) mechanisms to support broadband deployment in rural America. The universal service program is one of the most important tools at our disposal to ensure that consumers and businesses in rural America have the same opportunities as their urban and suburban counterparts to be active participants in the 21st century economy. I share your goal of ensuring that the universal service program better reflects today’s marketplace and technology in areas served by rate-of-return carriers.

As I explained at the Senate Commerce Committee’s FCC Oversight Hearing earlier this year, resolving this issue will require all the stakeholders to work together and make hard decisions to reach consensus on the best path forward. Everybody agrees that the goal of any changes should be supporting broadband in rural areas, but so long as the recipients of USF funding remain divided, achieving those goals remains problematic. Those rate-of-return carriers who provide rural service must coalesce around changes that create the proper incentives to deploy and maintain robust broadband networks. The lack of such a plan will prevent policy makers from making informed decisions about the best way to serve both the rural Americans who use those networks and the ratepayers who contribute that support.

With that in mind, I directed my staff and staff members from the Commission’s Wireline Bureau to meet with stakeholders in the rate-of-return community. In that meeting, which was joined by Commissioner O’Rielly, his staff, and Commissioner Clyburn’s staff, we gave stakeholders thirty days to work together to develop an approach that both has the widespread support of the rate-of-return community and meets the principles unanimously outlined by the Commission in our April 2014 Further Notice of Proposed Rulemaking.

On May 20, at a meeting with Wireline Bureau staff, the stakeholders asked for additional time to continue to work on a solution. We agreed to an additional two weeks, but if we are going to get this done this year, there is not only a need for consensus, but also time for public comment on any new proposals and for the Commission to evaluate the proposals in light of the comments received. The search for consensus cannot drag on.

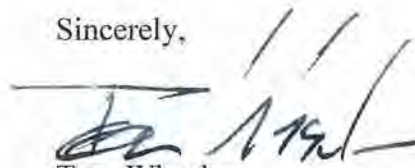

While it is encouraging the stakeholders appear to have come to consensus on the notion of a “two-path” approach to reforming the program that is comprised of both a model-based path and updates to the existing mechanisms, agreement as to structure is a long way from agreement as to substance. Specifically, while the parties agree on the importance of broadband support, the parties have stated that, “consensus has not yet been reached regarding such a broadband-only support mechanism.”

I share your concern about rural broadband and I recognize that different rate-of-return carriers have different equities. Since this is a program designed to help rate-of-return carriers bring service to rural consumers, and we all agree on the need to reform the program to support the deployment of broadband, it is a matter of significant concern that the rate-of-return parties in interest have not reached agreement on an approach that will allocate funding in a way that results in additional rural deployment of broadband in the future.

I recognize the substantial time, effort, and resources that have been invested in this effort to date by stakeholders in the rate-of-return community. And I am committed to finding a path forward by the end of the year. But it is important to have a solution – or set of solutions – that creates the right incentives to deploy modern networks throughout rural America, meets the Commission’s overarching policy objectives, and has the widespread support of the rate-of-return carrier community. Stakeholders have not presented us with that solution yet, but I remain hopeful that the parties will use the extra time they have to address the outstanding issues. Without the support of the nation’s rate-of-return providers of rural service, it is difficult to see how any reform of these universal service programs could successfully deliver on our shared goal of more robust broadband throughout rural America.

I look forward to working with you to make continued progress on the deployment of broadband to consumers throughout rural areas a reality.

Sincerely,

Tom Wheeler

cc: The Honorable Lamar Alexander
The Honorable Kelly Ayotte
The Honorable Tammy Baldwin
The Honorable John Barrasso
The Honorable Michael Bennet
The Honorable Roy Blunt
The Honorable John Boozman
The Honorable Richard M. Burr
The Honorable Maria Cantwell
The Honorable Shelley Moore Capito
The Honorable Bill Cassidy
The Honorable Dan Coats
The Honorable Susan Collins
The Honorable Bob Corker
The Honorable Tom Cotton
The Honorable Michael D. Crapo
The Honorable Steve Daines
The Honorable Joe Donnelly
The Honorable Richard J. Durbin
The Honorable Michael B. Enzi
The Honorable Joni Ernst
The Honorable Deb Fischer
The Honorable Al Franken
The Honorable Cory Gardner
The Honorable Kirsten Gillibrand
The Honorable Lindsey Graham
The Honorable Charles E. Grassley
The Honorable Orrin G. Hatch
The Honorable Heidi Heitkamp
The Honorable Dean Heller
The Honorable John Hoeven
The Honorable James M. Inhofe
The Honorable Johnny Isakson
The Honorable Ron Johnson
The Honorable Tim Kaine
The Honorable Angus King
The Honorable Amy Klobuchar
The Honorable Joe Manchin
The Honorable Claire McCaskill
The Honorable Mitch McConnell
The Honorable Jeff Merkley
The Honorable Jerry Moran
The Honorable Lisa Murkowski
The Honorable Patty Murray

The Honorable Gary Peters
The Honorable Rob Portman
The Honorable Jim Risch
The Honorable Pat Roberts
The Honorable Michael Rounds
The Honorable Brian Schatz
The Honorable Tim Scott
The Honorable Jeanne Shaheen
The Honorable Debbie Stabenow
The Honorable Dan Sullivan
The Honorable Jon Tester
The Honorable John Thune
The Honorable Thom Tillis
The Honorable David Vitter
The Honorable Roger Wicker
The Honorable Ron Wyden

OFFICE OF
THE CHAIRMAN

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION
WASHINGTON

May 29, 2015

The Honorable Tom Cotton
United States Senate
B33 Russell Senate Office Building
Washington, D.C. 20510

Dear Senator Cotton:

Thank you for your letter urging the Commission to reform our Universal Service Fund (“USF”) mechanisms to support broadband deployment in rural America. The universal service program is one of the most important tools at our disposal to ensure that consumers and businesses in rural America have the same opportunities as their urban and suburban counterparts to be active participants in the 21st century economy. I share your goal of ensuring that the universal service program better reflects today’s marketplace and technology in areas served by rate-of-return carriers.

As I explained at the Senate Commerce Committee’s FCC Oversight Hearing earlier this year, resolving this issue will require all the stakeholders to work together and make hard decisions to reach consensus on the best path forward. Everybody agrees that the goal of any changes should be supporting broadband in rural areas, but so long as the recipients of USF funding remain divided, achieving those goals remains problematic. Those rate-of-return carriers who provide rural service must coalesce around changes that create the proper incentives to deploy and maintain robust broadband networks. The lack of such a plan will prevent policy makers from making informed decisions about the best way to serve both the rural Americans who use those networks and the ratepayers who contribute that support.

With that in mind, I directed my staff and staff members from the Commission’s Wireline Bureau to meet with stakeholders in the rate-of-return community. In that meeting, which was joined by Commissioner O’Rielly, his staff, and Commissioner Clyburn’s staff, we gave stakeholders thirty days to work together to develop an approach that both has the widespread support of the rate-of-return community and meets the principles unanimously outlined by the Commission in our April 2014 Further Notice of Proposed Rulemaking.

On May 20, at a meeting with Wireline Bureau staff, the stakeholders asked for additional time to continue to work on a solution. We agreed to an additional two weeks, but if we are going to get this done this year, there is not only a need for consensus, but also time for public comment on any new proposals and for the Commission to evaluate the proposals in light of the comments received. The search for consensus cannot drag on.

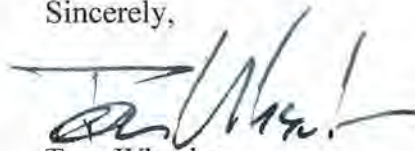

While it is encouraging the stakeholders appear to have come to consensus on the notion of a “two-path” approach to reforming the program that is comprised of both a model-based path and updates to the existing mechanisms, agreement as to structure is a long way from agreement as to substance. Specifically, while the parties agree on the importance of broadband support, the parties have stated that, “consensus has not yet been reached regarding such a broadband-only support mechanism.”

I share your concern about rural broadband and I recognize that different rate-of-return carriers have different equities. Since this is a program designed to help rate-of-return carriers bring service to rural consumers, and we all agree on the need to reform the program to support the deployment of broadband, it is a matter of significant concern that the rate-of-return parties in interest have not reached agreement on an approach that will allocate funding in a way that results in additional rural deployment of broadband in the future.

I recognize the substantial time, effort, and resources that have been invested in this effort to date by stakeholders in the rate-of-return community. And I am committed to finding a path forward by the end of the year. But it is important to have a solution – or set of solutions – that creates the right incentives to deploy modern networks throughout rural America, meets the Commission’s overarching policy objectives, and has the widespread support of the rate-of-return carrier community. Stakeholders have not presented us with that solution yet, but I remain hopeful that the parties will use the extra time they have to address the outstanding issues. Without the support of the nation’s rate-of-return providers of rural service, it is difficult to see how any reform of these universal service programs could successfully deliver on our shared goal of more robust broadband throughout rural America.

I look forward to working with you to make continued progress on the deployment of broadband to consumers throughout rural areas a reality.

Sincerely,

Tom Wheeler

cc: The Honorable Lamar Alexander
The Honorable Kelly Ayotte
The Honorable Tammy Baldwin
The Honorable John Barrasso
The Honorable Michael Bennet
The Honorable Roy Blunt
The Honorable John Boozman
The Honorable Richard M. Burr
The Honorable Maria Cantwell
The Honorable Shelley Moore Capito
The Honorable Bill Cassidy
The Honorable Dan Coats
The Honorable Susan Collins
The Honorable Bob Corker
The Honorable John Cornyn
The Honorable Michael D. Crapo
The Honorable Steve Daines
The Honorable Joe Donnelly
The Honorable Richard J. Durbin
The Honorable Michael B. Enzi
The Honorable Joni Ernst
The Honorable Deb Fischer
The Honorable Al Franken
The Honorable Cory Gardner
The Honorable Kirsten Gillibrand
The Honorable Lindsey Graham
The Honorable Charles E. Grassley
The Honorable Orrin G. Hatch
The Honorable Heidi Heitkamp
The Honorable Dean Heller
The Honorable John Hoeven
The Honorable James M. Inhofe
The Honorable Johnny Isakson
The Honorable Ron Johnson
The Honorable Tim Kaine
The Honorable Angus King
The Honorable Amy Klobuchar
The Honorable Joe Manchin
The Honorable Claire McCaskill
The Honorable Mitch McConnell
The Honorable Jeff Merkley
The Honorable Jerry Moran
The Honorable Lisa Murkowski
The Honorable Patty Murray

The Honorable Gary Peters
The Honorable Rob Portman
The Honorable Jim Risch
The Honorable Pat Roberts
The Honorable Michael Rounds
The Honorable Brian Schatz
The Honorable Tim Scott
The Honorable Jeanne Shaheen
The Honorable Debbie Stabenow
The Honorable Dan Sullivan
The Honorable Jon Tester
The Honorable John Thune
The Honorable Thom Tillis
The Honorable David Vitter
The Honorable Roger Wicker
The Honorable Ron Wyden

OFFICE OF
THE CHAIRMAN

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION
WASHINGTON

May 29, 2015

The Honorable Michael D. Crapo
United States Senate
239 Dirksen Senate Office Building
Washington, D.C. 20510

Dear Senator Crapo:

Thank you for your letter urging the Commission to reform our Universal Service Fund (“USF”) mechanisms to support broadband deployment in rural America. The universal service program is one of the most important tools at our disposal to ensure that consumers and businesses in rural America have the same opportunities as their urban and suburban counterparts to be active participants in the 21st century economy. I share your goal of ensuring that the universal service program better reflects today’s marketplace and technology in areas served by rate-of-return carriers.

