ORDER

Adopted: May 25, 2017

Released: October 17, 2017

By the Commission: Chairman Pai issuing a statement; Commissioner Clyburn dissenting and issuing a statement.

1. The Federal Communications Commission (Commission) has entered into a Consent Decree with Verizon New York, Inc., Verizon Network Integration Corp., and Verizon Select Services, Inc. (Verizon or the Company) to resolve an investigation by the Enforcement Bureau's (Bureau) USF Strike Force into whether Verizon violated the rules of the E-rate program.

2. Verizon provides services eligible for funding through the E-rate program to various school districts, including the New York City Department of Education (NYC DOE). The Bureau's USF Strike Force conducted an extensive investigation into Verizon's compliance with the Commission's rules (Rules) pertaining to E-rate fundable services provided to the NYC DOE.² As a result of the investigation, Verizon has taken steps to ensure greater compliance with the Rules. To settle this matter, Verizon will implement a compliance plan, and will return a sum of $17,325,000 to the E-rate program. Verizon also agrees: (i) to withdraw and not pursue any and all pending appeals and motions presently before USAC or the Commission concerning NYC DOE, including, but not limited to its Petition for Reconsideration or, in the Alternative, Clarification of the NYC DOE Adopting Order and Consent Decree dated January 27, 2016; (ii) to surrender all appeal rights with USAC or the Commission that Verizon might otherwise have for seeking E-rate support for the products or services provided to NYC DOE for the period of FY2002-FY2013 for which USAC or the Commission has denied the corresponding request for E-rate support or NYC DOE has withdrawn its request for E-rate support; and

¹ The investigation into EB-IHD-13-00010704 began with legacy file number EB-13-IH-1315. Similarly, the investigation into EB-IHD-13-00010706 was initially assigned legacy file number EB-13-IH-1316. Any future correspondence with the Commission concerning this matter should reflect both new case file numbers EB-IHD-13-00010704 and EB-IHD-13-00010706. These cases are collectively administered under master case file number EB-MC-16-00000016.

² Contemporaneous with the release of this Consent Decree, Verizon entered into a Stipulation and Order of Settlement and Dismissal with the United States to resolve a parallel investigation conducted by the Department of Justice.

(iii) not to initiate any additional actions or proceedings, including before any court or tribunal, seeking E-rate support for the products or services provided to NYC DOE for the period of FY2002-FY2013 for which USAC or the Commission has denied the corresponding request for E-rate support or NYC DOE has withdrawn its request for E-rate support.

3. After reviewing the terms of the Consent Decree and evaluating the facts before us, we find that the public interest would be served by adopting the Consent Decree and terminating the referenced investigation regarding Verizon's compliance with Section 254(h) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended (Act)³, and Sections 54.500–54.523 and 54.8 of the Rules⁴ pertaining to the E-rate program.

4. Our authority to adopt such a consent decree stems from our authority under Section 4(i) of the Communications Act to “perform any and all acts . . . and issue such orders . . . as may be necessary in the execution of [the Commission's] functions.”⁵ We affirmatively find it necessary to adopt a consent decree to execute our function of enforcing violations of the Communications Act and our Rules. We make clear that, as the resolution of a particular dispute with the consent of both parties, this consent decree has no precedential effect on third parties.

5. In the absence of material new evidence relating to this matter, we do not set for hearing the question of Verizon's basic qualifications to hold or obtain any Commission license or authorization.⁶

6. Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED that, pursuant to Section 4(i) and 503(b) of the Act⁷ and the authority delegated by Sections 0.111 and 0.311 of the Rules,⁸ the attached Consent Decree IS ADOPTED and its terms incorporated by reference.

7. IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that the above-captioned matter IS TERMINATED.

8. IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that a copy of this Order and Consent Decree shall be sent by first class mail and certified mail, return receipt requested, to Chris Miller, Vice President & Associate General Counsel, Verizon, 1300 I Street, NW, Suite 500 East, Washington, DC 20005, Patrick Fitzgerald, Esq., Skadden, Arps, Slate, Meagher & Flom LLP, 155 North Wacker Drive, Chicago, IL 60606, and Charles Wm. II. BACKGROUND

4. The E-rate program provides subsidies for telecommunications, Internet access, internal connections and managed internal broadband services for schools and libraries, and is designed to bring modern telecommunications capabilities to students and library patrons. Applicants for E-rate funding are required to seek competitive bids from prospective service providers, and are required to treat the price of E-rate eligible goods and services as the primary factor when selecting amongst competing service providers. As set forth in FCC reports and orders, these rules are the cornerstone of the E-rate program, as, without competitive bidding, “prices charged to schools and libraries may be needlessly high, with the result that fewer eligible schools and libraries would be able to participate in the program.”³

5. E-rate funds are divided into two primary categories, Priority 1 and Priority 2. Priority 1 funds cover telecom carrier and fiber broadband services, as well as Internet access. Priority 2 funds cover discounts on services related to internal connections, e.g., cabling, and basic maintenance of those connections. Typically, all Priority 1 requests from schools and libraries are funded first, and any remaining funds are provided to Priority 2 requests, beginning with the most economically disadvantaged districts, as determined by the percentage of students who receive free and reduced price lunches.

6. The New York City Department of Education (NYC DOE) is the largest school district in the United States, serving approximately 1.1 million students in over 1,800 schools. Since 1998, NYC DOE has received approximately $1.3 billion in E-rate program disbursements. Verizon has participated in the E-rate program since 1998. Verizon provided certain services to the NYC DOE during the relevant period, including as part of the NYC DOE’s Project Connect, that are regulated by the Commission. Verizon provided NYC DOE with both Priority 1 data and voice telecommunications services and Priority 2 structured cabling and integration services. Verizon used various subcontractors to complete the structured cabling and integration work.

7. In May 2006, the Office of the Special Commissioner of Investigation for the New York City School District (SCI) began an investigation of allegations that Willard “Ross” Lanham (Lanham), a NYC DOE consultant who served as the Project Manager for Project Connect, was receiving illegal kickbacks.

8. In April 2011, SCI issued a report (SCI Report) concluding that Lanham had orchestrated a massive fraud from 2002 to 2008. According to the SCI Report, Lanham created a subcontracting scheme through which Lanham billed millions of dollars to the NYC DOE for consultants he employed through a company (Lanham Enterprises) that he owned, thereby misappropriating money from NYC DOE, without NYC DOE’s or Verizon’s knowledge or agreement, to him profiting from the markup on the consultants’ time.

9. The SCI Report concluded that Lanham was able to accomplish his scheme and conceal the employment of the consultants by using pass-through entities, including vendors that provided services for NYC DOE, such as Verizon and IBM.

10. The NYC DOE designated Lanham as its “Single Point of Contact” to handle coordination and facilitation of its contracts, including with Verizon. Among other things, Lanham directed Verizon to utilize his preferred subcontractor for cabling work. The SCI Report described one instance in 2006 when Lanham told Verizon that he would steer a major cabling and integration initiative elsewhere unless Verizon continued to use Lanham’s preferred subcontractor (telling a Verizon employee “I want you to use [his preferred subcontractor], and if you don’t use them for the cabling integration jobs then I’m giving it to IBM”). Verizon complied with Lanham’s request. Verizon was awarded the project.

11. At Lanham’s direction, Verizon processed invoices ultimately submitted to NYC DOE that contained consultant charges with Verizon’s standard margin applied on top. Pursuant to Lanham’s instructions, rather than identifying a particular school associated with the work, the school identification for the consultant charges would state “various” or “multiple,” and the charges were described with a general reference to the project, rather than being listed specifically as consulting charges.

