The FCC's Office of Communications Business Opportunities (OCBO) will host a Supplier Diversity Conference and Workshop focusing on private sector business opportunities for small-minority and women-owned businesses. This important event will be held at FCC Headquarters, 445 12th Street, Washington, D.C. on Thursday August 20, 2015, from 9:30 am until 4:30 pm in the Commission Meeting Room.

OCBO has invited representatives from private industry, specifically telecommunications and technology firms from across the country, to discuss their organizations' contracting procedures and to provide insight on how small businesses should navigate the procurement process generally.

The panel discussions will take place from 9:30 am to 12:30 pm. The panel will consist of supplier executives and diversity officers from Cox Communications, Frontier Communications, Verizon, Sprint, AT&T, and Microsoft, respectively (Panel). The Panel will also consist of several suppliers to some of those companies, including representatives from A Unity System, The IT Architect, and others. The panelists will talk about their companies' contracting needs and how small businesses can distinguish themselves in the race for lucrative opportunities. In the afternoon, from 1:30 pm to 4:30 pm, OCBO will coordinate one-on-one sessions between our panelists and any small business owner who wishes to participate. In these confidential meetings, small business owners will get individualized advice on supplier strategies and information on current contracting opportunities.