As I explained at the Senate Commerce Committee’s FCC Oversight Hearing earlier this year, resolving this issue will require all the stakeholders to work together and make hard decisions to reach consensus on the best path forward. Everybody agrees that the goal of any changes should be supporting broadband in rural areas, but so long as the recipients of USF funding remain divided, achieving those goals remains problematic. Those rate-of-return carriers who provide rural service must coalesce around changes that create the proper incentives to deploy and maintain robust broadband networks. The lack of such a plan will prevent policy makers from making informed decisions about the best way to serve both the rural Americans who use those networks and the ratepayers who contribute that support.

With that in mind, I directed my staff and staff members from the Commission’s Wireline Bureau to meet with stakeholders in the rate-of-return community. In that meeting, which was joined by Commissioner O’Rielly, his staff, and Commissioner Clyburn’s staff, we gave stakeholders thirty days to work together to develop an approach that both has the widespread support of the rate-of-return community and meets the principles unanimously outlined by the Commission in our April 2014 Further Notice of Proposed Rulemaking.

On May 20, at a meeting with Wireline Bureau staff, the stakeholders asked for additional time to continue to work on a solution. We agreed to an additional two weeks, but if we are going to get this done this year, there is not only a need for consensus, but also time for public comment on any new proposals and for the Commission to evaluate the proposals in light of the comments received. The search for consensus cannot drag on.

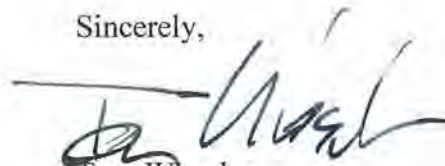

While it is encouraging the stakeholders appear to have come to consensus on the notion of a “two-path” approach to reforming the program that is comprised of both a model-based path and updates to the existing mechanisms, agreement as to structure is a long way from agreement as to substance. Specifically, while the parties agree on the importance of broadband support, the parties have stated that, “consensus has not yet been reached regarding such a broadband-only support mechanism.”

I share your concern about rural broadband and I recognize that different rate-of-return carriers have different equities. Since this is a program designed to help rate-of-return carriers bring service to rural consumers, and we all agree on the need to reform the program to support the deployment of broadband, it is a matter of significant concern that the rate-of-return parties in interest have not reached agreement on an approach that will allocate funding in a way that results in additional rural deployment of broadband in the future.

I recognize the substantial time, effort, and resources that have been invested in this effort to date by stakeholders in the rate-of-return community. And I am committed to finding a path forward by the end of the year. But it is important to have a solution – or set of solutions – that creates the right incentives to deploy modern networks throughout rural America, meets the Commission’s overarching policy objectives, and has the widespread support of the rate-of-return carrier community. Stakeholders have not presented us with that solution yet, but I remain hopeful that the parties will use the extra time they have to address the outstanding issues. Without the support of the nation’s rate-of-return providers of rural service, it is difficult to see how any reform of these universal service programs could successfully deliver on our shared goal of more robust broadband throughout rural America.

I look forward to working with you to make continued progress on the deployment of broadband to consumers throughout rural areas a reality.

Sincerely,

Tom Wheeler

cc: The Honorable Lamar Alexander
The Honorable Kelly Ayotte
The Honorable Tammy Baldwin
The Honorable John Barrasso
The Honorable Michael Bennet
The Honorable Roy Blunt
The Honorable John Boozman
The Honorable Richard M. Burr
The Honorable Maria Cantwell
The Honorable Shelley Moore Capito
The Honorable Bill Cassidy
The Honorable Dan Coats
The Honorable Susan Collins
The Honorable Bob Corker
The Honorable John Cornyn
The Honorable Tom Cotton
The Honorable Steve Daines
The Honorable Joe Donnelly
The Honorable Richard J. Durbin
The Honorable Michael B. Enzi
The Honorable Joni Ernst
The Honorable Deb Fischer
The Honorable Al Franken
The Honorable Cory Gardner
The Honorable Kirsten Gillibrand
The Honorable Lindsey Graham
The Honorable Charles E. Grassley
The Honorable Orrin G. Hatch
The Honorable Heidi Heitkamp
The Honorable Dean Heller
The Honorable John Hoeven
The Honorable James M. Inhofe
The Honorable Johnny Isakson
The Honorable Ron Johnson
The Honorable Tim Kaine
The Honorable Angus King
The Honorable Amy Klobuchar
The Honorable Joe Manchin
The Honorable Claire McCaskill
The Honorable Mitch McConnell
The Honorable Jeff Merkley
The Honorable Jerry Moran
The Honorable Lisa Murkowski
The Honorable Patty Murray

The Honorable Gary Peters
The Honorable Rob Portman
The Honorable Jim Risch
The Honorable Pat Roberts
The Honorable Michael Rounds
The Honorable Brian Schatz
The Honorable Tim Scott
The Honorable Jeanne Shaheen
The Honorable Debbie Stabenow
The Honorable Dan Sullivan
The Honorable Jon Tester
The Honorable John Thune
The Honorable Thom Tillis
The Honorable David Vitter
The Honorable Roger Wicker
The Honorable Ron Wyden

OFFICE OF
THE CHAIRMAN

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION
WASHINGTON

May 29, 2015

The Honorable Steve Daines
United States Senate
1 Russell Courtyard (Temp)
Washington, D.C. 20510

Dear Senator Daines:

Thank you for your letter urging the Commission to reform our Universal Service Fund (“USF”) mechanisms to support broadband deployment in rural America. The universal service program is one of the most important tools at our disposal to ensure that consumers and businesses in rural America have the same opportunities as their urban and suburban counterparts to be active participants in the 21st century economy. I share your goal of ensuring that the universal service program better reflects today’s marketplace and technology in areas served by rate-of-return carriers.

As I explained at the Senate Commerce Committee’s FCC Oversight Hearing earlier this year, resolving this issue will require all the stakeholders to work together and make hard decisions to reach consensus on the best path forward. Everybody agrees that the goal of any changes should be supporting broadband in rural areas, but so long as the recipients of USF funding remain divided, achieving those goals remains problematic. Those rate-of-return carriers who provide rural service must coalesce around changes that create the proper incentives to deploy and maintain robust broadband networks. The lack of such a plan will prevent policy makers from making informed decisions about the best way to serve both the rural Americans who use those networks and the ratepayers who contribute that support.

With that in mind, I directed my staff and staff members from the Commission’s Wireline Bureau to meet with stakeholders in the rate-of-return community. In that meeting, which was joined by Commissioner O’Rielly, his staff, and Commissioner Clyburn’s staff, we gave stakeholders thirty days to work together to develop an approach that both has the widespread support of the rate-of-return community and meets the principles unanimously outlined by the Commission in our April 2014 Further Notice of Proposed Rulemaking.

On May 20, at a meeting with Wireline Bureau staff, the stakeholders asked for additional time to continue to work on a solution. We agreed to an additional two weeks, but if we are going to get this done this year, there is not only a need for consensus, but also time for public comment on any new proposals and for the Commission to evaluate the proposals in light of the comments received. The search for consensus cannot drag on.

While it is encouraging the stakeholders appear to have come to consensus on the notion of a “two-path” approach to reforming the program that is comprised of both a model-based path and updates to the existing mechanisms, agreement as to structure is a long way from agreement as to substance. Specifically, while the parties agree on the importance of broadband support, the parties have stated that, “consensus has not yet been reached regarding such a broadband-only support mechanism.”

I share your concern about rural broadband and I recognize that different rate-of-return carriers have different equities. Since this is a program designed to help rate-of-return carriers bring service to rural consumers, and we all agree on the need to reform the program to support the deployment of broadband, it is a matter of significant concern that the rate-of-return parties in interest have not reached agreement on an approach that will allocate funding in a way that results in additional rural deployment of broadband in the future.

I recognize the substantial time, effort, and resources that have been invested in this effort to date by stakeholders in the rate-of-return community. And I am committed to finding a path forward by the end of the year. But it is important to have a solution – or set of solutions – that creates the right incentives to deploy modern networks throughout rural America, meets the Commission’s overarching policy objectives, and has the widespread support of the rate-of-return carrier community. Stakeholders have not presented us with that solution yet, but I remain hopeful that the parties will use the extra time they have to address the outstanding issues. Without the support of the nation’s rate-of-return providers of rural service, it is difficult to see how any reform of these universal service programs could successfully deliver on our shared goal of more robust broadband throughout rural America.

I look forward to working with you to make continued progress on the deployment of broadband to consumers throughout rural areas a reality.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read "Tom Wheeler", with a horizontal line above it.

Tom Wheeler

cc: The Honorable Lamar Alexander
The Honorable Kelly Ayotte
The Honorable Tammy Baldwin
The Honorable John Barrasso
The Honorable Michael Bennet
The Honorable Roy Blunt
The Honorable John Boozman
The Honorable Richard M. Burr
The Honorable Maria Cantwell
The Honorable Shelley Moore Capito
The Honorable Bill Cassidy
The Honorable Dan Coats
The Honorable Susan Collins
The Honorable Bob Corker
The Honorable John Cornyn
The Honorable Tom Cotton
The Honorable Michael D. Crapo
The Honorable Joe Donnelly
The Honorable Richard J. Durbin
The Honorable Michael B. Enzi
The Honorable Joni Ernst
The Honorable Deb Fischer
The Honorable Al Franken
The Honorable Cory Gardner
The Honorable Kirsten Gillibrand
The Honorable Lindsey Graham
The Honorable Charles E. Grassley
The Honorable Orrin G. Hatch
The Honorable Heidi Heitkamp
The Honorable Dean Heller
The Honorable John Hoeven
The Honorable James M. Inhofe
The Honorable Johnny Isakson
The Honorable Ron Johnson
The Honorable Tim Kaine
The Honorable Angus King
The Honorable Amy Klobuchar
The Honorable Joe Manchin
The Honorable Claire McCaskill
The Honorable Mitch McConnell
The Honorable Jeff Merkley
The Honorable Jerry Moran
The Honorable Lisa Murkowski
The Honorable Patty Murray

The Honorable Gary Peters
The Honorable Rob Portman
The Honorable Jim Risch
The Honorable Pat Roberts
The Honorable Michael Rounds
The Honorable Brian Schatz
The Honorable Tim Scott
The Honorable Jeanne Shaheen
The Honorable Debbie Stabenow
The Honorable Dan Sullivan
The Honorable Jon Tester
The Honorable John Thune
The Honorable Thom Tillis
The Honorable David Vitter
The Honorable Roger Wicker
The Honorable Ron Wyden

OFFICE OF
THE CHAIRMAN

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION
WASHINGTON

May 29, 2015

The Honorable Joe Donnelly
United States Senate
B33 Russell Senate Office Building
Washington, D.C. 20510

Dear Senator Donnelly:

Thank you for your letter urging the Commission to reform our Universal Service Fund (“USF”) mechanisms to support broadband deployment in rural America. The universal service program is one of the most important tools at our disposal to ensure that consumers and businesses in rural America have the same opportunities as their urban and suburban counterparts to be active participants in the 21st century economy. I share your goal of ensuring that the universal service program better reflects today’s marketplace and technology in areas served by rate-of-return carriers.

As I explained at the Senate Commerce Committee’s FCC Oversight Hearing earlier this year, resolving this issue will require all the stakeholders to work together and make hard decisions to reach consensus on the best path forward. Everybody agrees that the goal of any changes should be supporting broadband in rural areas, but so long as the recipients of USF funding remain divided, achieving those goals remains problematic. Those rate-of-return carriers who provide rural service must coalesce around changes that create the proper incentives to deploy and maintain robust broadband networks. The lack of such a plan will prevent policy makers from making informed decisions about the best way to serve both the rural Americans who use those networks and the ratepayers who contribute that support.