³ Federal-State Joint Board on Universal Service, Report and Order, 12 FCC Rcd 8776, 9209, para. 480 (1997); see also Request for Review of the Decision of the Universal Service Administrator by Ysleta Independent School District, Order, 18 FCC Rcd 26407, 26417, para. 22 (2003) (“Competitive bidding for services eligible for discount is a cornerstone of the E-rate program...”).

12. When a Verizon project manager questioned Lanham about the consultant charges, Lanham advised the project manager that he was aware of these charges, knew what they were, that the consultants were working on the cabling projects, and they were proper. Lanham instructed Verizon not to submit consultant charges for E-rate reimbursement.

13. The consultants were not, in fact, working on cabling projects.

14. Beginning in 2004, Verizon notified the Universal Service Administrative Company (USAC) that certain Priority 1 funds had been disbursed in error for Priority 2 work because the services were incorrectly identified by NYC DOE as Priority 1 rather than Priority 2 services. Verizon, at that time, offered to return the funds associated with these incorrectly identified services.

15. Based upon representations of future work from Lanham, Verizon cut its own margins to remain within the project budget after certain costs, including cabling materials, experienced unanticipated increases.

16. Lanham left the NYC DOE in late 2008.

17. After the SCI Report was released in 2011, Lanham was indicted by a grand jury in the Southern District of New York. He was subsequently convicted and his conviction was upheld on appeal. Verizon and its employees cooperated in the government's prosecution. On appeal, the government told the court that Lanham "misle[d] a Verizon employee and thereby manipulated bills Verizon sent to the DOE for the Cable Project."

18. Since the conduct involving Lanham's fraudulent scheme ended in 2008, Verizon has made adjustments, as appropriate, to policies, procedures, and practices.

In consideration for the termination of the Investigation, Verizon agrees to the terms, conditions, and procedures contained herein. The Bureau further agrees that, in the absence of new material evidence, it will not use the facts developed in the Investigation through the Effective Date, or the existence of this Consent Decree, to institute, on its own motion, any new proceeding, formal or informal, or take any action on its own motion against Verizon and its Affiliates, concerning the matters that were the subject of the Investigation. The Bureau also agrees that, in the absence of new material evidence, it will not use the facts developed in the Investigation through the Effective Date, or the existence of this Consent Decree, to institute on its own motion any proceeding, formal or informal, or to set for hearing the question of Verizon's and its Affiliates' qualifications to be a Commission licensee or hold Commission licenses or authorizations.⁴ The Bureau reserves all rights to use the materials gathered in the Investigation, including but not limited to the documents and information obtained from Verizon, against other service providers that previously provided or currently provide E-rate eligible products and services to NYC DOE. This Consent Decree is contingent upon the approval of the Stipulation and Order of Settlement and Dismissal between Verizon and the United States, but otherwise does not terminate any other investigations that have been or might be conducted by other law enforcement agencies or offices.

Verizon shall require all Covered Employees to be trained, in a manner commensurate with the scope of their duties and responsibilities, pursuant to the Compliance Training Program, within one hundred and twenty (120) calendar days after the Effective Date, except that Verizon shall require any person who becomes a Covered Employee at any time after the initial Compliance Training Program to complete the Compliance Training Program within sixty (60) calendar days after the date such person becomes a Covered Employee. Verizon shall repeat compliance training pursuant to the Compliance Training Program on an annual basis, and shall periodically review and revise the Compliance Training Program as necessary to help ensure that it remains current and complete and to enhance its effectiveness.