With that in mind, I directed my staff and staff members from the Commission’s Wireline Bureau to meet with stakeholders in the rate-of-return community. In that meeting, which was joined by Commissioner O’Rielly, his staff, and Commissioner Clyburn’s staff, we gave stakeholders thirty days to work together to develop an approach that both has the widespread support of the rate-of-return community and meets the principles unanimously outlined by the Commission in our April 2014 Further Notice of Proposed Rulemaking.

On May 20, at a meeting with Wireline Bureau staff, the stakeholders asked for additional time to continue to work on a solution. We agreed to an additional two weeks, but if we are going to get this done this year, there is not only a need for consensus, but also time for public comment on any new proposals and for the Commission to evaluate the proposals in light of the comments received. The search for consensus cannot drag on.

While it is encouraging the stakeholders appear to have come to consensus on the notion of a “two-path” approach to reforming the program that is comprised of both a model-based path and updates to the existing mechanisms, agreement as to structure is a long way from agreement as to substance. Specifically, while the parties agree on the importance of broadband support, the parties have stated that, “consensus has not yet been reached regarding such a broadband-only support mechanism.”

I share your concern about rural broadband and I recognize that different rate-of-return carriers have different equities. Since this is a program designed to help rate-of-return carriers bring service to rural consumers, and we all agree on the need to reform the program to support the deployment of broadband, it is a matter of significant concern that the rate-of-return parties in interest have not reached agreement on an approach that will allocate funding in a way that results in additional rural deployment of broadband in the future.

I recognize the substantial time, effort, and resources that have been invested in this effort to date by stakeholders in the rate-of-return community. And I am committed to finding a path forward by the end of the year. But it is important to have a solution – or set of solutions – that creates the right incentives to deploy modern networks throughout rural America, meets the Commission’s overarching policy objectives, and has the widespread support of the rate-of-return carrier community. Stakeholders have not presented us with that solution yet, but I remain hopeful that the parties will use the extra time they have to address the outstanding issues. Without the support of the nation’s rate-of-return providers of rural service, it is difficult to see how any reform of these universal service programs could successfully deliver on our shared goal of more robust broadband throughout rural America.

I look forward to working with you to make continued progress on the deployment of broadband to consumers throughout rural areas a reality.

Sincerely,

Tom Wheeler

cc: The Honorable Lamar Alexander
The Honorable Kelly Ayotte
The Honorable Tammy Baldwin
The Honorable John Barrasso
The Honorable Michael Bennet
The Honorable Roy Blunt
The Honorable John Boozman
The Honorable Richard M. Burr
The Honorable Maria Cantwell
The Honorable Shelley Moore Capito
The Honorable Bill Cassidy
The Honorable Dan Coats
The Honorable Susan Collins
The Honorable Bob Corker
The Honorable John Cornyn
The Honorable Tom Cotton
The Honorable Michael D. Crapo
The Honorable Steve Daines
The Honorable Richard J. Durbin
The Honorable Michael B. Enzi
The Honorable Joni Ernst
The Honorable Deb Fischer
The Honorable Al Franken
The Honorable Cory Gardner
The Honorable Kirsten Gillibrand
The Honorable Lindsey Graham
The Honorable Charles E. Grassley
The Honorable Orrin G. Hatch
The Honorable Heidi Heitkamp
The Honorable Dean Heller
The Honorable John Hoeven
The Honorable James M. Inhofe
The Honorable Johnny Isakson
The Honorable Ron Johnson
The Honorable Tim Kaine
The Honorable Angus King
The Honorable Amy Klobuchar
The Honorable Joe Manchin
The Honorable Claire McCaskill
The Honorable Mitch McConnell
The Honorable Jeff Merkley
The Honorable Jerry Moran
The Honorable Lisa Murkowski
The Honorable Patty Murray

The Honorable Gary Peters
The Honorable Rob Portman
The Honorable Jim Risch
The Honorable Pat Roberts
The Honorable Michael Rounds
The Honorable Brian Schatz
The Honorable Tim Scott
The Honorable Jeanne Shaheen
The Honorable Debbie Stabenow
The Honorable Dan Sullivan
The Honorable Jon Tester
The Honorable John Thune
The Honorable Thom Tillis
The Honorable David Vitter
The Honorable Roger Wicker
The Honorable Ron Wyden

OFFICE OF
THE CHAIRMAN

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION
WASHINGTON

May 29, 2015

The Honorable Richard J. Durbin
United States Senate
309 Hart Senate Office Building
Washington, D.C. 20510

Dear Senator Durbin:

Thank you for your letter urging the Commission to reform our Universal Service Fund ("USF") mechanisms to support broadband deployment in rural America. The universal service program is one of the most important tools at our disposal to ensure that consumers and businesses in rural America have the same opportunities as their urban and suburban counterparts to be active participants in the 21st century economy. I share your goal of ensuring that the universal service program better reflects today's marketplace and technology in areas served by rate-of-return carriers.

As I explained at the Senate Commerce Committee's FCC Oversight Hearing earlier this year, resolving this issue will require all the stakeholders to work together and make hard decisions to reach consensus on the best path forward. Everybody agrees that the goal of any changes should be supporting broadband in rural areas, but so long as the recipients of USF funding remain divided, achieving those goals remains problematic. Those rate-of-return carriers who provide rural service must coalesce around changes that create the proper incentives to deploy and maintain robust broadband networks. The lack of such a plan will prevent policy makers from making informed decisions about the best way to serve both the rural Americans who use those networks and the ratepayers who contribute that support.

With that in mind, I directed my staff and staff members from the Commission's Wireline Bureau to meet with stakeholders in the rate-of-return community. In that meeting, which was joined by Commissioner O'Rielly, his staff, and Commissioner Clyburn's staff, we gave stakeholders thirty days to work together to develop an approach that both has the widespread support of the rate-of-return community and meets the principles unanimously outlined by the Commission in our April 2014 Further Notice of Proposed Rulemaking.

On May 20, at a meeting with Wireline Bureau staff, the stakeholders asked for additional time to continue to work on a solution. We agreed to an additional two weeks, but if we are going to get this done this year, there is not only a need for consensus, but also time for public comment on any new proposals and for the Commission to evaluate the proposals in light of the comments received. The search for consensus cannot drag on.

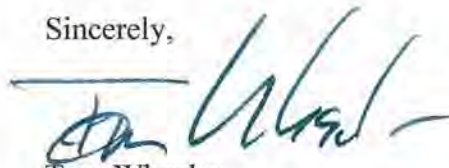

While it is encouraging the stakeholders appear to have come to consensus on the notion of a “two-path” approach to reforming the program that is comprised of both a model-based path and updates to the existing mechanisms, agreement as to structure is a long way from agreement as to substance. Specifically, while the parties agree on the importance of broadband support, the parties have stated that, “consensus has not yet been reached regarding such a broadband-only support mechanism.”

I share your concern about rural broadband and I recognize that different rate-of-return carriers have different equities. Since this is a program designed to help rate-of-return carriers bring service to rural consumers, and we all agree on the need to reform the program to support the deployment of broadband, it is a matter of significant concern that the rate-of-return parties in interest have not reached agreement on an approach that will allocate funding in a way that results in additional rural deployment of broadband in the future.

I recognize the substantial time, effort, and resources that have been invested in this effort to date by stakeholders in the rate-of-return community. And I am committed to finding a path forward by the end of the year. But it is important to have a solution – or set of solutions – that creates the right incentives to deploy modern networks throughout rural America, meets the Commission’s overarching policy objectives, and has the widespread support of the rate-of-return carrier community. Stakeholders have not presented us with that solution yet, but I remain hopeful that the parties will use the extra time they have to address the outstanding issues. Without the support of the nation’s rate-of-return providers of rural service, it is difficult to see how any reform of these universal service programs could successfully deliver on our shared goal of more robust broadband throughout rural America.

I look forward to working with you to make continued progress on the deployment of broadband to consumers throughout rural areas a reality.

Sincerely,

Tom Wheeler

cc: The Honorable Lamar Alexander
The Honorable Kelly Ayotte
The Honorable Tammy Baldwin
The Honorable John Barrasso
The Honorable Michael Bennet
The Honorable Roy Blunt
The Honorable John Boozman
The Honorable Richard M. Burr
The Honorable Maria Cantwell
The Honorable Shelley Moore Capito
The Honorable Bill Cassidy
The Honorable Dan Coats
The Honorable Susan Collins
The Honorable Bob Corker
The Honorable John Cornyn
The Honorable Tom Cotton
The Honorable Michael D. Crapo
The Honorable Steve Daines
The Honorable Joe Donnelly
The Honorable Michael B. Enzi
The Honorable Joni Ernst
The Honorable Deb Fischer
The Honorable Al Franken
The Honorable Cory Gardner
The Honorable Kirsten Gillibrand
The Honorable Lindsey Graham
The Honorable Charles E. Grassley
The Honorable Orrin G. Hatch
The Honorable Heidi Heitkamp
The Honorable Dean Heller
The Honorable John Hoeven
The Honorable James M. Inhofe
The Honorable Johnny Isakson
The Honorable Ron Johnson
The Honorable Tim Kaine
The Honorable Angus King
The Honorable Amy Klobuchar
The Honorable Joe Manchin
The Honorable Claire McCaskill
The Honorable Mitch McConnell
The Honorable Jeff Merkley
The Honorable Jerry Moran
The Honorable Lisa Murkowski
The Honorable Patty Murray

The Honorable Gary Peters
The Honorable Rob Portman
The Honorable Jim Risch
The Honorable Pat Roberts
The Honorable Michael Rounds
The Honorable Brian Schatz
The Honorable Tim Scott
The Honorable Jeanne Shaheen
The Honorable Debbie Stabenow
The Honorable Dan Sullivan
The Honorable Jon Tester
The Honorable John Thune
The Honorable Thom Tillis
The Honorable David Vitter
The Honorable Roger Wicker
The Honorable Ron Wyden

OFFICE OF
THE CHAIRMAN

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION
WASHINGTON

May 29, 2015

The Honorable Michael B. Enzi
United States Senate
379A Russell Senate Office Building
Washington, D.C. 20510

Dear Senator Enzi:

Thank you for your letter urging the Commission to reform our Universal Service Fund (“USF”) mechanisms to support broadband deployment in rural America. The universal service program is one of the most important tools at our disposal to ensure that consumers and businesses in rural America have the same opportunities as their urban and suburban counterparts to be active participants in the 21st century economy. I share your goal of ensuring that the universal service program better reflects today’s marketplace and technology in areas served by rate-of-return carriers.

As I explained at the Senate Commerce Committee’s FCC Oversight Hearing earlier this year, resolving this issue will require all the stakeholders to work together and make hard decisions to reach consensus on the best path forward. Everybody agrees that the goal of any changes should be supporting broadband in rural areas, but so long as the recipients of USF funding remain divided, achieving those goals remains problematic. Those rate-of-return carriers who provide rural service must coalesce around changes that create the proper incentives to deploy and maintain robust broadband networks. The lack of such a plan will prevent policy makers from making informed decisions about the best way to serve both the rural Americans who use those networks and the ratepayers who contribute that support.

With that in mind, I directed my staff and staff members from the Commission’s Wireline Bureau to meet with stakeholders in the rate-of-return community. In that meeting, which was joined by Commissioner O’Rielly, his staff, and Commissioner Clyburn’s staff, we gave stakeholders thirty days to work together to develop an approach that both has the widespread support of the rate-of-return community and meets the principles unanimously outlined by the Commission in our April 2014 Further Notice of Proposed Rulemaking.

On May 20, at a meeting with Wireline Bureau staff, the stakeholders asked for additional time to continue to work on a solution. We agreed to an additional two weeks, but if we are going to get this done this year, there is not only a need for consensus, but also time for public comment on any new proposals and for the Commission to evaluate the proposals in light of the comments received. The search for consensus cannot drag on.

While it is encouraging the stakeholders appear to have come to consensus on the notion of a “two-path” approach to reforming the program that is comprised of both a model-based path and updates to the existing mechanisms, agreement as to structure is a long way from agreement as to substance. Specifically, while the parties agree on the importance of broadband support, the parties have stated that, “consensus has not yet been reached regarding such a broadband-only support mechanism.”

I share your concern about rural broadband and I recognize that different rate-of-return carriers have different equities. Since this is a program designed to help rate-of-return carriers bring service to rural consumers, and we all agree on the need to reform the program to support the deployment of broadband, it is a matter of significant concern that the rate-of-return parties in interest have not reached agreement on an approach that will allocate funding in a way that results in additional rural deployment of broadband in the future.

I recognize the substantial time, effort, and resources that have been invested in this effort to date by stakeholders in the rate-of-return community. And I am committed to finding a path forward by the end of the year. But it is important to have a solution – or set of solutions – that creates the right incentives to deploy modern networks throughout rural America, meets the Commission’s overarching policy objectives, and has the widespread support of the rate-of-return carrier community. Stakeholders have not presented us with that solution yet, but I remain hopeful that the parties will use the extra time they have to address the outstanding issues. Without the support of the nation’s rate-of-return providers of rural service, it is difficult to see how any reform of these universal service programs could successfully deliver on our shared goal of more robust broadband throughout rural America.

I look forward to working with you to make continued progress on the deployment of broadband to consumers throughout rural areas a reality.

Sincerely,

Tom Wheeler

cc: The Honorable Lamar Alexander
The Honorable Kelly Ayotte
The Honorable Tammy Baldwin
The Honorable John Barrasso
The Honorable Michael Bennet
The Honorable Roy Blunt
The Honorable John Boozman
The Honorable Richard M. Burr
The Honorable Maria Cantwell
The Honorable Shelley Moore Capito
The Honorable Bill Cassidy
The Honorable Dan Coats
The Honorable Susan Collins
The Honorable Bob Corker
The Honorable John Cornyn
The Honorable Tom Cotton
The Honorable Michael D. Crapo
The Honorable Steve Daines
The Honorable Joe Donnelly
The Honorable Richard J. Durbin
The Honorable Joni Ernst
The Honorable Deb Fischer
The Honorable Al Franken
The Honorable Cory Gardner
The Honorable Kirsten Gillibrand
The Honorable Lindsey Graham
The Honorable Charles E. Grassley
The Honorable Orrin G. Hatch
The Honorable Heidi Heitkamp
The Honorable Dean Heller
The Honorable John Hoeven
The Honorable James M. Inhofe
The Honorable Johnny Isakson
The Honorable Ron Johnson
The Honorable Tim Kaine
The Honorable Angus King
The Honorable Amy Klobuchar
The Honorable Joe Manchin
The Honorable Claire McCaskill
The Honorable Mitch McConnell
The Honorable Jeff Merkley
The Honorable Jerry Moran
The Honorable Lisa Murkowski
The Honorable Patty Murray

The Honorable Gary Peters
The Honorable Rob Portman
The Honorable Jim Risch
The Honorable Pat Roberts
The Honorable Michael Rounds
The Honorable Brian Schatz
The Honorable Tim Scott
The Honorable Jeanne Shaheen
The Honorable Debbie Stabenow
The Honorable Dan Sullivan
The Honorable Jon Tester
The Honorable John Thune
The Honorable Thom Tillis
The Honorable David Vitter
The Honorable Roger Wicker
The Honorable Ron Wyden

OFFICE OF
THE CHAIRMAN

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION
WASHINGTON

May 29, 2015

The Honorable Joni Ernst
United States Senate
825 B&C Hart Senate Office Building
Washington, D.C. 20510

Dear Senator Ernst:

Thank you for your letter urging the Commission to reform our Universal Service Fund (“USF”) mechanisms to support broadband deployment in rural America. The universal service program is one of the most important tools at our disposal to ensure that consumers and businesses in rural America have the same opportunities as their urban and suburban counterparts to be active participants in the 21st century economy. I share your goal of ensuring that the universal service program better reflects today’s marketplace and technology in areas served by rate-of-return carriers.

As I explained at the Senate Commerce Committee’s FCC Oversight Hearing earlier this year, resolving this issue will require all the stakeholders to work together and make hard decisions to reach consensus on the best path forward. Everybody agrees that the goal of any changes should be supporting broadband in rural areas, but so long as the recipients of USF funding remain divided, achieving those goals remains problematic. Those rate-of-return carriers who provide rural service must coalesce around changes that create the proper incentives to deploy and maintain robust broadband networks. The lack of such a plan will prevent policy makers from making informed decisions about the best way to serve both the rural Americans who use those networks and the ratepayers who contribute that support.

With that in mind, I directed my staff and staff members from the Commission’s Wireline Bureau to meet with stakeholders in the rate-of-return community. In that meeting, which was joined by Commissioner O’Rielly, his staff, and Commissioner Clyburn’s staff, we gave stakeholders thirty days to work together to develop an approach that both has the widespread support of the rate-of-return community and meets the principles unanimously outlined by the Commission in our April 2014 Further Notice of Proposed Rulemaking.

On May 20, at a meeting with Wireline Bureau staff, the stakeholders asked for additional time to continue to work on a solution. We agreed to an additional two weeks, but if we are going to get this done this year, there is not only a need for consensus, but also time for public comment on any new proposals and for the Commission to evaluate the proposals in light of the comments received. The search for consensus cannot drag on.

While it is encouraging the stakeholders appear to have come to consensus on the notion of a “two-path” approach to reforming the program that is comprised of both a model-based path and updates to the existing mechanisms, agreement as to structure is a long way from agreement as to substance. Specifically, while the parties agree on the importance of broadband support, the parties have stated that, “consensus has not yet been reached regarding such a broadband-only support mechanism.”

I share your concern about rural broadband and I recognize that different rate-of-return carriers have different equities. Since this is a program designed to help rate-of-return carriers bring service to rural consumers, and we all agree on the need to reform the program to support the deployment of broadband, it is a matter of significant concern that the rate-of-return parties in interest have not reached agreement on an approach that will allocate funding in a way that results in additional rural deployment of broadband in the future.

I recognize the substantial time, effort, and resources that have been invested in this effort to date by stakeholders in the rate-of-return community. And I am committed to finding a path forward by the end of the year. But it is important to have a solution – or set of solutions – that creates the right incentives to deploy modern networks throughout rural America, meets the Commission’s overarching policy objectives, and has the widespread support of the rate-of-return carrier community. Stakeholders have not presented us with that solution yet, but I remain hopeful that the parties will use the extra time they have to address the outstanding issues. Without the support of the nation’s rate-of-return providers of rural service, it is difficult to see how any reform of these universal service programs could successfully deliver on our shared goal of more robust broadband throughout rural America.

I look forward to working with you to make continued progress on the deployment of broadband to consumers throughout rural areas a reality.

Sincerely,

Tom Wheeler

cc: The Honorable Lamar Alexander
The Honorable Kelly Ayotte
The Honorable Tammy Baldwin
The Honorable John Barrasso
The Honorable Michael Bennet
The Honorable Roy Blunt
The Honorable John Boozman
The Honorable Richard M. Burr
The Honorable Maria Cantwell
The Honorable Shelley Moore Capito
The Honorable Bill Cassidy
The Honorable Dan Coats
The Honorable Susan Collins
The Honorable Bob Corker
The Honorable John Cornyn
The Honorable Tom Cotton
The Honorable Michael D. Crapo
The Honorable Steve Daines
The Honorable Joe Donnelly
The Honorable Richard J. Durbin
The Honorable Michael B. Enzi
The Honorable Deb Fischer
The Honorable Al Franken
The Honorable Cory Gardner
The Honorable Kirsten Gillibrand
The Honorable Lindsey Graham
The Honorable Charles E. Grassley
The Honorable Orrin G. Hatch
The Honorable Heidi Heitkamp
The Honorable Dean Heller
The Honorable John Hoeven
The Honorable James M. Inhofe
The Honorable Johnny Isakson
The Honorable Ron Johnson
The Honorable Tim Kaine
The Honorable Angus King
The Honorable Amy Klobuchar
The Honorable Joe Manchin
The Honorable Claire McCaskill
The Honorable Mitch McConnell
The Honorable Jeff Merkley
The Honorable Jerry Moran
The Honorable Lisa Murkowski
The Honorable Patty Murray

The Honorable Gary Peters
The Honorable Rob Portman
The Honorable Jim Risch
The Honorable Pat Roberts
The Honorable Michael Rounds
The Honorable Brian Schatz
The Honorable Tim Scott
The Honorable Jeanne Shaheen
The Honorable Debbie Stabenow
The Honorable Dan Sullivan
The Honorable Jon Tester
The Honorable John Thune
The Honorable Thom Tillis
The Honorable David Vitter
The Honorable Roger Wicker
The Honorable Ron Wyden

OFFICE OF
THE CHAIRMAN

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION
WASHINGTON

May 29, 2015

The Honorable Deb Fischer
United States Senate
825 Hart Senate Office Building
Washington, D.C. 20510

Dear Senator Fischer:

Thank you for your letter urging the Commission to reform our Universal Service Fund (“USF”) mechanisms to support broadband deployment in rural America. The universal service program is one of the most important tools at our disposal to ensure that consumers and businesses in rural America have the same opportunities as their urban and suburban counterparts to be active participants in the 21st century economy. I share your goal of ensuring that the universal service program better reflects today’s marketplace and technology in areas served by rate-of-return carriers.

As I explained at the Senate Commerce Committee’s FCC Oversight Hearing earlier this year, resolving this issue will require all the stakeholders to work together and make hard decisions to reach consensus on the best path forward. Everybody agrees that the goal of any changes should be supporting broadband in rural areas, but so long as the recipients of USF funding remain divided, achieving those goals remains problematic. Those rate-of-return carriers who provide rural service must coalesce around changes that create the proper incentives to deploy and maintain robust broadband networks. The lack of such a plan will prevent policy makers from making informed decisions about the best way to serve both the rural Americans who use those networks and the ratepayers who contribute that support.

With that in mind, I directed my staff and staff members from the Commission’s Wireline Bureau to meet with stakeholders in the rate-of-return community. In that meeting, which was joined by Commissioner O’Rielly, his staff, and Commissioner Clyburn’s staff, we gave stakeholders thirty days to work together to develop an approach that both has the widespread support of the rate-of-return community and meets the principles unanimously outlined by the Commission in our April 2014 Further Notice of Proposed Rulemaking.

On May 20, at a meeting with Wireline Bureau staff, the stakeholders asked for additional time to continue to work on a solution. We agreed to an additional two weeks, but if we are going to get this done this year, there is not only a need for consensus, but also time for public comment on any new proposals and for the Commission to evaluate the proposals in light of the comments received. The search for consensus cannot drag on.

While it is encouraging the stakeholders appear to have come to consensus on the notion of a “two-path” approach to reforming the program that is comprised of both a model-based path and updates to the existing mechanisms, agreement as to structure is a long way from agreement as to substance. Specifically, while the parties agree on the importance of broadband support, the parties have stated that, “consensus has not yet been reached regarding such a broadband-only support mechanism.”

I share your concern about rural broadband and I recognize that different rate-of-return carriers have different equities. Since this is a program designed to help rate-of-return carriers bring service to rural consumers, and we all agree on the need to reform the program to support the deployment of broadband, it is a matter of significant concern that the rate-of-return parties in interest have not reached agreement on an approach that will allocate funding in a way that results in additional rural deployment of broadband in the future.