- (b) Verizon and its Affiliates: (i) agree to withdraw and not pursue any and all pending appeals and motions presently before USAC or the Commission concerning NYC DOE, including, but not limited to their Petition for Reconsideration or, in the Alternative, Clarification dated January 27, 2016; (ii) agree to surrender all appeal rights with USAC or the Commission that Verizon might otherwise have for seeking E-rate support for the products or services provided to NYC DOE for the period of FY2002-FY2013 for which USAC or the Commission has denied the corresponding request for E-rate support or NYC DOE has withdrawn its request for E-rate support; and (iii) agree not to initiate any additional actions or proceedings, including before any court or tribunal, seeking E-rate support for the products or services provided to NYC DOE for the period of FY2002-FY2013 for which USAC or the Commission has denied the corresponding request for E-rate support or NYC DOE has withdrawn its request for E-rate support. Verizon may seek E-rate support for other products and services it may provide (or has provided) to NYC DOE for which NYC DOE requests E-rate support and/or for which USAC or the Commission approves E-rate funding beginning with FY2014 and going forward.

35. Modifications. This Consent Decree cannot be modified without the advance written consent of both Parties.

36. Paragraph Headings. The headings of the paragraphs in this Consent Decree are inserted for convenience only and are not intended to affect the meaning or interpretation of this Consent Decree.

37. Authorized Representative. Each Party represents and warrants to the other that it has full power and authority to enter into this Consent Decree. Each person signing this Consent Decree on behalf of a Party hereby represents that he or she is fully authorized by the Party to execute this Consent Decree and to bind the Party to its terms and conditions.

38. Counterparts. This Consent Decree may be signed in counterpart (including electronically or by facsimile). Each counterpart, when executed and delivered, shall be an original, and all of the counterparts together shall constitute one and the same fully executed instrument.

STATEMENT OF CHAIRMAN AJIT PAI

Re: Verizon New York et al., File No.: EB-IHD-1300010704

Under the terms of this consent decree, Verizon will pay more than $17 million into the Universal Service Fund. It will also forfeit any legal rights it might have to obtain hundreds of millions of dollars in E-rate subsidies. This is an important measure that both enforces our rules and restores critical taxpayer dollars to the Universal Service Fund.

But you can glean all that from the item itself and accompanying Commission press release. I write separately to address the dissent from my colleague, Commissioner Clyburn. What is significant is the dog that doesn't bark—that is, the facts not mentioned in the dissent. Two facts of note: first, the consent decree in this case was negotiated by the Enforcement Bureau under the prior Chairman. Second, in 2016, the prior Chairman's office briefed each Commissioner's office on this agreement. Commissioner Clyburn's office expressed no concerns whatsoever about the agreement at that time—and there is contemporaneous written evidence of this.

If the terms of a settlement that were just fine under a Democratic chair are now unacceptable under a Republican chair, FCC enforcement becomes little more than political caprice. I hope that that's not the case going forward.

DISSENTING STATEMENT OF COMMISSIONER MIGNON L. CLYBURN

Re: Verizon New York et al., File No.: EB-IHD-1300010704

For the past several years, the Chairman has waxed eloquent about how Lifeline fraud is an incredible threat to the integrity of the universal service fund. But, when faced with an egregious set of facts that causes over $50 million of harm to the universal service fund, the Commission is content to settle for a fraction of that harm and imposes no penalty whatsoever.

Indeed, in the Total Call Mobile NAL, the Commission proposed a forfeiture of $51 million based on a loss to the Fund of $9.7 million. Chairman Pai and I both believed the proposed forfeiture should have been higher. In the twelve Lifeline duplicates NALs issued in 2013-2014, the Commission proposed combined forfeitures of over $94 million for duplicate benefits totaling around $340,000. Yet here the Commission says for over $50 million in harm to the Fund, we do not even want all of our money back—just 34 cents on the dollar. Will the Commission settle all twelve Lifeline NALs for just $115,000? Not likely.

The timing is particularly concerning since we recently received a letter from Congress expressing “concern about the lack of sufficient resources in the reformed High-Cost mechanism.” If we had just said “we want our money back,” much less assessed a penalty for improper conduct, we could have used the returned money to fund over 11,000 high cost rate-of-return locations for a year. This is a missed opportunity and a waste of consumer dollars.

For all of these reasons, I must respectfully dissent.