I recognize the substantial time, effort, and resources that have been invested in this effort to date by stakeholders in the rate-of-return community. And I am committed to finding a path forward by the end of the year. But it is important to have a solution – or set of solutions – that creates the right incentives to deploy modern networks throughout rural America, meets the Commission’s overarching policy objectives, and has the widespread support of the rate-of-return carrier community. Stakeholders have not presented us with that solution yet, but I remain hopeful that the parties will use the extra time they have to address the outstanding issues. Without the support of the nation’s rate-of-return providers of rural service, it is difficult to see how any reform of these universal service programs could successfully deliver on our shared goal of more robust broadband throughout rural America.

I look forward to working with you to make continued progress on the deployment of broadband to consumers throughout rural areas a reality.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in blue ink, appearing to read "Tom Wheeler", with a stylized flourish at the end.

Tom Wheeler

cc: The Honorable Lamar Alexander
The Honorable Kelly Ayotte
The Honorable Tammy Baldwin
The Honorable John Barrasso
The Honorable Michael Bennet
The Honorable Roy Blunt
The Honorable John Boozman
The Honorable Richard M. Burr
The Honorable Maria Cantwell
The Honorable Shelley Moore Capito
The Honorable Bill Cassidy
The Honorable Dan Coats
The Honorable Susan Collins
The Honorable Bob Corker
The Honorable John Cornyn
The Honorable Tom Cotton
The Honorable Michael D. Crapo
The Honorable Steve Daines
The Honorable Joe Donnelly
The Honorable Richard J. Durbin
The Honorable Michael B. Enzi
The Honorable Joni Ernst
The Honorable Al Franken
The Honorable Cory Gardner
The Honorable Kirsten Gillibrand
The Honorable Lindsey Graham
The Honorable Charles E. Grassley
The Honorable Orrin G. Hatch
The Honorable Heidi Heitkamp
The Honorable Dean Heller
The Honorable John Hoeven
The Honorable James M. Inhofe
The Honorable Johnny Isakson
The Honorable Ron Johnson
The Honorable Tim Kaine
The Honorable Angus King
The Honorable Amy Klobuchar
The Honorable Joe Manchin
The Honorable Claire McCaskill
The Honorable Mitch McConnell
The Honorable Jeff Merkley
The Honorable Jerry Moran
The Honorable Lisa Murkowski
The Honorable Patty Murray

The Honorable Gary Peters
The Honorable Rob Portman
The Honorable Jim Risch
The Honorable Pat Roberts
The Honorable Michael Rounds
The Honorable Brian Schatz
The Honorable Tim Scott
The Honorable Jeanne Shaheen
The Honorable Debbie Stabenow
The Honorable Dan Sullivan
The Honorable Jon Tester
The Honorable John Thune
The Honorable Thom Tillis
The Honorable David Vitter
The Honorable Roger Wicker
The Honorable Ron Wyden

OFFICE OF
THE CHAIRMAN

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION
WASHINGTON

May 29, 2015

The Honorable Al Franken
United States Senate
309 Hart Senate Office Building
Washington, D.C. 20510

Dear Senator Franken:

Thank you for your letter urging the Commission to reform our Universal Service Fund (“USF”) mechanisms to support broadband deployment in rural America. The universal service program is one of the most important tools at our disposal to ensure that consumers and businesses in rural America have the same opportunities as their urban and suburban counterparts to be active participants in the 21st century economy. I share your goal of ensuring that the universal service program better reflects today’s marketplace and technology in areas served by rate-of-return carriers.

As I explained at the Senate Commerce Committee’s FCC Oversight Hearing earlier this year, resolving this issue will require all the stakeholders to work together and make hard decisions to reach consensus on the best path forward. Everybody agrees that the goal of any changes should be supporting broadband in rural areas, but so long as the recipients of USF funding remain divided, achieving those goals remains problematic. Those rate-of-return carriers who provide rural service must coalesce around changes that create the proper incentives to deploy and maintain robust broadband networks. The lack of such a plan will prevent policy makers from making informed decisions about the best way to serve both the rural Americans who use those networks and the ratepayers who contribute that support.

With that in mind, I directed my staff and staff members from the Commission’s Wireline Bureau to meet with stakeholders in the rate-of-return community. In that meeting, which was joined by Commissioner O’Rielly, his staff, and Commissioner Clyburn’s staff, we gave stakeholders thirty days to work together to develop an approach that both has the widespread support of the rate-of-return community and meets the principles unanimously outlined by the Commission in our April 2014 Further Notice of Proposed Rulemaking.

On May 20, at a meeting with Wireline Bureau staff, the stakeholders asked for additional time to continue to work on a solution. We agreed to an additional two weeks, but if we are going to get this done this year, there is not only a need for consensus, but also time for public comment on any new proposals and for the Commission to evaluate the proposals in light of the comments received. The search for consensus cannot drag on.

While it is encouraging the stakeholders appear to have come to consensus on the notion of a “two-path” approach to reforming the program that is comprised of both a model-based path and updates to the existing mechanisms, agreement as to structure is a long way from agreement as to substance. Specifically, while the parties agree on the importance of broadband support, the parties have stated that, “consensus has not yet been reached regarding such a broadband-only support mechanism.”

I share your concern about rural broadband and I recognize that different rate-of-return carriers have different equities. Since this is a program designed to help rate-of-return carriers bring service to rural consumers, and we all agree on the need to reform the program to support the deployment of broadband, it is a matter of significant concern that the rate-of-return parties in interest have not reached agreement on an approach that will allocate funding in a way that results in additional rural deployment of broadband in the future.

I recognize the substantial time, effort, and resources that have been invested in this effort to date by stakeholders in the rate-of-return community. And I am committed to finding a path forward by the end of the year. But it is important to have a solution – or set of solutions – that creates the right incentives to deploy modern networks throughout rural America, meets the Commission’s overarching policy objectives, and has the widespread support of the rate-of-return carrier community. Stakeholders have not presented us with that solution yet, but I remain hopeful that the parties will use the extra time they have to address the outstanding issues. Without the support of the nation’s rate-of-return providers of rural service, it is difficult to see how any reform of these universal service programs could successfully deliver on our shared goal of more robust broadband throughout rural America.

I look forward to working with you to make continued progress on the deployment of broadband to consumers throughout rural areas a reality.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in blue ink, appearing to read "Tom Wheeler", written in a cursive style.

Tom Wheeler

cc: The Honorable Lamar Alexander
The Honorable Kelly Ayotte
The Honorable Tammy Baldwin
The Honorable John Barrasso
The Honorable Michael Bennet
The Honorable Roy Blunt
The Honorable John Boozman
The Honorable Richard M. Burr
The Honorable Maria Cantwell
The Honorable Shelley Moore Capito
The Honorable Bill Cassidy
The Honorable Dan Coats
The Honorable Susan Collins
The Honorable Bob Corker
The Honorable John Cornyn
The Honorable Tom Cotton
The Honorable Michael D. Crapo
The Honorable Steve Daines
The Honorable Joe Donnelly
The Honorable Richard J. Durbin
The Honorable Michael B. Enzi
The Honorable Joni Ernst
The Honorable Deb Fischer
The Honorable Cory Gardner
The Honorable Kirsten Gillibrand
The Honorable Lindsey Graham
The Honorable Charles E. Grassley
The Honorable Orrin G. Hatch
The Honorable Heidi Heitkamp
The Honorable Dean Heller
The Honorable John Hoeven
The Honorable James M. Inhofe
The Honorable Johnny Isakson
The Honorable Ron Johnson
The Honorable Tim Kaine
The Honorable Angus King
The Honorable Amy Klobuchar
The Honorable Joe Manchin
The Honorable Claire McCaskill
The Honorable Mitch McConnell
The Honorable Jeff Merkley
The Honorable Jerry Moran
The Honorable Lisa Murkowski
The Honorable Patty Murray

The Honorable Gary Peters
The Honorable Rob Portman
The Honorable Jim Risch
The Honorable Pat Roberts
The Honorable Michael Rounds
The Honorable Brian Schatz
The Honorable Tim Scott
The Honorable Jeanne Shaheen
The Honorable Debbie Stabenow
The Honorable Dan Sullivan
The Honorable Jon Tester
The Honorable John Thune
The Honorable Thom Tillis
The Honorable David Vitter
The Honorable Roger Wicker
The Honorable Ron Wyden

OFFICE OF
THE CHAIRMAN

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION
WASHINGTON

May 29, 2015

The Honorable Cory Gardner
United States Senate
B40B Dirksen Senate Office Building
Washington, D.C. 20510

Dear Senator Gardner:

Thank you for your letter urging the Commission to reform our Universal Service Fund (“USF”) mechanisms to support broadband deployment in rural America. The universal service program is one of the most important tools at our disposal to ensure that consumers and businesses in rural America have the same opportunities as their urban and suburban counterparts to be active participants in the 21st century economy. I share your goal of ensuring that the universal service program better reflects today’s marketplace and technology in areas served by rate-of-return carriers.

As I explained at the Senate Commerce Committee’s FCC Oversight Hearing earlier this year, resolving this issue will require all the stakeholders to work together and make hard decisions to reach consensus on the best path forward. Everybody agrees that the goal of any changes should be supporting broadband in rural areas, but so long as the recipients of USF funding remain divided, achieving those goals remains problematic. Those rate-of-return carriers who provide rural service must coalesce around changes that create the proper incentives to deploy and maintain robust broadband networks. The lack of such a plan will prevent policy makers from making informed decisions about the best way to serve both the rural Americans who use those networks and the ratepayers who contribute that support.

With that in mind, I directed my staff and staff members from the Commission’s Wireline Bureau to meet with stakeholders in the rate-of-return community. In that meeting, which was joined by Commissioner O’Rielly, his staff, and Commissioner Clyburn’s staff, we gave stakeholders thirty days to work together to develop an approach that both has the widespread support of the rate-of-return community and meets the principles unanimously outlined by the Commission in our April 2014 Further Notice of Proposed Rulemaking.

On May 20, at a meeting with Wireline Bureau staff, the stakeholders asked for additional time to continue to work on a solution. We agreed to an additional two weeks, but if we are going to get this done this year, there is not only a need for consensus, but also time for public comment on any new proposals and for the Commission to evaluate the proposals in light of the comments received. The search for consensus cannot drag on.

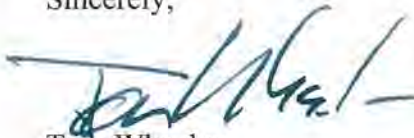

While it is encouraging the stakeholders appear to have come to consensus on the notion of a “two-path” approach to reforming the program that is comprised of both a model-based path and updates to the existing mechanisms, agreement as to structure is a long way from agreement as to substance. Specifically, while the parties agree on the importance of broadband support, the parties have stated that, “consensus has not yet been reached regarding such a broadband-only support mechanism.”

I share your concern about rural broadband and I recognize that different rate-of-return carriers have different equities. Since this is a program designed to help rate-of-return carriers bring service to rural consumers, and we all agree on the need to reform the program to support the deployment of broadband, it is a matter of significant concern that the rate-of-return parties in interest have not reached agreement on an approach that will allocate funding in a way that results in additional rural deployment of broadband in the future.

I recognize the substantial time, effort, and resources that have been invested in this effort to date by stakeholders in the rate-of-return community. And I am committed to finding a path forward by the end of the year. But it is important to have a solution – or set of solutions – that creates the right incentives to deploy modern networks throughout rural America, meets the Commission’s overarching policy objectives, and has the widespread support of the rate-of-return carrier community. Stakeholders have not presented us with that solution yet, but I remain hopeful that the parties will use the extra time they have to address the outstanding issues. Without the support of the nation’s rate-of-return providers of rural service, it is difficult to see how any reform of these universal service programs could successfully deliver on our shared goal of more robust broadband throughout rural America.

I look forward to working with you to make continued progress on the deployment of broadband to consumers throughout rural areas a reality.

Sincerely,

Tom Wheeler

cc: The Honorable Lamar Alexander
The Honorable Kelly Ayotte
The Honorable Tammy Baldwin
The Honorable John Barrasso
The Honorable Michael Bennet
The Honorable Roy Blunt
The Honorable John Boozman
The Honorable Richard M. Burr
The Honorable Maria Cantwell
The Honorable Shelley Moore Capito
The Honorable Bill Cassidy
The Honorable Dan Coats
The Honorable Susan Collins
The Honorable Bob Corker
The Honorable John Cornyn
The Honorable Tom Cotton
The Honorable Michael D. Crapo
The Honorable Steve Daines
The Honorable Joe Donnelly
The Honorable Richard J. Durbin
The Honorable Michael B. Enzi
The Honorable Joni Ernst
The Honorable Deb Fischer
The Honorable Al Franken
The Honorable Kirsten Gillibrand
The Honorable Lindsey Graham
The Honorable Charles E. Grassley
The Honorable Orrin G. Hatch
The Honorable Heidi Heitkamp
The Honorable Dean Heller
The Honorable John Hoeven
The Honorable James M. Inhofe
The Honorable Johnny Isakson
The Honorable Ron Johnson
The Honorable Tim Kaine
The Honorable Angus King
The Honorable Amy Klobuchar
The Honorable Joe Manchin
The Honorable Claire McCaskill
The Honorable Mitch McConnell
The Honorable Jeff Merkley
The Honorable Jerry Moran
The Honorable Lisa Murkowski
The Honorable Patty Murray

The Honorable Gary Peters
The Honorable Rob Portman
The Honorable Jim Risch
The Honorable Pat Roberts
The Honorable Michael Rounds
The Honorable Brian Schatz
The Honorable Tim Scott
The Honorable Jeanne Shaheen
The Honorable Debbie Stabenow
The Honorable Dan Sullivan
The Honorable Jon Tester
The Honorable John Thune
The Honorable Thom Tillis
The Honorable David Vitter
The Honorable Roger Wicker
The Honorable Ron Wyden

OFFICE OF
THE CHAIRMAN

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION
WASHINGTON

May 29, 2015

The Honorable Kirsten Gillibrand
United States Senate
478 Russell Senate Office Building
Washington, D.C. 20510

Dear Senator Gillibrand:

Thank you for your letter urging the Commission to reform our Universal Service Fund (“USF”) mechanisms to support broadband deployment in rural America. The universal service program is one of the most important tools at our disposal to ensure that consumers and businesses in rural America have the same opportunities as their urban and suburban counterparts to be active participants in the 21st century economy. I share your goal of ensuring that the universal service program better reflects today’s marketplace and technology in areas served by rate-of-return carriers.

As I explained at the Senate Commerce Committee’s FCC Oversight Hearing earlier this year, resolving this issue will require all the stakeholders to work together and make hard decisions to reach consensus on the best path forward. Everybody agrees that the goal of any changes should be supporting broadband in rural areas, but so long as the recipients of USF funding remain divided, achieving those goals remains problematic. Those rate-of-return carriers who provide rural service must coalesce around changes that create the proper incentives to deploy and maintain robust broadband networks. The lack of such a plan will prevent policy makers from making informed decisions about the best way to serve both the rural Americans who use those networks and the ratepayers who contribute that support.

With that in mind, I directed my staff and staff members from the Commission’s Wireline Bureau to meet with stakeholders in the rate-of-return community. In that meeting, which was joined by Commissioner O’Rielly, his staff, and Commissioner Clyburn’s staff, we gave stakeholders thirty days to work together to develop an approach that both has the widespread support of the rate-of-return community and meets the principles unanimously outlined by the Commission in our April 2014 Further Notice of Proposed Rulemaking.

On May 20, at a meeting with Wireline Bureau staff, the stakeholders asked for additional time to continue to work on a solution. We agreed to an additional two weeks, but if we are going to get this done this year, there is not only a need for consensus, but also time for public comment on any new proposals and for the Commission to evaluate the proposals in light of the comments received. The search for consensus cannot drag on.

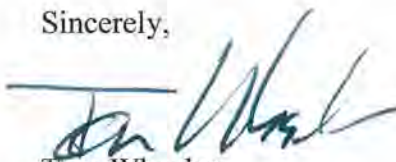

While it is encouraging the stakeholders appear to have come to consensus on the notion of a “two-path” approach to reforming the program that is comprised of both a model-based path and updates to the existing mechanisms, agreement as to structure is a long way from agreement as to substance. Specifically, while the parties agree on the importance of broadband support, the parties have stated that, “consensus has not yet been reached regarding such a broadband-only support mechanism.”

I share your concern about rural broadband and I recognize that different rate-of-return carriers have different equities. Since this is a program designed to help rate-of-return carriers bring service to rural consumers, and we all agree on the need to reform the program to support the deployment of broadband, it is a matter of significant concern that the rate-of-return parties in interest have not reached agreement on an approach that will allocate funding in a way that results in additional rural deployment of broadband in the future.

I recognize the substantial time, effort, and resources that have been invested in this effort to date by stakeholders in the rate-of-return community. And I am committed to finding a path forward by the end of the year. But it is important to have a solution – or set of solutions – that creates the right incentives to deploy modern networks throughout rural America, meets the Commission’s overarching policy objectives, and has the widespread support of the rate-of-return carrier community. Stakeholders have not presented us with that solution yet, but I remain hopeful that the parties will use the extra time they have to address the outstanding issues. Without the support of the nation’s rate-of-return providers of rural service, it is difficult to see how any reform of these universal service programs could successfully deliver on our shared goal of more robust broadband throughout rural America.

I look forward to working with you to make continued progress on the deployment of broadband to consumers throughout rural areas a reality.

Sincerely,

Tom Wheeler

cc: The Honorable Lamar Alexander
The Honorable Kelly Ayotte
The Honorable Tammy Baldwin
The Honorable John Barrasso
The Honorable Michael Bennet
The Honorable Roy Blunt
The Honorable John Boozman
The Honorable Richard M. Burr
The Honorable Maria Cantwell
The Honorable Shelley Moore Capito
The Honorable Bill Cassidy
The Honorable Dan Coats
The Honorable Susan Collins
The Honorable Bob Corker
The Honorable John Cornyn
The Honorable Tom Cotton
The Honorable Michael D. Crapo
The Honorable Steve Daines
The Honorable Joe Donnelly
The Honorable Richard J. Durbin
The Honorable Michael B. Enzi
The Honorable Joni Ernst
The Honorable Deb Fischer
The Honorable Al Franken
The Honorable Cory Gardner
The Honorable Lindsey Graham
The Honorable Charles E. Grassley
The Honorable Orrin G. Hatch
The Honorable Heidi Heitkamp
The Honorable Dean Heller
The Honorable John Hoeven
The Honorable James M. Inhofe
The Honorable Johnny Isakson
The Honorable Ron Johnson
The Honorable Tim Kaine
The Honorable Angus King
The Honorable Amy Klobuchar
The Honorable Joe Manchin
The Honorable Claire McCaskill
The Honorable Mitch McConnell
The Honorable Jeff Merkley
The Honorable Jerry Moran
The Honorable Lisa Murkowski
The Honorable Patty Murray

The Honorable Gary Peters
The Honorable Rob Portman
The Honorable Jim Risch
The Honorable Pat Roberts
The Honorable Michael Rounds
The Honorable Brian Schatz
The Honorable Tim Scott
The Honorable Jeanne Shaheen
The Honorable Debbie Stabenow
The Honorable Dan Sullivan
The Honorable Jon Tester
The Honorable John Thune
The Honorable Thom Tillis
The Honorable David Vitter
The Honorable Roger Wicker
The Honorable Ron Wyden

OFFICE OF
THE CHAIRMAN

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION
WASHINGTON

May 29, 2015

The Honorable Lindsey Graham
United States Senate
290 Russell Senate Office Building
Washington, D.C. 20510

Dear Senator Graham:

Thank you for your letter urging the Commission to reform our Universal Service Fund ("USF") mechanisms to support broadband deployment in rural America. The universal service program is one of the most important tools at our disposal to ensure that consumers and businesses in rural America have the same opportunities as their urban and suburban counterparts to be active participants in the 21st century economy. I share your goal of ensuring that the universal service program better reflects today's marketplace and technology in areas served by rate-of-return carriers.

As I explained at the Senate Commerce Committee's FCC Oversight Hearing earlier this year, resolving this issue will require all the stakeholders to work together and make hard decisions to reach consensus on the best path forward. Everybody agrees that the goal of any changes should be supporting broadband in rural areas, but so long as the recipients of USF funding remain divided, achieving those goals remains problematic. Those rate-of-return carriers who provide rural service must coalesce around changes that create the proper incentives to deploy and maintain robust broadband networks. The lack of such a plan will prevent policy makers from making informed decisions about the best way to serve both the rural Americans who use those networks and the ratepayers who contribute that support.

With that in mind, I directed my staff and staff members from the Commission's Wireline Bureau to meet with stakeholders in the rate-of-return community. In that meeting, which was joined by Commissioner O'Rielly, his staff, and Commissioner Clyburn's staff, we gave stakeholders thirty days to work together to develop an approach that both has the widespread support of the rate-of-return community and meets the principles unanimously outlined by the Commission in our April 2014 Further Notice of Proposed Rulemaking.

On May 20, at a meeting with Wireline Bureau staff, the stakeholders asked for additional time to continue to work on a solution. We agreed to an additional two weeks, but if we are going to get this done this year, there is not only a need for consensus, but also time for public comment on any new proposals and for the Commission to evaluate the proposals in light of the comments received. The search for consensus cannot drag on.

While it is encouraging the stakeholders appear to have come to consensus on the notion of a “two-path” approach to reforming the program that is comprised of both a model-based path and updates to the existing mechanisms, agreement as to structure is a long way from agreement as to substance. Specifically, while the parties agree on the importance of broadband support, the parties have stated that, “consensus has not yet been reached regarding such a broadband-only support mechanism.”

I share your concern about rural broadband and I recognize that different rate-of-return carriers have different equities. Since this is a program designed to help rate-of-return carriers bring service to rural consumers, and we all agree on the need to reform the program to support the deployment of broadband, it is a matter of significant concern that the rate-of-return parties in interest have not reached agreement on an approach that will allocate funding in a way that results in additional rural deployment of broadband in the future.

I recognize the substantial time, effort, and resources that have been invested in this effort to date by stakeholders in the rate-of-return community. And I am committed to finding a path forward by the end of the year. But it is important to have a solution – or set of solutions – that creates the right incentives to deploy modern networks throughout rural America, meets the Commission’s overarching policy objectives, and has the widespread support of the rate-of-return carrier community. Stakeholders have not presented us with that solution yet, but I remain hopeful that the parties will use the extra time they have to address the outstanding issues. Without the support of the nation’s rate-of-return providers of rural service, it is difficult to see how any reform of these universal service programs could successfully deliver on our shared goal of more robust broadband throughout rural America.

I look forward to working with you to make continued progress on the deployment of broadband to consumers throughout rural areas a reality.

Sincerely,

Tom Wheeler

cc: The Honorable Lamar Alexander
The Honorable Kelly Ayotte
The Honorable Tammy Baldwin
The Honorable John Barrasso
The Honorable Michael Bennet
The Honorable Roy Blunt
The Honorable John Boozman
The Honorable Richard M. Burr
The Honorable Maria Cantwell
The Honorable Shelley Moore Capito
The Honorable Bill Cassidy
The Honorable Dan Coats
The Honorable Susan Collins
The Honorable Bob Corker
The Honorable John Cornyn
The Honorable Tom Cotton
The Honorable Michael D. Crapo
The Honorable Steve Daines
The Honorable Joe Donnelly
The Honorable Richard J. Durbin
The Honorable Michael B. Enzi
The Honorable Joni Ernst
The Honorable Deb Fischer
The Honorable Al Franken
The Honorable Cory Gardner
The Honorable Kirsten Gillibrand
The Honorable Charles E. Grassley
The Honorable Orrin G. Hatch
The Honorable Heidi Heitkamp
The Honorable Dean Heller
The Honorable John Hoeven
The Honorable James M. Inhofe
The Honorable Johnny Isakson
The Honorable Ron Johnson
The Honorable Tim Kaine
The Honorable Angus King
The Honorable Amy Klobuchar
The Honorable Joe Manchin
The Honorable Claire McCaskill
The Honorable Mitch McConnell
The Honorable Jeff Merkley
The Honorable Jerry Moran
The Honorable Lisa Murkowski
The Honorable Patty Murray

The Honorable Gary Peters
The Honorable Rob Portman
The Honorable Jim Risch
The Honorable Pat Roberts
The Honorable Michael Rounds
The Honorable Brian Schatz
The Honorable Tim Scott
The Honorable Jeanne Shaheen
The Honorable Debbie Stabenow
The Honorable Dan Sullivan
The Honorable Jon Tester
The Honorable John Thune
The Honorable Thom Tillis
The Honorable David Vitter
The Honorable Roger Wicker
The Honorable Ron Wyden

OFFICE OF
THE CHAIRMAN

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION
WASHINGTON

May 29, 2015

The Honorable Charles E. Grassley
United States Senate
135 Hart Senate Office Building
Washington, D.C. 20510

Dear Senator Grassley:

Thank you for your letter urging the Commission to reform our Universal Service Fund (“USF”) mechanisms to support broadband deployment in rural America. The universal service program is one of the most important tools at our disposal to ensure that consumers and businesses in rural America have the same opportunities as their urban and suburban counterparts to be active participants in the 21st century economy. I share your goal of ensuring that the universal service program better reflects today’s marketplace and technology in areas served by rate-of-return carriers.

As I explained at the Senate Commerce Committee’s FCC Oversight Hearing earlier this year, resolving this issue will require all the stakeholders to work together and make hard decisions to reach consensus on the best path forward. Everybody agrees that the goal of any changes should be supporting broadband in rural areas, but so long as the recipients of USF funding remain divided, achieving those goals remains problematic. Those rate-of-return carriers who provide rural service must coalesce around changes that create the proper incentives to deploy and maintain robust broadband networks. The lack of such a plan will prevent policy makers from making informed decisions about the best way to serve both the rural Americans who use those networks and the ratepayers who contribute that support.

With that in mind, I directed my staff and staff members from the Commission’s Wireline Bureau to meet with stakeholders in the rate-of-return community. In that meeting, which was joined by Commissioner O’Rielly, his staff, and Commissioner Clyburn’s staff, we gave stakeholders thirty days to work together to develop an approach that both has the widespread support of the rate-of-return community and meets the principles unanimously outlined by the Commission in our April 2014 Further Notice of Proposed Rulemaking.

On May 20, at a meeting with Wireline Bureau staff, the stakeholders asked for additional time to continue to work on a solution. We agreed to an additional two weeks, but if we are going to get this done this year, there is not only a need for consensus, but also time for public comment on any new proposals and for the Commission to evaluate the proposals in light of the comments received. The search for consensus cannot drag on.

While it is encouraging the stakeholders appear to have come to consensus on the notion of a “two-path” approach to reforming the program that is comprised of both a model-based path and updates to the existing mechanisms, agreement as to structure is a long way from agreement as to substance. Specifically, while the parties agree on the importance of broadband support, the parties have stated that, “consensus has not yet been reached regarding such a broadband-only support mechanism.”

I share your concern about rural broadband and I recognize that different rate-of-return carriers have different equities. Since this is a program designed to help rate-of-return carriers bring service to rural consumers, and we all agree on the need to reform the program to support the deployment of broadband, it is a matter of significant concern that the rate-of-return parties in interest have not reached agreement on an approach that will allocate funding in a way that results in additional rural deployment of broadband in the future.

I recognize the substantial time, effort, and resources that have been invested in this effort to date by stakeholders in the rate-of-return community. And I am committed to finding a path forward by the end of the year. But it is important to have a solution – or set of solutions – that creates the right incentives to deploy modern networks throughout rural America, meets the Commission’s overarching policy objectives, and has the widespread support of the rate-of-return carrier community. Stakeholders have not presented us with that solution yet, but I remain hopeful that the parties will use the extra time they have to address the outstanding issues. Without the support of the nation’s rate-of-return providers of rural service, it is difficult to see how any reform of these universal service programs could successfully deliver on our shared goal of more robust broadband throughout rural America.

I look forward to working with you to make continued progress on the deployment of broadband to consumers throughout rural areas a reality.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read "Tom Wheeler", with a stylized flourish at the end.

Tom Wheeler

cc: The Honorable Lamar Alexander
The Honorable Kelly Ayotte
The Honorable Tammy Baldwin
The Honorable John Barrasso
The Honorable Michael Bennet
The Honorable Roy Blunt
The Honorable John Boozman
The Honorable Richard M. Burr
The Honorable Maria Cantwell
The Honorable Shelley Moore Capito
The Honorable Bill Cassidy
The Honorable Dan Coats
The Honorable Susan Collins
The Honorable Bob Corker
The Honorable John Cornyn
The Honorable Tom Cotton
The Honorable Michael D. Crapo
The Honorable Steve Daines
The Honorable Joe Donnelly
The Honorable Richard J. Durbin
The Honorable Michael B. Enzi
The Honorable Joni Ernst
The Honorable Deb Fischer
The Honorable Al Franken
The Honorable Cory Gardner
The Honorable Kirsten Gillibrand
The Honorable Lindsey Graham
The Honorable Orrin G. Hatch
The Honorable Heidi Heitkamp
The Honorable Dean Heller
The Honorable John Hoeven
The Honorable James M. Inhofe
The Honorable Johnny Isakson
The Honorable Ron Johnson
The Honorable Tim Kaine
The Honorable Angus King
The Honorable Amy Klobuchar
The Honorable Joe Manchin
The Honorable Claire McCaskill
The Honorable Mitch McConnell
The Honorable Jeff Merkley
The Honorable Jerry Moran
The Honorable Lisa Murkowski
The Honorable Patty Murray

The Honorable Gary Peters
The Honorable Rob Portman
The Honorable Jim Risch
The Honorable Pat Roberts
The Honorable Michael Rounds
The Honorable Brian Schatz
The Honorable Tim Scott
The Honorable Jeanne Shaheen
The Honorable Debbie Stabenow
The Honorable Dan Sullivan
The Honorable Jon Tester
The Honorable John Thune
The Honorable Thom Tillis
The Honorable David Vitter
The Honorable Roger Wicker
The Honorable Ron Wyden

OFFICE OF
THE CHAIRMAN

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION
WASHINGTON

May 29, 2015

The Honorable Orrin G. Hatch
United States Senate
104 Hart Senate Office Building
Washington, D.C. 20510

Dear Senator Hatch:

Thank you for your letter urging the Commission to reform our Universal Service Fund (“USF”) mechanisms to support broadband deployment in rural America. The universal service program is one of the most important tools at our disposal to ensure that consumers and businesses in rural America have the same opportunities as their urban and suburban counterparts to be active participants in the 21st century economy. I share your goal of ensuring that the universal service program better reflects today’s marketplace and technology in areas served by rate-of-return carriers.

As I explained at the Senate Commerce Committee’s FCC Oversight Hearing earlier this year, resolving this issue will require all the stakeholders to work together and make hard decisions to reach consensus on the best path forward. Everybody agrees that the goal of any changes should be supporting broadband in rural areas, but so long as the recipients of USF funding remain divided, achieving those goals remains problematic. Those rate-of-return carriers who provide rural service must coalesce around changes that create the proper incentives to deploy and maintain robust broadband networks. The lack of such a plan will prevent policy makers from making informed decisions about the best way to serve both the rural Americans who use those networks and the ratepayers who contribute that support.

With that in mind, I directed my staff and staff members from the Commission’s Wireline Bureau to meet with stakeholders in the rate-of-return community. In that meeting, which was joined by Commissioner O’Rielly, his staff, and Commissioner Clyburn’s staff, we gave stakeholders thirty days to work together to develop an approach that both has the widespread support of the rate-of-return community and meets the principles unanimously outlined by the Commission in our April 2014 Further Notice of Proposed Rulemaking.

On May 20, at a meeting with Wireline Bureau staff, the stakeholders asked for additional time to continue to work on a solution. We agreed to an additional two weeks, but if we are going to get this done this year, there is not only a need for consensus, but also time for public comment on any new proposals and for the Commission to evaluate the proposals in light of the comments received. The search for consensus cannot drag on.

While it is encouraging the stakeholders appear to have come to consensus on the notion of a “two-path” approach to reforming the program that is comprised of both a model-based path and updates to the existing mechanisms, agreement as to structure is a long way from agreement as to substance. Specifically, while the parties agree on the importance of broadband support, the parties have stated that, “consensus has not yet been reached regarding such a broadband-only support mechanism.”

I share your concern about rural broadband and I recognize that different rate-of-return carriers have different equities. Since this is a program designed to help rate-of-return carriers bring service to rural consumers, and we all agree on the need to reform the program to support the deployment of broadband, it is a matter of significant concern that the rate-of-return parties in interest have not reached agreement on an approach that will allocate funding in a way that results in additional rural deployment of broadband in the future.

I recognize the substantial time, effort, and resources that have been invested in this effort to date by stakeholders in the rate-of-return community. And I am committed to finding a path forward by the end of the year. But it is important to have a solution – or set of solutions – that creates the right incentives to deploy modern networks throughout rural America, meets the Commission’s overarching policy objectives, and has the widespread support of the rate-of-return carrier community. Stakeholders have not presented us with that solution yet, but I remain hopeful that the parties will use the extra time they have to address the outstanding issues. Without the support of the nation’s rate-of-return providers of rural service, it is difficult to see how any reform of these universal service programs could successfully deliver on our shared goal of more robust broadband throughout rural America.

I look forward to working with you to make continued progress on the deployment of broadband to consumers throughout rural areas a reality.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read "Tom Wheeler", written over a horizontal line.

Tom Wheeler

cc: The Honorable Lamar Alexander
The Honorable Kelly Ayotte
The Honorable Tammy Baldwin
The Honorable John Barrasso
The Honorable Michael Bennet
The Honorable Roy Blunt
The Honorable John Boozman
The Honorable Richard M. Burr
The Honorable Maria Cantwell
The Honorable Shelley Moore Capito
The Honorable Bill Cassidy
The Honorable Dan Coats
The Honorable Susan Collins
The Honorable Bob Corker
The Honorable John Cornyn
The Honorable Tom Cotton
The Honorable Michael D. Crapo
The Honorable Steve Daines
The Honorable Joe Donnelly
The Honorable Richard J. Durbin
The Honorable Michael B. Enzi
The Honorable Joni Ernst
The Honorable Deb Fischer
The Honorable Al Franken
The Honorable Cory Gardner
The Honorable Kirsten Gillibrand
The Honorable Lindsey Graham
The Honorable Charles E. Grassley
The Honorable Heidi Heitkamp
The Honorable Dean Heller
The Honorable John Hoeven
The Honorable James M. Inhofe
The Honorable Johnny Isakson
The Honorable Ron Johnson
The Honorable Tim Kaine
The Honorable Angus King
The Honorable Amy Klobuchar
The Honorable Joe Manchin
The Honorable Claire McCaskill
The Honorable Mitch McConnell
The Honorable Jeff Merkley
The Honorable Jerry Moran
The Honorable Lisa Murkowski
The Honorable Patty Murray

The Honorable Gary Peters
The Honorable Rob Portman
The Honorable Jim Risch
The Honorable Pat Roberts
The Honorable Michael Rounds
The Honorable Brian Schatz
The Honorable Tim Scott
The Honorable Jeanne Shaheen
The Honorable Debbie Stabenow
The Honorable Dan Sullivan
The Honorable Jon Tester
The Honorable John Thune
The Honorable Thom Tillis
The Honorable David Vitter
The Honorable Roger Wicker
The Honorable Ron Wyden

OFFICE OF
THE CHAIRMAN

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION
WASHINGTON

May 29, 2015

The Honorable Heidi Heitkamp
United States Senate
G55 Dirksen Senate Office Building
Washington, D.C. 20510

Dear Senator Heitkamp:

Thank you for your letter urging the Commission to reform our Universal Service Fund (“USF”) mechanisms to support broadband deployment in rural America. The universal service program is one of the most important tools at our disposal to ensure that consumers and businesses in rural America have the same opportunities as their urban and suburban counterparts to be active participants in the 21st century economy. I share your goal of ensuring that the universal service program better reflects today’s marketplace and technology in areas served by rate-of-return carriers.

As I explained at the Senate Commerce Committee’s FCC Oversight Hearing earlier this year, resolving this issue will require all the stakeholders to work together and make hard decisions to reach consensus on the best path forward. Everybody agrees that the goal of any changes should be supporting broadband in rural areas, but so long as the recipients of USF funding remain divided, achieving those goals remains problematic. Those rate-of-return carriers who provide rural service must coalesce around changes that create the proper incentives to deploy and maintain robust broadband networks. The lack of such a plan will prevent policy makers from making informed decisions about the best way to serve both the rural Americans who use those networks and the ratepayers who contribute that support.

With that in mind, I directed my staff and staff members from the Commission’s Wireline Bureau to meet with stakeholders in the rate-of-return community. In that meeting, which was joined by Commissioner O’Rielly, his staff, and Commissioner Clyburn’s staff, we gave stakeholders thirty days to work together to develop an approach that both has the widespread support of the rate-of-return community and meets the principles unanimously outlined by the Commission in our April 2014 Further Notice of Proposed Rulemaking.

On May 20, at a meeting with Wireline Bureau staff, the stakeholders asked for additional time to continue to work on a solution. We agreed to an additional two weeks, but if we are going to get this done this year, there is not only a need for consensus, but also time for public comment on any new proposals and for the Commission to evaluate the proposals in light of the comments received. The search for consensus cannot drag on.

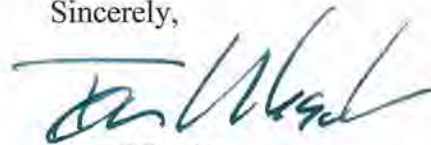

While it is encouraging the stakeholders appear to have come to consensus on the notion of a “two-path” approach to reforming the program that is comprised of both a model-based path and updates to the existing mechanisms, agreement as to structure is a long way from agreement as to substance. Specifically, while the parties agree on the importance of broadband support, the parties have stated that, “consensus has not yet been reached regarding such a broadband-only support mechanism.”

I share your concern about rural broadband and I recognize that different rate-of-return carriers have different equities. Since this is a program designed to help rate-of-return carriers bring service to rural consumers, and we all agree on the need to reform the program to support the deployment of broadband, it is a matter of significant concern that the rate-of-return parties in interest have not reached agreement on an approach that will allocate funding in a way that results in additional rural deployment of broadband in the future.

I recognize the substantial time, effort, and resources that have been invested in this effort to date by stakeholders in the rate-of-return community. And I am committed to finding a path forward by the end of the year. But it is important to have a solution – or set of solutions – that creates the right incentives to deploy modern networks throughout rural America, meets the Commission’s overarching policy objectives, and has the widespread support of the rate-of-return carrier community. Stakeholders have not presented us with that solution yet, but I remain hopeful that the parties will use the extra time they have to address the outstanding issues. Without the support of the nation’s rate-of-return providers of rural service, it is difficult to see how any reform of these universal service programs could successfully deliver on our shared goal of more robust broadband throughout rural America.

I look forward to working with you to make continued progress on the deployment of broadband to consumers throughout rural areas a reality.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in blue ink, appearing to read "Tom Wheeler", written in a cursive style.

Tom Wheeler

cc: The Honorable Lamar Alexander
The Honorable Kelly Ayotte
The Honorable Tammy Baldwin
The Honorable John Barrasso
The Honorable Michael Bennet
The Honorable Roy Blunt
The Honorable John Boozman
The Honorable Richard M. Burr
The Honorable Maria Cantwell
The Honorable Shelley Moore Capito
The Honorable Bill Cassidy
The Honorable Dan Coats
The Honorable Susan Collins
The Honorable Bob Corker
The Honorable John Cornyn
The Honorable Tom Cotton
The Honorable Michael D. Crapo
The Honorable Steve Daines
The Honorable Joe Donnelly
The Honorable Richard J. Durbin
The Honorable Michael B. Enzi
The Honorable Joni Ernst
The Honorable Deb Fischer
The Honorable Al Franken
The Honorable Cory Gardner
The Honorable Kirsten Gillibrand
The Honorable Lindsey Graham
The Honorable Charles E. Grassley
The Honorable Orrin G. Hatch
The Honorable Dean Heller
The Honorable John Hoeven
The Honorable James M. Inhofe
The Honorable Johnny Isakson
The Honorable Ron Johnson
The Honorable Tim Kaine
The Honorable Angus King
The Honorable Amy Klobuchar
The Honorable Joe Manchin
The Honorable Claire McCaskill
The Honorable Mitch McConnell
The Honorable Jeff Merkley
The Honorable Jerry Moran
The Honorable Lisa Murkowski
The Honorable Patty Murray

The Honorable Gary Peters
The Honorable Rob Portman
The Honorable Jim Risch
The Honorable Pat Roberts
The Honorable Michael Rounds
The Honorable Brian Schatz
The Honorable Tim Scott
The Honorable Jeanne Shaheen
The Honorable Debbie Stabenow
The Honorable Dan Sullivan
The Honorable Jon Tester
The Honorable John Thune
The Honorable Thom Tillis
The Honorable David Vitter
The Honorable Roger Wicker
The Honorable Ron Wyden

OFFICE OF
THE CHAIRMAN

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION
WASHINGTON

May 29, 2015

The Honorable Dean Heller
United States Senate
361-A Russell Senate Office Building
Washington, D.C. 20510

Dear Senator Heller:

Thank you for your letter urging the Commission to reform our Universal Service Fund (“USF”) mechanisms to support broadband deployment in rural America. The universal service program is one of the most important tools at our disposal to ensure that consumers and businesses in rural America have the same opportunities as their urban and suburban counterparts to be active participants in the 21st century economy. I share your goal of ensuring that the universal service program better reflects today’s marketplace and technology in areas served by rate-of-return carriers.

As I explained at the Senate Commerce Committee’s FCC Oversight Hearing earlier this year, resolving this issue will require all the stakeholders to work together and make hard decisions to reach consensus on the best path forward. Everybody agrees that the goal of any changes should be supporting broadband in rural areas, but so long as the recipients of USF funding remain divided, achieving those goals remains problematic. Those rate-of-return carriers who provide rural service must coalesce around changes that create the proper incentives to deploy and maintain robust broadband networks. The lack of such a plan will prevent policy makers from making informed decisions about the best way to serve both the rural Americans who use those networks and the ratepayers who contribute that support.

With that in mind, I directed my staff and staff members from the Commission’s Wireline Bureau to meet with stakeholders in the rate-of-return community. In that meeting, which was joined by Commissioner O’Rielly, his staff, and Commissioner Clyburn’s staff, we gave stakeholders thirty days to work together to develop an approach that both has the widespread support of the rate-of-return community and meets the principles unanimously outlined by the Commission in our April 2014 Further Notice of Proposed Rulemaking.

On May 20, at a meeting with Wireline Bureau staff, the stakeholders asked for additional time to continue to work on a solution. We agreed to an additional two weeks, but if we are going to get this done this year, there is not only a need for consensus, but also time for public comment on any new proposals and for the Commission to evaluate the proposals in light of the comments received. The search for consensus cannot drag on.

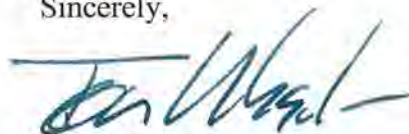

While it is encouraging the stakeholders appear to have come to consensus on the notion of a “two-path” approach to reforming the program that is comprised of both a model-based path and updates to the existing mechanisms, agreement as to structure is a long way from agreement as to substance. Specifically, while the parties agree on the importance of broadband support, the parties have stated that, “consensus has not yet been reached regarding such a broadband-only support mechanism.”

I share your concern about rural broadband and I recognize that different rate-of-return carriers have different equities. Since this is a program designed to help rate-of-return carriers bring service to rural consumers, and we all agree on the need to reform the program to support the deployment of broadband, it is a matter of significant concern that the rate-of-return parties in interest have not reached agreement on an approach that will allocate funding in a way that results in additional rural deployment of broadband in the future.

I recognize the substantial time, effort, and resources that have been invested in this effort to date by stakeholders in the rate-of-return community. And I am committed to finding a path forward by the end of the year. But it is important to have a solution – or set of solutions – that creates the right incentives to deploy modern networks throughout rural America, meets the Commission’s overarching policy objectives, and has the widespread support of the rate-of-return carrier community. Stakeholders have not presented us with that solution yet, but I remain hopeful that the parties will use the extra time they have to address the outstanding issues. Without the support of the nation’s rate-of-return providers of rural service, it is difficult to see how any reform of these universal service programs could successfully deliver on our shared goal of more robust broadband throughout rural America.

I look forward to working with you to make continued progress on the deployment of broadband to consumers throughout rural areas a reality.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in blue ink, appearing to read "Tom Wheeler", with a horizontal line extending to the right.

Tom Wheeler

cc: The Honorable Lamar Alexander
The Honorable Kelly Ayotte
The Honorable Tammy Baldwin
The Honorable John Barrasso
The Honorable Michael Bennet
The Honorable Roy Blunt
The Honorable John Boozman
The Honorable Richard M. Burr
The Honorable Maria Cantwell
The Honorable Shelley Moore Capito
The Honorable Bill Cassidy
The Honorable Dan Coats
The Honorable Susan Collins
The Honorable Bob Corker
The Honorable John Cornyn
The Honorable Tom Cotton
The Honorable Michael D. Crapo
The Honorable Steve Daines
The Honorable Joe Donnelly
The Honorable Richard J. Durbin
The Honorable Michael B. Enzi
The Honorable Joni Ernst
The Honorable Deb Fischer
The Honorable Al Franken
The Honorable Cory Gardner
The Honorable Kirsten Gillibrand
The Honorable Lindsey Graham
The Honorable Charles E. Grassley
The Honorable Orrin G. Hatch
The Honorable Heidi Heitkamp
The Honorable John Hoeven
The Honorable James M. Inhofe
The Honorable Johnny Isakson
The Honorable Ron Johnson
The Honorable Tim Kaine
The Honorable Angus King
The Honorable Amy Klobuchar
The Honorable Joe Manchin
The Honorable Claire McCaskill
The Honorable Mitch McConnell
The Honorable Jeff Merkley
The Honorable Jerry Moran
The Honorable Lisa Murkowski
The Honorable Patty Murray

The Honorable Gary Peters
The Honorable Rob Portman
The Honorable Jim Risch
The Honorable Pat Roberts
The Honorable Michael Rounds
The Honorable Brian Schatz
The Honorable Tim Scott
The Honorable Jeanne Shaheen
The Honorable Debbie Stabenow
The Honorable Dan Sullivan
The Honorable Jon Tester
The Honorable John Thune
The Honorable Thom Tillis
The Honorable David Vitter
The Honorable Roger Wicker
The Honorable Ron Wyden